Open Doors for Travelers to Homes and Hearts in More Than 130 Countries

Dear Friend,

We are happy to learn you are interested in becoming a Servas traveler. You will join a diverse community working to promote peace and intercultural understanding through person-to-person encounters. To travel with Servas, please apply at least three (3) weeks in advance of your departure date. Refer to Servas International - Host List Statistics for a complete list of participating countries, the number of hosts in each, and when the lists were last updated.

Please read the Responsibilities of Servas Travelers carefully. If you are willing to meet Servas' expectations, you are invited to apply as follows:

1) Each adult (aged 18 or over) who wishes to visit Servas hosts must complete a Letter of Introduction (couples may share one Letter). For the essay section, follow the directions and write in short, simple sentences so someone with a limited understanding of English can read it easily.

2) Attach a small, passport-style photograph to the upper right-hand corner of your completed Letter of Introduction and make two photocopies, one for your interviewer and one for the office files.

3) Collect two brief character references for each adult traveler, prepared by people who know you well (colleagues, employers or a previous host family- not family members, please.) Your references may choose to write a free-style letter or they may complete the attached form (in this case, print an extra copy). References should be signed and include their address and telephone number.

4) Each adult traveler (aged 18 or over) is required to pay an annual membership fee of $85. Children seventeen years old and younger may travel free with their parents.

- a) In addition, a refundable deposit is required for the loan of Servas host lists. The deposit is $20 for each set of up to five single country or regional host lists (e.g. $40 for 6 to 10 lists, $60 for 11 to 15).
- b) There is a non-refundable 5 shipping and handling fee for each set of 1 5 host lists.
- c) Your deposit will be promptly refunded to you if you return the host lists when you complete your travel, but no later than one month after your Letter of Introduction expires, and you complete a Travel Report and return it to US Servas after returning from your trip.

Contact one of our volunteer interviewers to schedule a meeting, usually lasting up to two hours. You can find an interviewer in your community by checking our website www.usservas.org or call the office at 707-825-1714 and we'll help you find one.

5) Take to the interview:

- a) Your completed Letter of Introduction with photo attached and two copies.
- b) Your two free-hand letters of reference or two completed reference forms.
- c) One check or money order for the total membership fee plus deposit, shipping and handling. No cash, please. Alternatively, you can mail a check to the office or call the office and charge your payment to a credit or debit card.

If the interviewer feels that your travel plans are compatible with Servas membership, that both you and Servas hosts will benefit from your participation, and that you understand the goals and philosophy of Servas, your Letter of Introduction will be approved and signed. Either you or the interviewer will then send your materials to the national office for processing. You may begin to contact hosts when you receive your approved letter of introduction.

If you have any questions or difficulty reaching an interviewer, please do not hesitate to contact us.

In Peace,

United States Servas, Inc.

Fostering understanding of cultural diversity through a global person-to-person network promoting a more just and peaceful world

A Brief History of Servas

Over the past fifty years, dedicated peace-minded people have created the vital worldwide hospitality network known as Servas. Servas was initiated in 1948 by a conscientious objector to war who believed it was possible to build stronger foundations for world peace by helping concerned people to meet and learn from each other and to recognize that we all belong to one world family. For years, many had been cut off by political and military barriers. A devastating war had also created many psychological and economic barriers.

Volunteers were first found in countries of northwestern Europe who gathered lists of people who could offer free hospitality to approved foreign travelers. It was hoped that, by traveling in the open-door style, people would build links between groups and individuals seeking a peaceful and just society.

A group of leaders from several pacifist organizations in England gave sound roots to the hospitality system, which was known by several names: Peacebuilders, Work-Study-Travel, and Open Doors. Meanwhile a dedicated Gandhian and Quaker woman in California, "Grandma" Esther Harlan, created the even more extensive hospitality system in North America—using only correspondence to compile a roster of people identified as potential Peace Builders. Within a few years, the movement had taken root in a number of other countries.

Lists were circulated of those willing to open their doors to travelers within the system. Early US hosts included leaders in race relations, Quaker, Jewish, Protestant and Catholic leaders, leaders of cooperatives, peace leaders and village rehabilitation workers. Though a peace-oriented organization, it has never excluded non-pacifists; it has, in fact, welcomed travelers in uniform. From these humble beginnings Servas has reached out to people all over the world, driven entirely by the efforts of concerned volunteers.

The name Servas—meaning "serve" in Esperanto—was later adopted to denote the spirit of international mutual service which characterizes this movement. Today, with hosts in more than 130 countries Servas has become a global program of over 14,000 member hosts and thousands of travelers... and continues to grow. Volunteer national committees have compiled lists of hosts in countries of every form of government and provided bridges of understanding between people of every profession and persuasion.

