

Is a PPC right for me?

A prescription prepayment certificate works like a season ticket.

If you need more than 12 prescribed medicines each year, you could save money with a 12 month PPC.

You can also buy a three-month PPC, which will save you money if you need more than three prescribed medicines in three months.

How much can I save?

Number of prescribed medicines you need each month	Saving with a 12-month PPC	Saving with a three-month PPC
2	Over £95 a year	Over £20 in three months
3	Over £195 a year	Over £45 in three months
4	Over £295 a year	Over £70 in three months

Note: These savings are as calculated on 1 April 2016 and can change each year.

Terms and conditions

- You can only use the PPC for your own NHS prescriptions.
- If you buy a 12 month PPC and pay by Direct Debit, you are agreeing to pay all the instalments.
- If you fail to pay your instalments you must return the PPC. If you do not return the PPC, we will take further action.
- If you use the PPC after failing to pay an instalment, you may have to pay a penalty charge.
- We cannot send you your PPC until we have received your first payment. However, you may be able to claim a refund of prescription charges you have to pay while you are waiting for it.
- You may be able to claim back the cost of the PPC if you become exempt from NHS prescription charges in England while you have a current PPC.
- For full details of how to apply for a refund, including the time limit for claiming a refund, go to www.nhsbsa.nhs.uk/ppcrefunds or phone 0300 330 1341.

Claiming back prescription charges

When you apply for a PPC, you can ask for it to be backdated by up to one month. If you have to pay a prescription charge while you are waiting for your PPC, you can get a refund if you ask for an NHS receipt (FP57) when you pay for your prescription. You can only get an FP57 at the time you pay, you cannot get one later.
