

Trading Authority—Workplace Investing Retirement Plans

Use this form to grant a third party limited trading authority, which includes the ability to buy and sell securities and call Fidelity for information regarding your account, or to provide updated information about a third party who already holds trading authority. Do NOT use this form for 529 College Savings Plan accounts or Fidelity Personal Investing Accounts, such as IRAs. Print out and fill in using CAPITAL letters and black ink. If you need more room for information or signatures, use a copy of the relevant page.

Helpful To Know

- Fill out a separate form for each authorized agent. For business accounts, you can only use this form to grant limited trading authority.
- Fill out a separate form for each employer relationship for which you would like to grant limited trading authority.
- You don't need to complete this form for an owner — the account owner already has trading authority.
- Some states limit who can have trading authority on estate, conservator, guardian, or other fiduciary accounts. You may want to consult a legal advisor.
- For any account listed on this form that is currently approved for BrokerageLink, SM you must submit a BrokerageLink Trading Authorization form.
- Only the account owner can grant trading authority.
- The Plan Sponsor of the retirement plan may be required to complete section 8 per plan rules.

Customer Agreement

Purpose of Account

This document describes the terms and conditions associated with granting trading authority. Please review this document and keep it for your records. Do not return it to Fidelity.

Who's Who in This Agreement

In this document, "Fidelity," "us," and "we" includes Fidelity Brokerage Services LLC ("FBS"), Fidelity Investments Operational Services Company, Inc., Fidelity Management Trust Company, as the context may require. "Account owner" refers to the registered owner of the account. "Authorized agent" is the individual identified as such in a Trading Authority form.

Terms and Conditions — Account Owner

Fidelity's Commitments to You

Under this agreement, we have certain rights and responsibilities. When we accept your Trading Authority form, we are agreeing to accept orders on your account from your designated third party — the authorized agent — according to the terms described in this agreement.

Note that we assume no responsibility for reviewing or monitoring any investment decision or activity of the authorized agent, nor do we provide any tax, legal, or investment advice or recommendations.

Your Commitments to Fidelity

By signing in the appropriate place on the Trading Authority form, you, the account owner:

- Acknowledge that you have received and read this agreement, and that you understand and agree to its terms
- Authorize us to accept instructions from your authorized agent consistent with the level of trading authority you are granting
- Accept full responsibility for determining whether any investment or strategy is appropriate for you, based on your investment objectives and financial resources
- Accept full responsibility for understanding the risks associated with granting trading authority, and assume sole liability for the financial, tax, and other consequences of all actions and instructions of the authorized agent

Limited Trading Authority

Limited trading authority allows your authorized agent to inquire into your account and to place orders in your account without direct instructions from you. This may include orders to buy, sell, exchange, convert, or otherwise acquire or dispose of securities, such as mutual funds, annuities, and other investments.

Limited trading authority does not allow your authorized agent to remove money or assets from your account.

Multiple Authorized Agents

If you have appointed two or more authorized agents, we will consider each of them to have the power to act alone (severally) and without the consent of any other authorized agent, with respect to each power granted above.

Should we receive conflicting or inconsistent instructions from your authorized agents, we may restrict your account(s) from further activity.

Such a restriction may remain in place until we receive adequate instructions on how to proceed. These instructions may be provided to Fidelity over the phone or written request.

Terms and Conditions — Authorized Agent

Your Commitments to Fidelity

By signing in the appropriate place on the Trading Authority form, you, the authorized agent:

- Acknowledge that you have received and read this agreement, and that you understand and agree to its terms
- Agree to be solely responsible to the account owner for all investment decisions, trading strategies, and instructions placed on the account
- Agree to act on the account only as specifically authorized by the account owner and in compliance with all applicable laws, regulations, and Fidelity policies
- Agree that we may reject or remove you as authorized agent from this or any other account, at any time and for any reason we see fit
- Agree to notify us by calling immediately upon the death or disability of the account owner

Terms and Conditions — All Parties

Duration of Agent's Authorization

Once granted to an authorized agent, trading authority will remain in effect until any of the following occurs:

- We receive written notice signed by the owner withdrawing trading authority
- We receive a phone call or written notice of resignation from the authorized agent
- We receive notification via phone call of the death or incapacity of the account owner or the authorized agent
- We decide, at any time and for any reason, to remove the authorized agent

Indemnification

The account owner and the authorized agent agree that we are not responsible for any losses you incur (meaning claims, damages, actions, demands, investment losses, or other losses, as well as any costs, charges, attorneys' fees, or other fees and expenses) as a result of any actions, or failures to act, on the part of the authorized agent.

Terms Concerning This Agreement

This agreement and its enforcement are governed by the laws of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, except with respect to its conflicts-of-law provisions.

This agreement is in addition to any other agreements between the parties and Fidelity and does not restrict any rights that may be created, either now or in the future, by these agreements or by any law.

We may amend or terminate this agreement at any time. Outside of changes originating in these ways, no provision of this agreement can be amended or waived except in writing by an authorized representative of Fidelity.

Fidelity may transfer its interests in this account or agreement to any of its successors and assigns, whether by merger, consolidation, or otherwise. You may not transfer your interests in your account or agreement (including de facto transferral by giving a non-owner access to the account using a username and password) except with the prior written approval of Fidelity, or through inheritance, corporate dissolution, or similar circumstance, as allowed by law, in which case any rights and obligations in existence at the time will accrue to, and be binding on, your heirs, executors, administrators, successors, or assigns.
