“BIRDS OF PREY” OCTOBER 8th, 2013

Lee Chichester has been a licensed falconer since 1992. She was selected for an internship with one of the world's foremost raptor biologists, Dr. Nick Fox, during the summer of 1995. She turned that 5-month experience into a book published in 2002, “Falcons and Foxes in the UK: The Making of a Hunter”. She has been a member of the Virginia Falconers Association for many years, and until 2010, was editor of the organization's Annual, “HawkTalk”. This year, she has been elected to serve as the group's President. During her falconry avocation, she has handled several species of raptor, but has a special fondness for the indigenous red-tailed hawk.

She has been a member of the Virginia Falconers Association for many years, and until 2010, was editor of the organization's Annual, “HawkTalk”. This year, she has been elected to serve as the group's President. During her falconry avocation, she has handled several species of raptor, but has a special fondness for the indigenous red-tailed hawk.

Professionally, as a freelance writer, Lee has worked for the newspaper, magazine, and digital publishing industries. Today she writes grant applications and does marketing and communications for a nonprofit arts center in Floyd, VA (The Jacksonville Center for the Arts); and is the editor, designer, and layout artist for a quarterly special-interest magazine for antiques collectors.
