National Foreign Language Center
Patapsco Building, Suite 2132
University of Maryland
5201 Paint Branch Parkway
College Park, MD 20740

All submissions must be postmarked by December 21, 2007. Applicants will be notified by early February 2008.

Please note that STARTALK programs will be required to send at least 2 representatives to the Washington, DC area for pre- and post-program meetings. The prime contractor will cover the cost for these meetings.

Priorities and Criteria for Selection:

The following pages describe the priorities and criteria for selection. It is not required that a proposal incorporate each factor in every case, but these components are highly desirable. Additional considerations will be given to geographic distribution of funding recipients, total number of individuals served, total funding available for awards, diversity of program types, and populations served.

STUDENT PROGRAMS: Arabic, Chinese, Hindi, Persian, Urdu

A. Eligibility—Applicants must

1. demonstrate the capability to offer standards-based language learning summer programs for middle school and high school students (grades 6 – 12) in a culturally rich environment;
2. have prior experience with summer foreign language camps, programs, courses or academies for students to gain and improve their linguistic and cultural competence; and
3. provide evidence that student safety, liability, and insurance issues are addressed.

B. Criteria—The program

1. has clearly stated goals with measurable outcomes and performance indicators;
2. provides evidence that it will implement an age-appropriate, standards-based curriculum that
 - a. implements instructional strategies and activities in all three modes of communication;
 - b. provides cultural content and learning experiences that include cultural products, practices, and perspectives;
 - c. connects to other disciplines;
 - d. encourages students to compare their own language and culture with the target language and culture;
 - e. provides opportunities for real-life language use and cultural experiences in the local and/or virtual community;
 - f. addresses the needs and multiple learning styles of diverse learners; and
 - g. differentiates for multiple levels of language proficiency and diverse populations as needed (e.g., heritage language, Special Education, talented and gifted participants);
3. employs qualified staff who
 - a. are proficient in the target language and cultures;
 - b. will present at least 80% of instructional time in the target language; and
 - c. are proficient in US culture, including US students and US schooling; and
 - d. are on-site during program activities for consultation and oversight;
4. has an evaluation plan to collect evidence of participant growth and program effectiveness based on the objectives and outcome indicators stated;
5. is likely to attract a sufficient number of participants;
6. provides evidence of success in previous programs through such documents as informational materials, syllabi, student evaluations, name of contact and budget from most recent program; and
7. demonstrates a reasonable cost per participant in view of the proposed program type and expected outcomes.

C. Priority will be given to programs that have the following features:

1. Students have the opportunity to earn academic credit (e.g., Carnegie units, college credit) if appropriate to program intensity and duration;
2. Students have the opportunity to continue to develop language proficiency after the summer by enrolling in courses in the academic year, whether via face-to-face instruction or distance learning; (The applicant is not required to be the responsible party for offering follow-up experiences.) and
3. Programs serve a diverse population in terms of ethnicity, race, gender, special needs, and/or socio-economic status.

TEACHER TRAINING PROGRAMS: Arabic, Chinese, Hindi, Persian, Urdu

A. Eligibility—Applicants must

1. demonstrate the ability to train teachers who are able to implement standards-based curriculum and instructions; and
2. have prior experience in offering summer institutes or courses for language teachers to gain or improve linguistic or pedagogical skills.

B. Criteria—The program

1. has clearly stated goals with measurable outcomes and performance indicators;
2. provides evidence that it is aligned with student national standards, research, and best practices;
3. demonstrate additional features, such as
 - a. understanding of the needs of adult learners; and
 - b. capability for differentiation for diverse populations (e.g., pre-service, public, private, heritage language, and master teachers, as well as university faculty and assistants);
4. employs qualified staff who are on-site for oversight;
5. has an evaluation plan to collect evidence of participant growth and program effectiveness based on the objectives and outcome indicators stated;
6. is likely to attract a sufficient number of participants;
7. provides evidence of success in previous programs through such documents as informational materials, syllabi, participant evaluations, name of contact and budget from most recent program; and
8. demonstrates a reasonable cost per participant.

C. Priority will be given to programs that have the following features:

1. The program is linked to a state certification process, including awarding appropriate course credit, and guided by state and/or national standards for teacher knowledge and skills;
2. Participants will
 - i. have the opportunity to continue their progress after the summer experience; (The applicant is not required to be the responsible party for offering follow-up experiences.)
 - ii. enhance their knowledge and skills in at least three of the following areas:
 - a. general and specific language methodology;
 - b. theories and practice of second language acquisition;
 - c. designing curriculum for the teaching of language and culture;
 - d. selecting and developing instructional materials;
 - e. classroom management and understanding of the US educational system;
 - f. structure of the target language for pedagogical purposes;
 - g. language testing and assessment; and
 - h. target language and culture; and
3. Programs that provide for observation and/or practicum experience.
