

Dr. Beverly O. Ford Announces New Edition of Making Case Management Work: Empowering People for Change

This second edition of Making Case Management Work responds to the questions and issues I heard from staff like you across the country. It provides four new chapters and more in-depth case management strategies you can use to help achieve program outcomes.

What's New?

- ⇒ Applying case management to specific "hard to serve" populations
 - ⇒ Practical techniques for better managing your time and energy
 - ⇒ The Role of the Supervisor as "keeper of the process"
 - ⇒ Engaging job seekers in assessing their readiness to find and sustain employment
 - ⇒ Using assessment to engage participants in self- evaluation and give you "ammunition" for influencing them to make changes
 - ⇒ More "how to" strategies and skills for empowering participants to work in partnership with you
 - ⇒ Asking good questions that influence how participants think and behave
- ... AND MORE!
