OSHA Compliance Guidelines for the Medical Practice

New recordkeeping and reporting requirements for 2015 applicable to every office with two or more employees

The health care industry has one of the highest rates of work-related injuries and illnesses. Create a culture of compliance and safety for your employees and patients. Every workplace in the U.S. must abide by guidelines set forth and enforced by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA), a government agency established under the Department of Labor to promote worker safety and health guidelines and standards.

Class Highlights

- New for 2015: changes to recordkeeping and reporting requirements
- Review of OSHA guidelines and requirements by which every workplace must abide
- Eliminate known dangers in your office
- Enforce safe workplace standards for employees and patients, free from retaliation
- Employer and employee responsibilities for compliance
- Review of Bloodborne Pathogens Standard written exposure control plan

MACRA, MIPS and APMs: What Every Medical Practice Must Know

Participation and compliance in 2017 and beyond

This class will provide important physician reporting and reimbursement information relevant to Medicare Access and CHIP Reauthorization Act (MACRA), Merit-based Incentive Payment Systems (MIPS), and Alternative Payment Models (APMs).

Class Highlights

- Receive an overview of reporting programs, deadlines, and learn how everything ties together.
- Learn strategies to assess and evaluate current communication processes among coders, clinicians, and providers, and identify gaps that could impact your reimbursement.
- Get tips on how to ensure alignment with LCDs and payer contracts.
- Review the CMS Quality Strategy and Advancing Care Information categories (formerly Meaningful Use).
- Learn the role of patient engagement and technology for reimbursement under MACRA.
