You can use this form to report any hate crime or incident in strict confidence.

Are you being victimised?

If an incident goes unreported, the perpetrators are free to do the same thing again to you or someone else.

Some individuals within our communities are seen as easy targets because they suffer in silence.

Reporting these incidents, even anonymously, helps us to pinpoint problems so we can do something about them and make our communities safer for everyone.

The Gloucestershire Hate Crime & Incident Group is committed to identifying and combating hate crimes and hate incidents.

Our partnership agencies have trained and experienced staff who deal with enquiries in strictest confidence.

Please help by filling in this form and sending it to us using the Freepost address overleaf. You don't have to give us your personal details if you don't want to and you can fill in as much or as little as you want. We will not contact you unless you ask us to.

Tell us what happened; don't suffer in silence.
