Forms of Business Structure

The most common forms of business organizations are: sole proprietorship, partnership, limited liability company and corporation. If you plan to conduct business under a name other than your own, you are required to register the name. Keep in mind that registration of an assumed name in the Clerk's Office is not a license to conduct business; a separate license may be required, depending on the type of business you intend to engage in.

Sole Proprietorship:

The simplest form of business structure owned by one individual is a sole proprietorship. All business responsibilities, decisions, and risks are those of the single owner. The owner of a sole proprietorship has unlimited liability for the business.

Form required: Business Certificate (Assumed Name Certificate) also known as Certificate of Conducting Business as a Sole Proprietor. This form may be purchased from a legal stationary store or downloaded from our website at www.erie.gov/clerk. Complete, including your notarized signature and file the form with the County Clerk in each county where the business is located. You will obtain 2 certified copies when the original is filed with the County Clerk; the additional certified copies will be retained by the bank and by the business.

Fees: $37 for filing and certified copies.

Partnership (General Partnership, see below for Limited Partnership):

A partnership is the relationship between two or more persons or companies that carry on a trade or business together. In the absence of a Partnership Agreement, New York Partnership Law sets forth the rights and duties of the partners.

Form required: Business Certificate for Partners also known as Certificate of Conducting Business as Partners. This form may be purchased from a legal stationary store or downloaded from our website at www.erie.gov/clerk. Complete, including your notarized signature, and file the form with the County Clerk in each county where the business is located. You will obtain 2 certified copies when the original is filed with the Erie County Clerk; the additional certified copies will be retained by the bank and by the business.

Fees: $37 for filing and certified copies.

Limited Partnership: Similar to a general partnership, except that only one partner is required to be a general partner; the additional partner(s) has/have limited liability to the extent of his/her/their investment and no management powers.

Form required: The New York State Department of State requires the filing of a Certificate of Limited Partnership which may be found at <http://www.dos.ny.gov/corps>. A Limited Partnership must publish a notice in two newspapers in the county where the business is located each week for six successive weeks specifying the details of the Limited Liability Partnership within 120 days after filing the Certificate. The filing fee for a limited partnership is $200. Additional fees / filings may be required.

Limited Liability Company:

A limited liability company is an unincorporated business organization, other than a partnership or a trust, of one or more persons having limited liability for the contractual obligations and other liabilities of the business.

Form required: The New York State Department of State requires the filing of Articles of Organization which may be found at <http://www.dos.ny.gov/corps>. A Limited Liability Company must publish a notice in two newspapers in the county where the business is located each week for six successive weeks specifying the details of the Limited Liability Company within 120 days after filing the Articles. To find additional information regarding the publication, including a list of approved newspapers, go to www.erie.gov/clerk.

Fees: $5 for each name search, $20 for Reservation of Name, $200 for filing of Articles of Organization, $50 for filing of Certificate of Publication. Additional fees / filings may be required.

Corporation:

A New York State corporation is an entity separate and distinct from the individual(s) who owns and manages the business. A corporation can sell, buy, and inherit property in its own name and is legally endowed with rights, powers, and duties in the conduct of lawful activities, like a natural person. Business corporations operate for profit and can raise capital by selling shares of interest in the corporation. A corporation's debt and obligations are distinctly its own and not generally those of the owners.

Form required: The New York State Department of State requires the filing of a Certificate of Incorporation which may be found at <http://www.dos.ny.gov/corps>.

Fees: $5 for each name search, $20 for Reservation of Name, $125 for filing of Certificate of Incorporation plus minimum tax of $10 to issue a maximum of 200 shares no par value or a par value of all authorized shares up to $20,000. Additional fees / filings may be required.

Local Permits

A person contemplating starting a business should be aware of local laws. It is important to contact the village, town or city and county clerk where the business office will be located or operated. Local laws or regulations affecting zoning, signage or parking and occupational license requirements for such occupations as auctioneers, electricians and plumbers, should be considered. It is advisable to contact your local government first.

