AGENDA ITEM 05
INFORMATION ITEM

CALIFORNIA SECURE CHOICE RETIREMENT SAVINGS INVESTMENT BOARD

Market Analysis and Feasibility Study Request for Proposals (First Reading)

Presenter

Grant Boyken

Background

The purpose of this agenda item is to present, as a first reading, a Request for Proposals (RFP) for the California Secure Choice Market Analysis and Feasibility Study.

At its January 27, 2014 meeting, the Board approved a plan to issue two separate RFPs to contract for services needed to complete the Secure Choice study. The Board directed staff to issue an RFP for legal services first, and then to issue the RFP for the market analysis and feasibility study after executing the contract for legal services.

Even though we have not yet executed a legal services contract, Secure Choice staff believe it is important to begin discussing the Market Analysis and Feasibility Study RFP and receiving input. This will be a complex procurement requiring expertise and experience from multiple disciplines. The results of the Market Analysis and Feasibility Study will serve as the basis for the Board's recommendations to the Legislature. Because of the crucial nature of this work and the importance of selecting capable vendor(s) with the necessary experience and abilities, we feel it is important to present the draft RFP to the Board as a first reading before asking the Board to take action to approve it.

Scope of Services

The scope of services requested in the RFP is broken out into three distinct areas that will need to be coordinated:

1. Market Analysis – Conduct a market analysis to determine likely participation rates, participants' comfort with various investment vehicles and degree of risk, contribution levels, and the rate of account closures and rollovers.

2. Program Design – The program design portion of the RFP requires recommendations about:
 - The type of entity that should administer the Program;
 - The design, implementation and administration of the Program;
 - How to determine eligibility, enroll participants and establish payroll deduction contributions; and
 - The overall design and features of the Program including the automatic, or “default,” contribution rate, investment options, automatic escalation, and the feasibility of procuring insurance against loss.
3. Financial Feasibility Study – Assess, based on the market analysis, whether the Program will be self-sustaining, recommend the amount of funds necessary to implement the Program and recommend a cost and fee structure that ensures the Program is self-sustaining, simple to administer, and low-cost to participants.

Minimum Qualifications

The RFP requires proposers meet minimum qualifications, including:

- At least five years of experience conducting market analyses and feasibility studies for employee benefit plans and designing employee benefit plans;
- Actuarial or other financial expertise; and
- Experience conducting market research on low income workers and small employers in California.

Evaluation and Scoring

The evaluation committee will consist of Board members Yvonne Walker and Heather Hooper, Secure Choice staff, and the State Treasurer’s Office under the interagency agreement with the Board. The highest scoring responsive proposer will be recommended to the Board for contract award.

Proposals will be scored based on the following criteria for a total possible maximum score of 100 points:

- Experience and Qualifications (TBD)
- Work Plan and Work Schedule (TBD)
- Cost (30 points maximum)

Timeline

Based on the Board’s direction to Secure Choice staff, we plan to have our outside legal counsel review the RFP before it is issued. Because the timeline for executing a legal services contract depends on the action the Board takes with respect to agenda item number 3, it is not possible to provide the date when the Market Analysis and Feasibility Study RFP will be issued. We do anticipate, however, that it will take approximately three to four months from the date the Board approves issuing the RFP to recommend the winning proposal to the Board.

A) Purpose and Description of Services

1) Background

Legislation enacted in 2012 (SB 1234, Chapter 734, 2012) authorizes consideration of the California Secure Choice Retirement Savings Program (“Program”). If implemented, the Program would provide a voluntary, low-risk, automatic-enrollment retirement savings plan for an estimated 6.3 million California workers who currently lack access to retirement savings plans through their employer. The Program would require private employers with five or more employees not currently offering a retirement savings plan to provide their employees access to, and payroll deductions for, Secure Choice retirement accounts. Implementation is contingent on enactment of subsequent legislation. The Program would be administered by the nine-member Board, chaired by the State Treasurer.

Before the Legislature can consider further legislation to implement the Program, SB 1234 requires the Board to conduct a market analysis and feasibility study to determine whether the legal and practical conditions for implementation can be met. The Board has approved an approach to the study that includes four distinct, but well-coordinated work streams:

- a) Market Analysis – A market analysis to determine likely levels of participation and elements of Program design that could maximize participation, maximize the likelihood of private sector financial providers offering products and services necessary to the Program, and minimize inconvenience or disruptions to employers.
- b) Program Design – Based on the findings of the market analysis, work will have to be done to determine how the Program would best be structured and administered. This will include determining the best methods for communicating with participants, handling payroll deductions, and accomplishing the recordkeeping and administration functions. The work in the Program design phase will also need to include the development of recommendations for plan features and options such as the level of the automatic (or “default”) contribution level, maximum contribution levels, investment options and roles and responsibilities of Program participants, employers, and the Board and any third parties with whom the Board contracts to administer the Program.
- c) Financial Feasibility Study – A financial analysis to determine whether likely demand and participation would make it possible for the proposed Program to be self-sustaining as the statute requires.
- d) Legal Feasibility Study – A legal analysis to determine whether the Program, as designed in the Program Design phase, meets legal requirements specified in the Secure Choice Retirement Savings Trust Act. Government Code section 100043 provides, “The board shall not implement the Program if the IRA arrangements offered fail to qualify for the favorable federal income tax treatment ordinarily accorded to IRAs under the Internal Revenue Code, or if it is determined that the Program is an employee benefit plan under the federal Employee Retirement Income Security Act.”

