Brief background

The Office of the Public Advocate has made available funding to assist people with ABI who come in contact with the criminal justice system. With the aim of building more robust and connected networks between the ABI service sector and the criminal justice system a series of workshops for relevant service providers is taking place throughout Victoria. Presenters at the workshop will include representatives from:

- ABI services
- Victoria Police
- Office of the Public Advocate - Independent Third Person program
- Legal services
- Community Correctional Services
- people with ABI who have dealt with the criminal justice system.

Target participants

These workshops are appropriate for hands on, direct service workers:

- ABI service providers
- mental health workers
- case managers
- social workers
- community corrections officers
- court liaison officers
- post-release services

The workshops will include resources for participants, involve active learning tasks, and are part of a longer term approach of systemic change for people with ABI
