

C. VIVIAN STRINGER GIRL'S BASKETBALL CAMPS

2013 SCHOOL OF SKILLS/ELITE CAMP

R

Friday, June 28, 2013

Open to All Girls Entering 4th-12th Grades

$150 per Camper (2 meals included, no breakfast)

The School of Skills/Elite camp is designed for those who love the game and desire to learn how and what it takes to improve their basketball skills. This camp focuses on providing the necessary drills to aid in the development of the individual fundamental skills of basketball. The fundamentals of dribbling, passing, rebounding, footwork and shooting will be taught, including an emphasis on individual defensive techniques. Highlights include specific instruction involving aspects of the game that are keys to successful guard and post play. This camp is designed for those passionate players wanting to learn how to improve and take their game to the next level! Junior college and international students welcome to participate as well.

All campers will receive an official C. Vivian Stringer camp t-shirt.

School of Skills/Elite Camp Staff: Camp participants will be taught skills, techniques and instructed by C. Vivian Stringer and the Rutgers assistant coaching staff. The Scarlet Knights women's basketball players will be involved with this camp as well. Featured at the School of Skills Camp will be clinician and camp lecturer Nadine Domond. Nadine is a former college player at the University of Iowa, WNBA player and college basketball coach. She is the founder and director of ND Basketball Services and is a personal basketball trainer, motivational speaker and camp clinician.
