Office of the Archbishop ...

The Catholic Bishops of Alberta and the Northwest Territories have issued a Letter of Invitation to all Catholics in advance of the national Truth and Reconciliation event set for Edmonton March 27-30.

The Truth and Reconciliation Commission (TRC) is working to document the history and the continuing legacy of the Indian Residential Schools in Canada. The schools, which operated for over 120 years, were instituted and funded by the Federal Government, and administered by Canadian church organizations, most of which were Roman Catholic. In their letter, the seven bishops note that some students benefited from the experience and education they received at these schools, but "others speak of their experience at Residential Schools in terms of pain, suffering, and lengthy alienation from family, local community, language and culture. Some also speak of being subjected to sexual and physical abuse at these schools."

The bishops apologized to those who were hurt, and expressed regret for Catholic participation in government policies that resulted in children being separated from their families, and often suppressed Aboriginal culture and language at the Residential Schools.

"The upcoming TRC Alberta event presents an opportunity for us to listen to the experiences of the Aboriginal students who attended the Residential Schools," the bishops wrote. "This is an important and necessary first step on a long-term journey of moving towards healing and authentic reconciliation."

Archbishop Richard Smith read the letter on behalf of the bishops before students, staff and journalists at Ben Calf Robe-St. Clare School on February 24. He is pictured above chatting with the school's Special Ambassador, Joreal Orr. The full text of the Letter of Invitation is included with this issue, or may be downloaded from the website at <http://www.caedm.ca/PastoralScene/entryid/246.aspx>.

Development ...

Living and Giving as a Steward

The spiritual discipline of almsgiving, or sharing with those less fortunate than ourselves, has long been a practice in the Church during Lent. But what should we give? What is God's expectation of us? We have all been called to live a life of stewardship. Stewards recognize that as creator of all things, our generous God shares some of those things with each of us. Stewards recognize that we are the caretakers of God's gifts. We show our gratitude through our prayers, our work, our financial gifts back to Him, and by the actions we take using our talents. We share out of love for God and for one another, by giving something back.

Ecumenical and Interfaith Relations ...

Is Anything Sacred? Religion in a Secular Society

How do the symbols, beliefs, and practices of religion exist and function in a secular society? When our public spaces have been essentially emptied of God, and the presumption and practice of “unbelief” has become dominant in our culture, what can still be considered sacred? Is anything sacred? Is nothing sacred? Join the Edmonton Interfaith Centre & the Chester Ronning Centre for an evening of dialogue on this timely topic. Our presenters are Salima Versi, Father Stefano Penna and Martin Tweedale.

The event is set for Thursday, March 6, at 6-9 p.m. at Ashbourne Center 11148 – 84 Avenue, Edmonton. Light refreshments will be served; cover charge is $5.00. RSVP to 780-413-6159 or intfaith@shaw.ca.

Evangelization and Catechesis ...

Sacramental Education Initiative

This year, 10 parishes along with some or all of their associated schools are participating in the pilot year for the Sacramental Education Initiative (SEI) in the Archdiocese. We are thankful to the priests, parish staff, and Catholic educators who are piloting this initiative. We are grateful for their collaboration and dedication to helping prepare children better for the sacraments. Please pray for these pilot groups as they work together to support children in their faith journey.

Meet one of the pilot groups

St. Maria Goretti Parish not only serves the Catholic community in Devon but is also the administration centre for St. Margaret Mary in Calmar and Our Lady of Victory in Thorsby. Rev. James Bodula is the pastor.

There is one Catholic school from the Evergreen Catholic School Division associated with this parish and participating in the SEI project. Holy Spirit Catholic School serves kindergarten to Grade 8 students. Students who wish to continue their Catholic education experience drive to Spruce Grove every day to attend St. Peter the Apostle Catholic High School.

St. Maria Goretti pilot group is building a parish website with the help of students from St. Peter the Apostle. These students have volunteered to help build the website and teach the parish how to maintain it. St. Maria Goretti pilot group is also working together to utilize communication between the parish and the school. For example, sacramental registration forms are sent directly to the students at the school. Please continue to pray for St. Maria Goretti pilot group.

Beauty of Stewardship

March 2 – 8th Sunday in Ordinary Time

In today's Gospel Jesus gives us three lessons for life; we can't serve both money and God; we are not to worry; and we must strive first for the kingdom. The kingdom is where our faith and our finances work together, they are one. Because we do not serve two masters, we steward our wealth in a manner that ensures that all have enough. The kingdom is where we believe, and trust that God provides for all our needs. It is here and now, in this place, where we recognise the abundant blessings God makes available to us. We encounter a life where we no longer worry about having enough. Good stewards cannot be drawn into the relentless pursuit of more and more material possessions through want or envy because this quest never really satisfies.

Courtesy of Stewardship Office, The Archdiocese of Winnipeg

March 9 – First Sunday of Lent

In today's Gospel Jesus was tempted to stray from the path the Father had set for him. What temptations lure you from the path of discipleship? There is so much in our materialistic society to tempt us. The beauty of stewardship as a way of life is that it enables the Christian steward to resist the enticement of excessive consumerism and materialism. Stewardship inspires us to discern between needs and wants and brings a measure of balance to our lives. Stewardship provides the necessary discipline needed to live in a consumer culture yet not be consumed by it. This Lenten season let us pray that we may live a lifestyle in which we possess sensibly.