A request for proposals was issued on June 2, 2014 to contract with a law firm for the legal feasibility study. With this RFP, the Board seeks a consultant experienced in conducting market analyses and feasibility studies, and designing employee benefit plans. The consultant will conduct the market analysis and financial feasibility study, make Program design recommendations, and provide technical support for the legislative process if any further state or federal legislation is required. The consultant selected with this RFP will need to coordinate its work with the law firm selected to conduct the legal feasibility study.

2) Scope of Services

a) Market Analysis

- i. Conduct a market analysis to determine whether the necessary conditions for implementation of the Program can be met, including, but not limited to, likely participation rates, participants' comfort with various investment vehicles and degree of risk, contribution levels, and the rate of account closures and rollovers.

b) Program Design

- i. Recommend the type of entity or organization that should be the Program administrator and the duties of the Program administrator.
- ii. Recommend the design, implementation, and administration of the Program that will maximize outreach to eligible employers and participation by eligible employees, which includes the following:
 - The Program accords with best practices for retirement savings vehicles, maximizes participation and savings among eligible employees, ensures benefits are portable, and maximizes ease of administration for participating employers. Best practices should include findings or research by experts, including behavioral economists and academics, on retirement savings behavior.
 - Assessment of how to arrange for pooled investment of assets.
 - Examination of investment options, including number and type, to be offered by the Program.
 - Assessment of how to submit progress reports and status reports to participating employers and eligible employees.
 - Assessment of how best to disseminate educational information concerning saving and planning for retirement, including recommendations on the design, and process for disseminating, an employee information packet.
 - Assessment of how best to disseminate information concerning the tax credits available to small business owners for establishing new retirement plans including the federal Retirement Savings Contribution Credit.
- iii. Assess how to determine the eligibility of an employer, employee, or other individual to participate in the Program.
- iv. Recommend how to establish payroll deduction contributions and assess how to minimize cost and administrative burden to employers.
- v. Evaluate and recommend a means of determining whether employers do not provide an employer-sponsored retirement plan to their employees.
- vi. Design and establish the process for the enrollment of Program participants.
- vii. Develop a process by which an individual or an employee of a nonparticipating employer may enroll in and make contributions to the Program.

- viii. Make recommendations on the default contribution rate.
 - ix. Recommend whether automatic escalation of contributions should be included in the plan and, if so, recommend the period and percentage automatic escalation that best achieves the goals of maximizing participation and savings among eligible employees.
 - x. Recommend the extent the Program should limit, and the best means of preventing, pre-retirement withdrawals from Secure Choice retirement accounts.
 - xi. Recommend a type of default or automatic investment option for participants who do not make an affirmative decision.
 - xii. Utilizing the results of the market analysis and research on best practices, work with Secure Choice to develop an investment policy statement that specifies the Program's overall investment philosophy and objectives, and how the plan will determine what investment options to offer.
 - xiii. Examine the feasibility of procuring insurance against any loss in connection with the property, assets, or activities of the trust, and secure private underwriting and reinsurance to manage risk and insure the retirement savings rate of return. Examine the feasibility of ensuring that an insurance, annuity or other funding mechanism is in place at all times that protects the value of individual's accounts, and that protects, indemnifies, and holds the state (State of California and the Board) harmless at all times against any and all liability in connection with funding retirement benefits.
- c) Financial Feasibility Study
- i. Assess, based on the market analysis, whether the Program will be self-sustaining.
 - ii. Recommend the amount of funds necessary to implement the Program.

The following formula shall be used for the award of cost points:

Lowest cost proposal, based on the "Total Cost" on the Cost Proposal Worksheet (Attachment 3) is awarded the maximum cost points (30 points). Other proposals are awarded cost points based on the following calculation:

$$\begin{aligned} &(\text{lowest cost proposal} / \text{other cost proposal}) = (\text{factor}) \\ &(\text{factor}) \times \text{maximum cost points} = \text{cost points for other proposal} \end{aligned}$$

EXAMPLE: A maximum of 30 cost points is available.

$$\begin{aligned} \text{lowest cost proposal} &= $75,000 \\ \text{other cost proposal} &= $100,000 \end{aligned}$$

$$\begin{aligned} &$75,000 / $100,000 = 3/4 \\ &3/4 \times 30 \text{ maximum cost points} = 22.5 \text{ cost points for other proposal} \end{aligned}$$
