The SEPA Direct Debit Mandate Form – Explained

The introduction of the SEPA Scheme brings a number of changes to the management of mandates, namely:

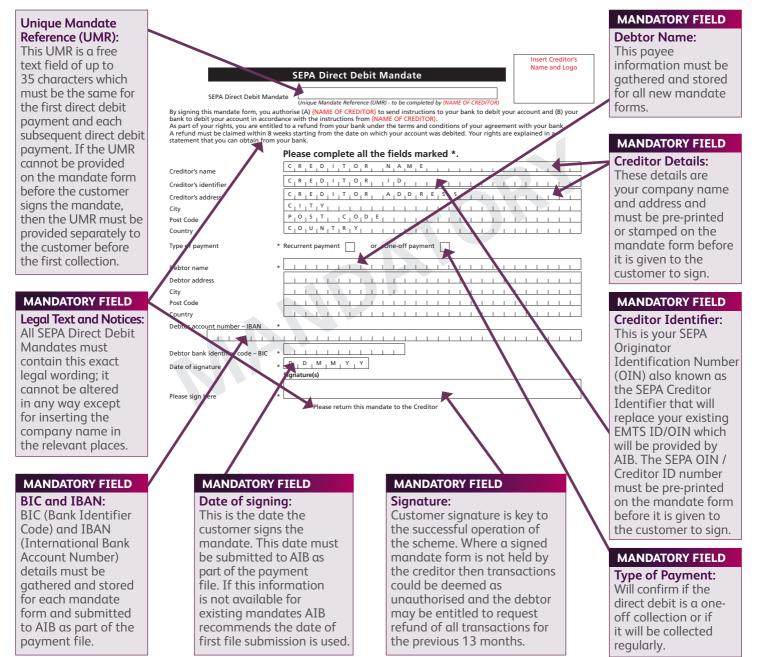

- How mandates are handled between the creditor and debtor.
- The rights of debtors.
- The information provided to banks as part of SEPA Direct Debit payment files.

This information sheet focuses on the mandate form itself and the key pieces of mandatory information that are to be gathered by the creditor and provided to the debtor via the mandate form.

Note that the mandate must be contained on a single page and clearly delineated from any other additional information or text.

More information on the SEPA mandate management process and file specifications that detail all the fields that need to be submitted as part of a direct debit bulk payment file can be found in the brochures section on www.aib.ie/sepa.

SEPA Direct Debit Mandate Mandatory Fields

SEPA Direct Debit Mandate Optional Fields

A longer form of SEPA Direct Debit Mandate with additional Optional Fields can also be used. This contains additional fields that you can use for business or reconciliation purposes such as referencing the payment between the debtor and the creditor. The additional optional fields are shown in the diagram below.

Note that these are the only additional fields which are permitted within the boundary of the mandate. Any other information, such as Debtor Phone Number, Desired Collection Date etc. cannot be requested on the Direct Debit Mandate Form.

What do you need to do?

As part of joining the SEPA Direct Debit Scheme, you will need to draft up a new SEPA Direct Debit Mandate Form based on the required information. Before you can provide this SEPA Direct Debit Mandate Form to your customers, and as part of the process of signing up to the new SEPA Scheme, you will need to submit a sample of your new SEPA Direct Debit Mandate Form to AIB for us to review and approve. You can submit your sample SEPA Direct Debit Mandate Form to your local AIB branch along with your AIB SEPA Direct Debit Creditors Agreement. The mandate samples shown above are examples, when designing your own SEPA Direct Debit Mandate you will need to consider how many characters or letters to capture for individual fields in relation to the payment files you submit and your own internal systems.

What do you need to do if you use Originator Plus?

If you sign customers up to direct debits over the phone or via email, for clarification you will need to provide AIB with a copy of the letter or email that you will send to customers to confirm their SEPA Direct Debit Mandate details. Similar to the sample mandate form above, this letter must provide all of the key

SEPA mandatory fields as outlined in this information sheet and this letter will need to be provided to AIB for review and approval ahead of any use.

Further information for Originator Plus users

In accordance with the existing guidelines on Originator Plus, when moving to the SEPA Direct Debit Scheme, you will have to maintain the following as proof of the mandate form for these transactions:

- 1. A recording of the call, if direct debit details are taken over the phone, or
- 2. The audit trail of the sign-up process if direct debit details are recorded online.
- 3. Copy of the confirmation letter or email which was sent to the customer if direct debit details are taken over the phone or online

Furthermore, AIB strongly recommends that if you intend to collect cross-border direct debits that you obtain a signed paper mandate form as banks outside of R.O.I. may not accept non-paper mandates.

How will this affect existing mandates?

Existing mandates will continue to be valid after 1st February 2014, however, the first presentation of these mandates under the new SEPA scheme will have to be submitted with a transaction code of 'FRST'. The new SEPA customer rights apply to customers who signed up under existing mandates.

What additional responsibilities do you have?

As an originator of SEPA Direct Debits you will have the following responsibilities:

- 1. Management and storage of SEPA Direct Debit Mandates, along with details of any subsequent mandate amendments, for the lifetime of the mandate and for a minimum period of 13 months following the last collection under the mandate
- 2. Dematerialisation of the SEPA Direct Debit Mandate and submission to AIB of specified mandate details along with each collection as part of your SEPA XML file
- 3. Creation of a new Unique Mandate Reference Number (UMR) for each new mandate and ensuring that this UMR remains constant for the lifetime of the mandate unless processed as an amendment.

The below table shows the transaction codes which must accompany each SEPA Direct Debit presentation:

Any failure to adhere to these mandate management rules will result in the failure of the SEPA Direct Debit presentation and the standard unpaid charge will apply.

Mandate Amendments

If a debtor or creditor wishes to make a change to an existing mandate SEPA caters for this by using the mandate amendment field within a SEPA Direct Debit XML file. Setting this amendment indicator to "TRUE" will enable the originator to change the details of the mandate e.g. to change the debtor IBAN (within the same bank), UMR or Creditor Identifier OIN). Note that if the debtor changes bank the mandate should not be amended, rather it be sent as a FRST collection with the new debtor IBAN details.

Note that if the debtor changes their financial institution the mandate details should be amended with the new debtor IBAN details and should be sent as a FRST collection.