Vocations ...

Creating a Culture of Vocations (One Minute at a Time)

“It is necessary to understand and embrace ministry among our youth as a normal and basic means of creating a ‘vocations culture.’” (Archbishop Smith-Pastoral Priorities of the Archdiocese of Edmonton)
Amen! Amen! Embrace youth ministry today!!

Why is youth ministry important and essential to building a culture of vocations (service)? If young people do not encounter Christ, fall in love with Him, and commit themselves to him, there will be no Church in the future. Just as much as there will be no families and children if young people do not fall in love and marry. It is that important!

Young people will naturally fall in love with Jesus if they are only given the opportunity! But as we all know with dating, just falling love is not enough. A real relationship needs to form. Today, let us each commit ourselves to the task of helping our young people to really get to know Christ.

Letter of Invitation

Dear Catholic Faithful,

The Truth and Reconciliation Commission (TRC) is coming to Alberta from March 27-30, 2014 at the Shaw Conference Centre in Edmonton. This will be the last of the seven national TRC events that have been taking place across Canada over the past four years. The Edmonton national gathering, together with the preparation leading to it, represents an important historical moment for First Nations, Inuit and Metis peoples, and for everyone who calls Alberta home.

We encourage you to learn more about this historic event, and to become directly involved through attendance, volunteering and praying for its success.

The TRC is working to document the history and the continuing legacy of the Indian Residential Schools in Canada. The schools, which operated for over 120 years, were instituted and funded by the Federal Government, and administered by Canadian church organizations. The majority of these schools in Canada and Alberta were administered by Roman Catholic dioceses and religious congregations.

Those who attended the Residential Schools often had to leave home at a young age. We recognize that there were students who benefited from the experience and education they received at these schools. At the same time, we acknowledge with deep pain that others speak of their experience at Residential Schools in terms of pain, suffering, and lengthy alienation from family, local community, language and culture. Some also speak of being subjected to sexual and physical abuse at these schools.

In 2009, at a meeting with Canadian Aboriginal leaders and Canadian church leaders at the Vatican, Pope Benedict XVI expressed his sorrow at the anguish caused by the deplorable conduct of some members of the Church and offered his sympathy and prayerful solidarity with those who were negatively affected by their attendance at the Residential Schools.

We are adding our voice to those of the Catholic bishops and leaders of religious communities across Canada who have already expressed words of apology and regret. We, the Catholic Bishops of Alberta and Northwest Territories, apologize to those who experienced sexual and physical abuse in Residential Schools under Catholic administration. We also express our apology and regret for Catholic participation in government policies that resulted in children being separated from their families, and often suppressed Aboriginal culture and language at the Residential Schools.

It is also important to embrace with understanding and compassion the many sisters, brothers and priests who, out of love, gave themselves entirely for the service of the children entrusted to their care in these schools, and sought only to do good under difficult conditions. Horrified and heartbroken at the suffering inflicted on children by some of their colleagues, they, too, are suffering. Together with the bishops of our country, they have expressed their commitment to healing and reconciliation.

The upcoming TRC Alberta event presents an opportunity for us to listen to the experiences of the Aboriginal students who attended the Residential Schools. This is an important and necessary first step on a long-term journey of moving towards healing and authentic reconciliation.

At each TRC National Event, one of the seven Aboriginal Sacred Teachings is chosen as an overall theme. Wisdom is the theme for the Edmonton event. This theme helps to provide an opportunity for us to learn about wisdom from the Aboriginal spiritual traditions during the event.

The recent canonization of Kateri Tekakwitha has helped us to recognize how God has manifested abundant blessings and holiness through the life of this extraordinary Aboriginal woman. This special historic moment in the life of the North American Church encourages all Catholics to discover the ways that God is speaking to us today through the gifts of Aboriginal culture and spirituality.

We commit ourselves to work in the Catholic community and the wider society to challenge attitudes of racism and prejudice that continue to exist in Alberta and Canada today. Aboriginal communities still face many serious issues that go beyond what will be addressed at the TRC, including land, treaty rights, education, health care, housing, jobs, and environmental threats. We will continue to find ways for Catholics together with other concerned Canadians to support more effectively Aboriginal peoples in their ongoing struggles to achieve justice and equity in Canadian society.

We invite you to attend all or part of the Edmonton TRC event, either in person or at www.trc.ca. Volunteer if you can. We ask that you pray personally and publicly in your parishes for the success of this event, and for progress in the long-term journey of healing and reconciliation. May St. Kateri guide us and strengthen us to be faithful in this important work.

RELIGION IN A SECULAR SOCIETY

Thursday, March 6 Ashbourne Center 6:00 – 9:00 PM

How do the symbols, beliefs, and practices of religion exist and function in a secular society? When our public spaces have been essentially emptied of God, and the presumption and practice of “unbelief” has become dominant in our economic, political, cultural, educational, professional, even recreational spheres, what can still be considered sacred? Is anything sacred? Is nothing sacred?
