FIRST TIME AT A NAFSA CONFERENCE?

CONGRATULATIONS ON TAKING THE FIRST STEP—deciding to attend the NAFSA 2009 Annual Conference & Expo. You are not alone. We expect there will be more than 2,000 individuals attending for the first time. It is important to NAFSA that you have the tools and knowledge to make your first annual conference a success and to begin a strong relationship with the international education community. The opportunities and experiences at the conference in Los Angeles, CA, May 24-29 are virtually endless, so don't be shy!

Attending NAFSA's Annual Conference and Expo is the most cost-effective way to learn about best practices, partnership with the experts, and identify and develop resources for your institutions.

DETERMINE YOUR OBJECTIVES FOR THE CONFERENCE

Take some time to think about your short- and long-term career and personal goals. Now think about how conferences opportunities and activities will further your goals. If your goals are to build connections for a future career in international education, you'll want to pay special attention to networking opportunities (www.nafsa.org/ac09networking) available at the conference.

If you are trying to figure out what specialty of international education to go into, you'll want to focus on Knowledge Community (KC)-related events, educational offerings (www.nafsa.org/ac09edopp), and events taking place in the NAFSA Career Center (www.nafsa.org/careercenter).

If your goals are to develop partnerships for your institution, you'll want to take advantage of Conference Connection (www.nafsa.org/ac09conferenceconnection)—online networking and agenda-building software—once registration opens to find attendees and exhibitors with a particular profile in advance and then visit exhibitors in the Expo Hall (www.nafsa.org/exhibitors).

Not sure where to start? Be sure to attend the Orientation for First-Timer Conference Attendees on Tuesday morning. Check your conference program, which you will receive on site in Los Angeles, for the location.

START PLANNING YOUR SCHEDULE ONLINE NOW!

Session, seminar, and workshop descriptions are now available online prior to the conference. Once you've registered for the conference, you will be able to access our NEW Conference Connection system, which will allow you to build your agenda and connect with other attendees with a particular profile. Learn more at www.nafsa.org/ac09conferenceconnection.

For additional resources on how to maximize your conference experience as a first-time attendee, visit www.nafsa.org/ac09firsttime.

NAFSA 2009 ANNUAL CONFERENCE PLENARY SPEAKERS

Foster Global Engagement Through Action and Service

EACH OF OUR PLENARY SPEAKERS fosters global engagement through action and service. All will challenge and inspire us to create a force for positive change in the world through our daily actions. Whether through pioneering microfinance programs in developing nations, scrutinizing the effects of global brain drain and brain gain, building upon the work of the United Nations, or mobilizing education for the global economy, our speakers will provide thought-provoking perspectives on our work as international educators, and will inspire us to continue our efforts to promote global public good. Gain insights from these extraordinary global leaders to help maximize the impact of your work at your institution.

All plenaries except the Friday International Plenary and Luncheon are open to all registrants and included in the registration fee. Learn more at www.nafsa.org/ac09plenaries.

OPENING PLENARY TUESDAY, MAY 26 4:15 P.M.-6:00 P.M.

MUHAMMAD YUNUS

The visionary founder of the Grameen Bank, Professor Muhammad Yunus leads a global network aimed at ending poverty around the world. Recognized for these efforts with the 2006 Nobel Peace Prize, his ideas couple capitalism with social responsibility and have had a dramatic impact on social and economic development. Professor Yunus is the author of Banker to the Poor: Micro-Lending and the Battle Against World Poverty and Creating a World Without Poverty: Social Business and the Future of Capitalism. Yunus will sign books after the plenary.

PLENARY PANEL WEDNESDAY, MAY 27 10:00 A.M.-12:00 P.M. EXPLORING GLOBAL TALENT FLOWS

RAY SUAREZ

A dynamic panel moderated by Ray Suarez of The NewsHour with Jim Lehrer will examine the implications of "brain drain" and "brain gain" and the political economy of the global exchange of skilled, highly educated workers, with both historical analysis and consideration of impacts on international development. Prominent academics, international activists, and thought leaders will offer their insights on how identified problems can be addressed, how positive impacts can be expanded upon, and how international educators are affected as they work on the frontlines of the international flow of talent and ideas.

