

LANSING is SOUP^{er}

Our LANSING Relay for Life
June 7 and 8, 2008
Lansing Catholic Central

Relay for life is a way to celebrate medical and personal successes, remember those we love and fight back against cancer. Many communities have relays. I'm writing about Lansing's.

We hope to bring together the diverse and vital businesses and neighborhoods of our city so we can know each other. We all need each other and it's time we celebrated the good things we have right here.

It's hard to say what defines us as a city, so we're going to have some fun figuring it out and hope you'll accept our challenge.

If Lansing were a soup, what kind would it be?

Soup Party Challenge:

- Create a soup that you think represents all of Lansing or a single element.
- Give it a title and tell us the why of your creation.
- Give us the recipe - we see potential fun for a cookbook
- Invite your friends
 - ask for a minimum donation to the relay
 - Take a photo of your guests - we'll collect a Lansing scrapbook
 - provide a place setting or light a candle honoring people who could not be there.
 - talk about Lansing and tell us about it.

Let's have a good time and make a difference while we do it.

What is a Relay for Life?

Each relay is a 24-hour event. Teams (made up of people like you) come and walk the track to remind us all that the fight against cancer never ends. The unforgettable luminaria ceremony at dusk honors cancer survivors and the memory of lost ones. Anyone is welcome to attend, bring survivors for support, and participate in the events. There are many ways to participate and support this event - having a team, donating for a luminaria in the name of someone, throwing a soup party, sponsoring the event or sending in any level of donation. It all helps!
