“Keely Boxing and Youth Center is now one of our city’s premier anti-gang and anti-youth violence centers...Keely Thompson should be recognized by our city for his vision and his hard work to bring this center to the community.”

- The Honorable Anthony Williams
Mayor
District of Columbia

“There’s a lot of aggression, a lot of resentment in some of our neighborhoods. We can channel this in a positive way.”

- The Honorable Jim Graham
Council Member, Ward 1
District of Columbia

“The DC Boxing and Wrestling Commission fully endorses the sustainability of boxing gyms around the city to support kids in boxing skills, community service, and education. Keely Thompson is at the forefront of this positive mission.”

- Michael Brown
Vice Chair
DC Boxing and Wrestling Commission

“Keely’s District Boxing and Youth Center” and other “new efforts to avert gang violence seem to be having an effect, according to officials and activists.”

- The Washington Post
August 12, 2004

“In the basement of the church (Calvert Methodist Church), Keely Thompson is providing a safe haven for Latino, Asian, or African American youths...other than join the gangs that have their roots in the neighborhood...Boxing starts with education...the first commitment is to attend classes to get basic education skills.”

- The Washington Informer

I. OVERVIEW

Mission, Operating Emphases, and Context

The mission of Keely’s District Boxing and Youth Center is to provide community-centered activities that help at-risk children and youth in the Columbia Heights community deal with daily stresses and life experiences in a positive manner. Keely’s Center, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, was founded in April 2004, by Keely Thompson, Jr., a lifelong resident of Columbia Heights, and a former world lightweight champion. Keely’s Center was created to address the growing need to promote the physical, mental, spiritual, and academic well-being of African American, Latino, and Asian youth in the community, many of whom face disproportionate risks and challenges.

In particular, using training in the sport of boxing and individualized education programs, such as reading, health education, and life skills classes, Keely’s Center addresses multi-dimensional and deleterious factors destroying the future for a growing number of African American and Latino teenagers. These challenges and urban ills include drug abuse, violence, proliferation of gang activity, family dissolution, illiteracy, crime, and isolation and hopelessness, among myriad of others. Since its inception, Keely’s Center has been about more than simply throwing jabs and body punches, or putting on gloves and hitting a speed bag. Its focus on education, not just in the classroom, but on life skills training, is what sets the Center apart as an invaluable community resource and a proven gang intervention and prevention initiative. The impact of Keely’s Center has been far-reaching in a relatively short period of time. Anecdotal evidence suggests that, as a result of Keely’s Center, some gang members in the Columbia Heights area are now resolving differences with boxing gloves, rather than violence or bullets.

Governance and Administration

Keely’s District Boxing and Youth Center is governed by a board of directors passionately committed to the aims for which the organization was founded.

The Center’s board of directors consist of a number of distinguished leaders in business, education, health care, religion, government, and community development, including Charles Berrin (President of the Board) - The Berrin Group, LLC; Michael Brown (Vice President) - the DC Wrestling and Boxing Commission; Nigel Gragg - Principal, Gragg and Associates; Yenny Rivera - Unity Health Care; Tandreia Green and Brenda Boyd – Third District Substation; Felix Kwabenah, Sojourner Douglas College; and the Rev. Louis Anthony – Pastor, Metropolitan Wesley, A.M.E. Zion. Daily operations are led by Keely Thompson, who serves as Executive Director. Mr. Keely oversees a three-member executive team. He has been featured in both broadcast and print media, including WPGC-FM Radio; The Washington Post; The Washington Times; In the News, published by the Office of the Mayor; The Washington Informer; DC North, a community publication; and several Hispanic newspapers. Copies of selected print media articles are appended to this proposal, for your review and consideration.

Notable Supporters

These partnerships include:

- Office of the Councilmember Jim Graham
- DC Children and Youth Investment Trust Corporation
- DC Office on Latino Affairs
- DC Department of Parks and Recreation
- DC Metropolitan Police Department
- Columbia Heights/Shaw Family Support Collaborative
- Target Corporation
- Everlast Boxing Equipment

Why Sponsor ?

- A demonstrated, strong message that you play or your organization plays an active role in supporting minority youth in the District of Columbia
- An investment that will directly benefit vulnerable, at-risk youth through expanded and sustained programming
- Opportunity for exposure through media activity that will occur before, during, and after the event
- Increased business potential and organizational profile
- Relationship marketing
- A significant marketing advantage
- Corporate goodwill from the marketplace
- Tax deductibility of donation in compliance with Federal tax laws and state laws governing charitable solicitations
- Leadership support demonstrating caring and the capacity to make a tremendous difference

You Can Make a Difference...

Seldom do we get the opportunity to do something that will make a profound impact on the lives of vulnerable youth whose contributions to society might otherwise be lost to us all.

Your investment in the Keely fundraiser is just such an opportunity.

Your sponsorship will enable us to carry out a number of projects and activities that we otherwise would be unable to consider. With an eye towards the future, we will leverage the proceeds of the benefit to support the Center's short- and long-term operating needs.

These include the following:

- Requisition of computers, books, boxing shoes, and related equipment;

- Hiring additional staff, particularly trainers, literacy teachers, outreach workers, a social worker/counselor, and a nurse;
- Expanded evening hours to meet the increasing demand for greater learning opportunities, such as after-school classes currently offered;
- Relocation to a new facility in the Columbia Heights area;
- Expanded services to include a GED program and a possible health clinic;
- Seed funds to begin planning and organizing similar centers in all wards of the District of Columbia by 2007; and
- Preliminary planning for ensuing national replication of the Keely Center model.

Your investment will be a significant gesture in assisting Keely's Center to ultimately fulfill its compelling and noble aim of producing champions, both in and out of the ring.