PLENARY ADDRESS AND ANNUAL BUSINESS MEETING THURSDAY, MAY 28 10:45 A.M.-12:15 P.M.

GILLIAN SORENSEN

Gillian Sorensen is senior adviser and national advocate for the United Nations Foundation, focusing on strengthening relations between the UN and the United States. Prior to joining the UN Foundation, Sorensen served as assistant secretary-general for external relations under Kofi Annan from 1997-2003. She travels widely, educating Americans about the work of the UN and fostering public-private partnerships to address the world's most pressing problems.

INTERNATIONAL PLENARY AND LUNCHEON FRIDAY, MAY 29 12:30 P.M.-2:30 P.M.

LUIS ALBERTO MORENO

Luis Alberto Moreno is president of the Inter-American Development Bank (IDB), where he has served since 2005. Before joining the IDB, Moreno served as Colombia's ambassador to the United States for seven years. Moreno will share insights from his distinguished private and public sector career in international finance, as well as his remarkable achievements in journalism. Preregistration, Fee, and ticket required.

LOS ANGELES

Entertains, Inspires, and Delights

HOLLYWOOD SHOULD NOT BE MISSED, but with more than a dozen major motion picture studios to visit—including Disney, Paramount, Universal, Warner Bros., Fox, and MGM—you may first want to figure out which hosted your favorite films or television shows. Similarly, the legendary Walk of Fame holds the names and imprints of more than 2,000 real and fictional celebrities. So to find your favorites, come prepared.

Neighborhoods like Chinatown, Little Tokyo, and Olvera Street offer the best in ethnic delicacies. Celebrities flock to Pink's Famous Chili Dogs. Patina offers the ultimate in fine dining. Other popular destinations include the Hollywood Bowl, Grauman's Chinese Theater, Rodeo Drive, Universal Studios CityWalk, the La Brea Tar Pits, and the Getty Art Museum.

EXPERIENCE L.A. LIVE!

Anchored by STAPLES Center, the world's busiest and most successful arena, and adjacent to the Los Angeles Convention Center, L.A. Live is 27 acres of innovative restaurants, clubs, event spaces, The GRAMMY® Museum, broadcast studios, and red carpet locations. L.A. Live is the largest downtown development in Los Angeles history . . . be a part of it!

Serving everyone's taste and budget, the restaurants at L.A. Live include ESPN Zone, Wolfgang Puck, Katsuya, The Farm of Beverly Hills, Yard House, Flemings, and Rosa Mexicana. Enjoy a variety of music options at Club NOKIA and The Conga Room. For more information, visit www.lalive.com.

Certain types of stargazers will favor a visit to Griffith Observatory, one of the world's most renowned public observatories. Some sightseers will enjoy the water and the constant flow of people at beaches like Venice, Santa Monica, and Malibu. And for lovers of art and culture, LA offers 300-plus museums, The Music Center, and the brand-new Walt Disney Concert Hall. There's much more, of course, including deserts, mountains, and woodlands within a two-hour drive. To map out what you most want to see, visit www.visitlosangeles.info.

Special registration required to hear Luis Alberto Moreno, president of the Inter-American Development Bank (IDB), Friday at 12:30 p.m. Winners of the Senator Paul Simon Award will be recognized.

WHAT'S NEW IN 2009 WHAT'S NEW IN 2009 WHAT'S NEW IN 2009 WHAT'S NEW IN 2009

NEW! START PLANNING YOUR SCHEDULE NOW!