New York State Licensing and Permits

Some businesses require specific New York State permits. The Governor’s Office of Regulatory Reform (GORR) defines a permit as “any required license, registration or similar form of authorization required by New York State.” Those businesses that require a permit include, but are not limited to: motor vehicle repair shops, beauty salons, food establishments, real estate sales and child day care centers. For assistance in identifying New York State permit requirements, please go to http://www.cio.ny.gov/business_permit_assistance or contact the

New York State Department of Taxation and Finance

General: Publication 20, "New York State Tax Guide for New Businesses," provides basic information about New York State Tax Law and Regulations for small businesses. This publication outlines the procedures to follow and forms to file with the NYS Department of Taxation and Finance to fulfill your tax obligations. You may find the publication, along with others at http://www.tax.ny.gov/pubs_and_bulls/.

For more specific information regarding the taxation of various types of business entities, such as corporations, limited liability companies or limited partnerships, review the specific publications at <http://www.tax.ny.gov/bus/ct/ctidx.htm>. For example, tax treatment of S Corporations is discussed in Publication 35, and the publication regarding limited liability companies is Publication 16.

Additional information from the Tax Department regarding the start up of a business may be found at: http://www.tax.ny.gov/bus/doingbus/starting_business.htm.

Sales and Use Taxes: If your business will sell tangible personal property or provide specific services in New York, you may be required to collect and remit New York State and local sales tax to the NYS Department of Taxation and Finance, usually on a quarterly basis. Publication 750, "A Guide to Sales Tax in New York State," as well as Tax Bulletin ST-360, How to Register for New York State Sales Tax, both available at http://www.tax.ny.gov/pubs_and_bulls/, has information regarding your obligations and how to register for a "Sales Tax Certificate of Authority" (Form DTF-17). If you have any questions on whether or not you are required to register, see Tax Bulletin ST-175, Do I Need to Register for Sales Tax?. In addition, to determine when and how a business entity such as a limited liability company or corporation pays use or sales tax, see Tax Bulletin ST-910.

Internal Revenue Service

The Small Business and Self-Employed Tax Center at <http://www.irs.gov/businesses/small/index.html> provides links to general information regarding federal tax obligations, helpful videos for small business or self-employed individuals, scheduled events such as workshops and online tools, as well as more specific tax information regarding the various stages of owning and operating a small business.

A Federal Employer Identification Number (EIN) is used by the federal and state authorities to identify a business entity. To determine if you are required to obtain an "EIN," review the information available at <http://www.irs.gov/businesses/small/article/0,,id+98350,00.html>.

For more information, contact the local IRS office at:
130 South Elmwood Avenue, Buffalo, New York 14202, (716) 961-5100 or 800-829-4933.

You've started your business and the good news is that business is going well.
The bad news is there's only one of you.
Perhaps it's time to take the plunge and hire some help.

Hiring Employees

The first step in hiring employees is obtaining an Employer Identification Number, or EIN. You may either contact the Internal Revenue Service directly or online to obtain an EIN. More information may be found at <http://www.irs.gov/businesses/small/article/0,,id=98350,00.html>.

Choosing the right employee requires you to make an informed and legally compliant decision; privacy is an issue regarding the potential employee's background and the questions you may ask. Knowing the legal limits is important: Credit Reports and Criminal Records are just two records that may not be obtained without the applicant's authorization and consent. On the other hand, Workers' Compensation Records are public records and may be considered under certain circumstances. You should make yourself aware of the vagaries of the laws of the State of New York by consulting with an attorney if you have specific questions, or by re-searching the issues through some of the resources contained in this brochure.

Federal law requires employers to verify an employee's eligibility to work in the United States. Within three days of hire, employers must complete an Employment Eligibility Verification Form, commonly referred to as an "I-9 Form." Completing this form requires you to examine acceptable forms of documentation supplied by the employee to confirm the employee's citizenship or eligibility to work in the U.S. The form, instructions and additional information may be found at the internet site for US Citizenship and Immigration Services (www.uscis.gov). In addition, all employers must report newly hired and re-hired employees to a state directory within 20 days of their hire or rehire date. New York State New Hire Reporting Requirements may be found at <http://www.tax.ny.gov/bus/wt/newhire.htm>.

Once employees are hired, certain taxes must be withheld by the employer, including FICA (Medicare and Social Security taxes), federal and state income taxes, state unemployment taxes, and possibly federal unemployment taxes. For specific information on employer responsibilities regarding the withholding of federal taxes, you may want to read the IRS' Employer's Tax Guide (Publication 15, <http://www.irs.gov/pub/irs-pdf/p15.pdf>). In addition to the obligation to withhold state income taxes, New York State requires all employers to provide Unemployment, Worker's Compensation, and Disability Insurances. See Publication NYS-50, Employer's Guide to Unemployment Insurance, Wage Reporting, and Withholding Tax. (<http://www.tax.ny.gov/pdf/publications/withholding/nys50.pdf>)

As you grow, you may choose to provide additional employee benefits, such as Retirement Plans. The Small Business Administration publishes a multitude of guides at its website, <http://www.sba.gov>.