Though started by pacifists, we have never rejected anyone because of other ideologies: open mindedness and a commitment to cooperation are the only criteria. Since 1973 Servas International has been recognized as a Non-Governmental Organization (NGO) registered with the United Nations Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC).

As it has grown Servas has become more inclusive, rather than exclusive, but it has never relinquished its goal of striving for world peace by providing opportunities for people of all cultures, races and backgrounds to meet and share their mutual concerns. Join us!

RESPONSIBILITIES OF SERVAS TRAVELERS

Over the past fifty years, our members around the world have enjoyed the art of hosting visitors in the Servas way. The system works remarkably well, but only when travelers remember to do the following:

1. AVOID MISUNDERSTANDINGS BY LEARNING SERVAS PROTOCOL...

Host lists provided by US Servas are in English and are prefaced with important local rules for visiting Servas hosts. Your interviewer can provide more details but, as a minimum, Servas protocol includes the following "DOs" and "DON'Ts:"

- DO contact hosts well in advance and include a copy of your Letter of Introduction.
- DON'T call before 8 am or after 10 pm, call hosts collect, or expect hosts to return your long-distance call at their expense.
- DO confirm arrangements before arriving and notify your hosts if your schedule or your arrival time has changed.
- DON'T request more than a 2-night stay; the visit may be extended later at the host's express invitation (EVP or LS codes).
- DO make sure all your travel companions (18 and older) are valid Servas members, each with their own Letter of Introduction.
- DO take seriously your responsibility for getting to the host's home...and getting there on time.
- DON'T assume your hosts will feed you. While some hosts will invite you to share meals with them, they are not obligated to do so.
- DO present your original Letter of Introduction to your hosts at the door when you arrive...before being asked.
- DO be polite and gracious, follow the rules of the house, and accept whatever sleeping and eating arrangements that are offered.
- DON'T make calls from your host's telephone without first asking for permission...even local calls.
- DO consider carrying your own sheets or a sleep sack, in order to save hosts the trouble of doing extra laundry.
- DO spend time with your hosts-this is the central purpose of the visit! Make time to get involved and share your ideas.

2. LEARN ABOUT THE REGION...

Learning new things about other cultures is a driving force behind Servas. A prerequisite to any trip is familiarization with the customs and cultures, history and governance of the places you will visit. Consider seriously what you hope to learn on your trip. One idea is to read a novel set in the country you will be visiting or one that is written by a native author.

3. GIVE BACK TO YOUR HOSTS...

Take every opportunity to thank Servas hosts for their hospitality in whatever ways you can: help prepare a meal, treat your hosts to a meal out, or bring a small souvenir from home. Find out what household chores you can help with. After returning home, send your hosts a thank you note; add special hosts to your holiday card list.

The best way to thank your hosts is by being a model guest. Always ask before using a host's telephone and reimburse them immediately for any calls made. Calling card accounts and prepaid calling cards are excellent ways around this problem.

Whatever you do, don't be a burden to your hosts. You should always have the means to pay for your own transportation, food, and activities. You should also be prepared to pay for lodging elsewhere (a hotel or hostel) in case plans fall through and because you will occasionally need "down time." Also be prepared for medical expenses or carry international insurance coverage.

4. GET INVOLVED IN YOUR HOSTS' LIVES IN THE SPIRIT OF PEACE...

Servas offers you a unique opportunity to find out about a community from an insider's point of view. Ask to accompany host families to work or to school. Find out if there are any local gatherings or cultural events you could attend with them.

Be sensitive and respectful of your host's values and custom—especially where there are differences. If something offends you, find out if the root of the problem is cultural or individual and try to resolve things in a peaceful manner.

If Servas helped make your trip worthwhile, the best way to show your appreciation is to remain active in the organization. You could become a host or day host yourself, or volunteer locally for Servas. Tell your friends about Servas if you think they would make good hosts or travelers. If you are already involved with other peace organizations let them know about Servas, too!

5. MORE TIPS FOR THE TRAVELER...

- Make the effort to contact hosts living outside of major cities. Rural hosts typically have more time and want more visitors.
- Assume hosts are not involved with Servas for sexual reasons. Your conduct should be above reproach. In the unlikely event that a Servas member acts inappropriately, please report the incident quickly to that country's national secretary for action.
- Have realistic expectations about the number of hosts you intend to visit. Why burden yourself with lists you may never use?
- Never divulge host information to non-members you meet on the road. Have them contact a local volunteer coordinator.
- Servas membership does not guarantee anyone the "right" to free hospitality. Servas hosts, on the other hand, do have the right to refuse a homestay request...even without an explanation. Be polite and understanding when a host, who finds it inconvenient to receive you, must say "No."
- Remember that Servas has just one small office in the US; elsewhere, Servas is a completely volunteer-run organization and local Servas coordinators may not be available the day you call. Remember also that each Servas branch is autonomous.

Please take this set of guidelines along with you and refer to them on your trip.
