Educational institutions or a lender of student loans must request students' tax identification numbers in order to file certain information returns with the IRS and to furnish a statement to students. For students, this is your social security (SSN) or, if you are not eligible to obtain an SSN, your individual taxpayer identification number (ITIN). The returns that institutions must file contain information about qualified tuition and related expenses (Form 1098-T, Tuition Statement) and student loan interest (Form 1098-E, Student Loan Interest Statement). The information about your tuition will help to determine whether you, or the person who can claim you as a dependent, may take either the tuition and fees deduction or claim an education credit to reduce federal income tax. The information about your student loan interest will help to determine your deduction for such interest. For more information, see Pub. 970, Tax Benefits for Education.