Information contained in this Guide should not be considered exhaustive or all-inclusive: The County Clerk strongly recommends that you consult with an attorney to obtain counsel regarding your specific goals and circumstances.

The following steps can help you plan and manage the start-up of your business:

1. Draft a Business Plan, and the steps necessary to accomplish it. Your Plan should include:
 - ◆ A description of the business, including a statement of the business purpose;
 - ◆ A Marketing Plan – describe how you will market and manage your business, including identification of your target market, analysis of your competitors, advertising and public relations;
 - ◆ Financial Data, including financial projections; and
 - ◆ Supporting documentation, including tax returns, franchise contracts, copies of proposed leases, contracts of purchase, licenses, and other legal documents.
2. Obtain Business Assistance and Training. Take advantage of free training and counseling services offered by, among other organizations, the Small Business Association, the Buffalo State College Business Development Center, Canisius College Women's Business Center, or the SCORE Association.
3. Location. Location. Location. Choose a location for your business by considering such factors as whether and how your customers will come to you, and whether proximity to your competitors is helpful. Review local zoning and size regulations for restrictions for business types and / or signs. Consider also whether a home office is an attractive alternative.
4. Determine the Legal Structure of Your Business, by researching the various forms of ownership: sole proprietorship, partnership, limited liability company, or corporation and by seeking advice about the tax consequences. Create the legal entity and / or register the business name with New York State or Erie County Clerk's Office.
5. Research and Determine How You Will Finance Your Business. Know your financial needs by assessing your financial costs and obtaining information about the options available to help you start and sustain your business. Consider such factors as the advantages of using personal versus business finances, as well as the eligibility of your business to obtain financing.
6. Obtain a Tax Identification Number, if required, by contacting the Internal Revenue Service at <http://www.irs.gov/>. Register with New York State to obtain a tax identification number, and if you plan on hiring employees, insurances such as workers' compensation, unemployment, and disability, if required. Determine if a Sales Tax Identification Number is required by the State of New York for your business and contact the NYS Department of Taxation & Finance to ask for a sales tax kit. For general information you may call 1-518-457-5342 or visit <http://www.tax.ny.gov/>.
7. Obtain Applicable Business Licenses and Permits, by contacting the NYS Office for Technology, Business Permit Assistance Office at www.opal.ny.gov, or by contacting the local town or city in which you plan on doing business (Also see page 5).
8. Determine Your Responsibilities if You Plan on Hiring Employees. (See page 7.)

9. Build a team of advisors to help you:

- Certified Public Accountants- to advise on tax strategies and record keeping
- Lawyer- to review and produce legal documents and general advice
- Commercial Insurance Agent- for liability coverage and any other forms of insurance your business may require
- Contact Business Counseling Agencies such as the Small Business Association or SCORE

10. Open a Commercial Banking Account: Maintain this account separately from your personal account. The bank will require a stamped, certified DBA certificate or a copy of your organizational papers, i.e. Certificate of Incorporation with your corporate seal affixed or Articles of Organization.

11. Arrange for installation or implementation of the appropriate technological support: i.e. a business telephone line or internet service. Consider how your customers will access the services or products that you offer.

12. Determine whether you will need a “cash cushion” and create enough reserve to meet your needs; i.e. three to six months worth of expenses.

13. Send announcements of your business start-up to the media, potential customers, and friends.

Tax Incentives

Over the last few years, unprecedented tax cuts, in addition to general business credits, benefiting small business owners have been enacted:

- ◆ Capital gains taxes have been fully eliminated on certain small business stock.
- ◆ Small businesses can write-off a larger portion of the cost of new equipment purchases in the year of purchase rather than depreciating the cost over time.
- ◆ All businesses—large and small—are allowed to expense their investments in the first year that investments were made.
- ◆ The deduction amount for business start-up was doubled, starting in 2010.
- ◆ Some business credits can be “carried back” for up to five years.
- ◆ New credits are available for hiring and retaining unemployed workers, as well as providing health insurance coverage to employees.

