If you meet all three (3) criteria below, you are exempt from Canadian tax under an income tax treaty. You most likely do not need to complete any of the following pages. Simply complete this page and attach your Canadian income slips.

- 1) I was a US citizen or resident, or resident of another country with which Canada has a tax treaty;
- 2) I was not a resident of Canada; and
- 3) The only income I earned in Canada* was either:
  - a) Self-employment income, and I had no permanent establishment in Canada (for a definition of Permanent Establishment, see "Self-Employment" on page 3), OR
  - b) Employment income from personal services. The amount earned was less than C$10,000, or I met both of the following criteria:
    - i) I was physically present in Canada for less than 183 days during any 12-month period beginning or ending during the year, and
    - ii) The payment to me was not borne by a "permanent establishment" of my employer in Canada. "Borne by" generally means deducted by your employer in calculating income for tax purposes. You will have to check this question with your employer.
