INFORMATION ABOUT DIVORCE

1. WHO MAY USE THESE FORMS: You may use the forms in this package only when all of the following facts are true:
 - (a) You meet the residency requirements and you meet the grounds for divorce (see below);
 - (b) There were no children born of said marriage, and the wife is not now pregnant.
 - (c) You and your spouse agree on all terms of the divorce.
2. THE BASICS: An action for divorce filed in the District of Columbia is filed in the Superior Court – Family Division. The title of the action initiating the divorce is a Complaint for Absolute Divorce. The party who is filing the action for divorce is called the Plaintiff, while the other spouse is referred to as the Defendant. D.C.C.R., Vol. 2, App. I.
3. RESIDENCY REQUIREMENTS: At least one of the parties to the action for divorce must have resided in the District of Columbia for at least six (6) months immediately prior to the filing of the complaint. D.C.C. 16-902.
4. GROUND FOR DIVORCE: The District of Columbia permits divorces to be granted on two grounds. First, a divorce may be granted to the parties if both parties to the marriage have mutually and voluntarily lived separate and apart without cohabitation for a period of six months prior to the filing of the petition for divorce.

Second, a divorce may also be granted if both parties to the marriage have lived separate and apart without cohabitation for a period of one year prior to the filing of the petition for divorce. D.C.C. 16-904.
5. LEGAL SEPARATION: This package contains form for DIVORCE, not for Legal Separation. This information on Legal Separation is provided for your information only. A legal separation cannot be obtained using the forms in this package.

A legal separation is different than a divorce. A legal separation is a court determination of the rights and responsibilities of a husband and wife arising out of the marital relationship. A decree of legal separation does not terminate the marital status of the parties, and the parties are not free to marry again. For more information, see, D.C.C. 16-904.

6. WAITING PERIODS: A decree granting an absolute divorce, shall not become effective until the time for noting an appeal shall have expired. D.C.C. 16-920.
7. DISTRIBUTION OF PROPERTY: In a divorce, the property such as land, house, buildings, and items of personal property owned by the couple is divided between the parties. Debts owed are also allocated to one party or the other, or both. This is accomplished by means of a Separation and Property Settlement Agreement. You and your spouse must agree to the property and debt division and memorialize your agreement in the Separation and Property Settlement Agreement, which will be incorporated by reference into the Judgment of Divorce that ultimately ends your marriage. You may agree to divide the property any way you like, as long as a basic fairness is maintained, and you both agree. If you cannot agree on any item of this division, the dissolution of marriage transforms into a contested divorce. A contested divorce is outside the scope of this packet.
8. ALIMONY: Because this is an agreed divorce, you will decide issues of spousal “alimony”-- the periodic payment of money from one spouse to the other on a temporary or permanent basis. The forms in this no-fault divorce package assume that no alimony will be paid and none will be sought-- but you may add provisions for alimony to the Separation and Property Settlement Agreement if you desire. In a contested case, the court might award alimony. A contested divorce is beyond the scope of this divorce package. You should consult a local attorney regarding the possibilities concerning alimony if you have questions or foresee conflict regarding this issue. For more information, see, D.C.C. 16-911-913.
9. NAME CHANGE: Upon request of the party who assumed a new name upon marriage, the court shall permit that party to resume use of the former or maiden name. D.C.C. 16-915.

NOTE ABOUT COMPLETING THE FORMS

The forms in this packet may contain “form fields” created using Microsoft Word. “Form fields” facilitate completion of the forms using your computer. They do not limit your ability to print the form “in blank” and complete with a typewriter or by hand.

If you do not see the gray shaded form fields, go to the View menu, click on Toolbars, and then select Forms. This will open the forms toolbar. Look for the button on the forms toolbar that resembles a shaded letter “a”. Click in this button and the form fields will be visible. If they do not become visible, then they were not included in this form package.

To complete the forms click on the gray shaded areas and type. You may also change other words in the document if the document is not locked. The separation agreement is a good example of a document that is not locked and allows you to make modifications outside the gray shaded areas.

Some forms may be locked which means that the content of the forms cannot be changed while the form is locked. You can only fill in the information in the fields. If you need to make any changes in the body of the form, it is necessary for you “unlock” or “unprotect” the form. IF YOU INTEND TO MAKE CHANGES TO THE CONTENT, DO SO BEFORE YOU BEGIN TO FILL IN THE FIELDS. IF YOU UNLOCK THE DOCUMENT AFTER YOU HAVE BEGUN TO COMPLETE THE FIELDS, WHEN YOU RELOCK, ALL INFORMATION YOU ENTERED WILL BE LOST. To unlock, click on “Tools” in the Menu bar and then selecting “unprotect document”. You may then be prompted to enter a password. If so, the password is “uslf”. That is uslf in lower case letters without the quotation marks. After you make the changes relock the document before you begin to complete the fields. After any required changes re-lock the document, then click on the first form field and enter the required information. You will be able to navigate through the document from form field to form field using your tab key. Tab to a form field and insert your data. If you experience problems, please let us know.
