Welcome

Welcome to the Southeastern Symposium on Mental Health. This program provides an opportunity for stakeholders to collaborate across disciplines and share research findings utilizing evidence-based outcomes in order to improve patient-centered care. Our goal is to promote awareness about mental health issues, reduce stigma and discrimination, improve equity for mental health care comparable to other health care, and inform public policy. This event will provide a regional and national platform for the significant challenges and common struggles associated with living with mental illness. In 2016, our primary stakeholders include South Carolina, North Carolina and Georgia. In the future, we will expand our geographic region to include Alabama, Florida, Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia. The Southeastern Symposium on Mental Health will advance the welfare of our communities by improving access to mental health care, knowledge and education. We are excited about the diversity of our program and the culmination of our collaborative efforts. We look forward to your participation in this pivotal event.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES:

In the constantly changing world of mental health, it is essential to stay abreast of new developments and treatments. This program will enable the psychiatrist and the primary care physician, as well as other healthcare professionals, to do the following:

- Develop synergistic relationships among healthcare professionals, stakeholders, caregivers, academicians and community partners.
- Foster dialogue and promote awareness of current trends in mental health practice, treatment and research.
- Encourage mental health advocacy and work towards the eradication of the stigma and discrimination surrounding mental illness and mental health treatment.
- Improve access to mental healthcare through dissemination of information and resources with the goal of achieving equity for mental healthcare comparable to other healthcare.
- Inform public policy and educational initiatives that promote awareness about mental health issues.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Friday Dinner with Guest Speaker, Mariel Hemingway

Please join us Friday, May 6, for a dinner reception beginning at 6:30 p.m. This is a ticketed–event ($60/person) and is not included in the main registration cost for the Symposium. Attendees will have the opportunity to network and participate in a silent auction to benefit the National Alliance of Mental Illness (NAMI) Greenville. We will have musical entertainment, and a vignette portrayed by GHS employee Ann Lewis regarding the realities of living with a loved one with mental illness.

At 7:30 p.m., Mariel Hemingway, Academy Award Nominated Actress, Best Selling Author, & Tireless Mental Health Advocate will be speak on her first–hand experience growing up with mental illness in her family, and what she hopes to accomplish being an advocate for mental health.

Saturday Luncheon with Guest Speaker, Former Congressman Patrick J. Kennedy

Symposium attendees who have registered for the full, two days of the symposium will be able to attend the Saturday luncheon at no extra cost. Our honored guest speaker for the Saturday Luncheon will be Former Congressman and Mental Health Advocate, Patrick J. Kennedy. He will discuss mental healthcare on a national and policy level with the understanding of mental illness on a far more personal level.

The cost for non-registrants attending only the Luncheon is $60/person. For additional information, please contact the Southeastern Symposium on Mental Health at info@sesmh.org.

EXHIBITS

A wide variety of companies, from Pharmaceutical Companies to Mental Health Agencies, will be exhibiting at this year's Symposium. Many of these companies consistently support Greenville Health System's educational efforts. Please help express your appreciation to them by visiting their exhibit booths and tables. The support received from our exhibitors helps to keep the registration cost lower for all Symposium attendees.

*To encourage interaction with exhibitors, there will be a door prize system that benefits both you and the exhibitor. Your participation in this door prize activity is totally voluntary. For those who wish to participate, please have the exhibitor initial your door prize card when you visit an exhibit. The door prize cards are labeled for each day of the Symposium and are given to you at the Symposium registration desk when you sign in. To be eligible to win, you must visit at least eight exhibitors daily, obtain their initials on the back of the card, and place that day's door prize card in the collection box outside the door to the lecture room. Please place all door prize cards in the box one hour before the close of each day. A drawing will take place in the main lecture room at the close of each day. You must be present in the main lecture room to win.