Use NAFSA's new electronic agenda builder to make the most of every minute at the conference. Conference Connection allows you to search for conference attendees who match a particular profile—then schedule a meeting with them. Search for exhibitors, colleagues, and friends to set up appointments. Preview workshop and session descriptions, find out more about presenters, and add them to your calendar as well. You'll receive instructions on how to access this system after registering for the conference.

NEW! NEW AND IMPROVED WEB SITE

Check out www.nafsa.org/losangeles for up-to-date information about the conference. We've expanded the information available on NAFSA's Web site to help you plan your daily schedule. Bookmark the site and get the latest details about educational offerings, networking, special events, logistics, what to expect as a first-timer, and more.

NEW! NAFSA ANNUAL CONFERENCE & EXPO IS GOING GREEN

In Los Angeles, the NAFSA 2009 Annual Conference & Expo will be a friend to forests, oceans, and the air we breathe. Learn more at www.nafsa.org/ac09green.

NEW! MINI-CONFERENCES WITHIN THE CONFERENCE

Are you interested in how schools of business and schools of education can internationalize? Two colloquiums will be offered on Wednesday afternoon of the conference, exploring the internationalization of curriculums in two important areas—business education and teacher education. These “mini-conferences” will offer concentrated discussions and presentations on specific curricular areas.

NEW! MEMBER INTEREST GROUP OPEN HOUSE

Looking for ways to increase your professional and personal networks? Attend the MIG Open House on Tuesday morning to learn what NAFSA's MIGs have to offer. Learn more at www.nafsa.org/migs.

NEW! FILM SERIES

Experience the magic of Hollywood and the cinema. Explore issues of importance to international educators through films during the conference. Opportunities include film screenings and discussions, and sessions with film-related components. Learn more at www.nafsa.org/ac09films.

Connect with Potential Partners From Around the Globe

For first-timers to the NAFSA conference, that initial entry into the colorful, global, noisy Expo Hall is an awesome—and perhaps daunting—experience. Most NAFSAs visit the Expo Hall several times a day; they network, meet old and new friends, discover new products and services, and do “business” on behalf of their college, university, or company. After all, this is the number 1 marketplace for international educators worldwide. Participating exhibitors range from insurance providers, testing services, publishers, and travel/tourism services to universities and colleges, language schools, and credential evaluators.

The 2009 International Education Expo will feature more than 450 organizations, service providers and universities, making this the largest showcase ever! Attending the Annual Conference & Expo allows you to research and connect with potential partners and suppliers from the far corners of the earth all at one exhibition. NAFSA’s participants represent the most qualified and influential concentration of forward-thinking international educators and administrators who serve nearly 2 million students seeking assistance with all aspects of studying and living in a foreign country.

NAFSA COMMONS

When you visit, start at the center of the hall at the NAFSA Commons (booth 823)—the exhibit space for NAFSA: Association of International Educators—you can’t miss it. NAFSA staff and member leaders will help you discover everything you need to know about the association and what it has to offer.

Of course, what you’ll soon realize at the NAFSA Commons is the value of your NAFSA membership in this growing profession! There is no opportunity, other than the Expo, to visit so many countries around the world. You’ll notice that NAFSA Global Partners are at the center of things around the NAFSA Commons. By visiting the Yellow Pages (www.nafsa.org/yellowpages), you can see that partner organizations represent all of the key services and products that are important to advancing your work with international students and those who study abroad.

Take a break in the International Education Expo—the most cost-effective way to network, do business, learn new things, have lunch, check your e-mail, win a sensational prize, and more. See you there! Doors open at 9:00 a.m. on Tuesday, May 26!

CONNECT WITH EXHIBITORS

Learn who will be exhibiting at the NAFSA 2009 Expo and set up appointments with them using the new and enhanced Conference Connection 2.0. Once you’ve registered for the NAFSA Annual Conference & Expo you’ll be able to network with other conference attendees and exhibitors through Conference Connection by logging in using your NAFSA user name and password. Start connecting today at www.nafsa.org/ac09createmychedule.
