"Every so often I like to think I've figured everything out, but time and time again I'm reminded that I haven't yet. All of my knowledge stems from the things I've experienced, so in the name of curiosity I tend to jump at the opportunity to try new things, go new places, meet new people. I get restless when I stay in one place too long. Everyone has a certain need to explore the unknown. The longer you put off satisfying that need, the easier it gets to avoid. "Someday" is a disease that will take your dreams to the grave with you. Act when you have the chance. Act now."—Cameron Redus