For a full list of credits, forms and information on incentives visit www.irs.gov/business/small.

The County Clerk recommends that you consult with your legal counsel, tax preparer or accountant to obtain advice regarding the tax incentives or business credits currently available to your business.

Thank a Vet

New business owners:

You can "Thank a Vet" and give back to those serving you and patronizing your business.

The Erie County Clerk's Office now offers a discount program honoring our men and women of the Armed Services. "Thank a Vet" is an outreach program designed to promote the filing of their original military discharge papers (i.e., DD-214, NGB 22, DD-256, NOAA 5516, or PHS 1657). When a Veteran files his/her Discharge or Release Form for safekeeping with the Erie County Clerk's Office, he or she can be assured that if required, certified copies of the proof of service will be available to the veteran or his or her immediate family at no cost from this office.

In addition, he/she is given a plastic card containing the recording information of the discharge or release papers in the Office of the County Clerk. The card, although not an official government-issued identification card, entitles the Veteran to discounts for a wide range of services and products offered by local merchants. A complete list of participating merchants and the discounts offered are available on our website at www.erie.gov/clerk.

Do you offer a military discount?

If you want to join our growing list of participating merchants, contact the Erie County Clerk's Office at 858-6985

The Merchant Application Form is included in this booklet at page 19, and may also be downloaded from:

http://www2.erie.gov/clerk/sites/www2.erie.gov.clerk/files/uploads/Veterans%20Merchant%20Application%204_6.pdf

I am thinking of starting a business. Where can I find help in starting up?

There are many organizations which assist first time business owners. Reviewing this "Starting a Business" brochure published by the Erie County Clerk is a good place to start. Then, consult one of the organizations listed on our Resources page (pages 13-14), such as SCORE, the Small Business Association, the Buffalo State College Business Development Center, or Canisius College Women's Business Center.

Where can I get the necessary forms?

If you are a sole proprietorship or partnership and filing a Business Certificate, also known as "Doing Business Certificate" or "Assumed Name Certificate", visit our website at www.erie.gov/clerk and go to the Business Section. If you are forming a corporation, limited partnership or limited liability company, go to www.dos.state.ny.us and visit the "Corporations" section.

What can I name my company?

Generally, you may call your business any name that you choose; however, some restrictions apply to the name that you may legally give your business. For example, you may not add the suffix, "Inc." or "Incorporated" to a business that is not a corporation; and you will be required to use a particular suffix in the name of a business that is formed pursuant to New York law, i.e., Smith Jones LLC. You may not, generally use a name that would be misleading, i.e., United States Insurance Offerings; and if your business requires approval of a State Agency, you may be required to include the type of business in your name, i.e., Best Buy Insurance Agency.

Where can I file my Business Certificate?

All sole proprietorship and partnership certificates must be filed in the county where the entity intends to conduct business. In Erie County, you will file your Business Certificate in the Basement Record Room, Erie County Clerk's Office, 92 Franklin St. Buffalo, NY 14202.

Can I mail in the Business Certificate?

Yes, however a search should be made of the records at the Clerk's Office to ensure that you are not using a name already registered. It is the responsibility of the filer to avoid a conflict with a name already in use. We strongly recommend that you either search the public records yourself or request that a clerk in our office do so. The cost of a search for a business name is $5 for every two years. The Business Certificate must be filled out correctly, notarized and forwarded with a check or money order in the amount of $37, plus search fees, if applicable, to: Basement Record Room, Erie County Clerk's Office, 92 Franklin Street, Buffalo, New York 14202 with a self-addressed and postage paid return envelope for each filing requested.

How much does filing a business certificate cost?

There is a charge of $37 to file your business certificate. This includes the production of two certified copies returned in your enclosed return envelope.

Can I get my business certificate notarized at Erie County Hall?

Yes! Blank forms are available either online at www.erie.gov/clerk or at the counter in the Basement Record Room of the Erie County Clerk's Office. Either a notary or commissioner of deeds can notarize your certificate and either are available in our office, both in the Basement Record Room or upstairs in the Registrar's Office. Please note that the clerks in the office are neither authorized to give legal advice nor correct the information in your certificate.

If I decide, instead, to form a corporation or other business entity, where will I obtain and file the appropriate forms?

Corporations, limited liability partnerships, and limited liability companies are created by filing either a Certificate of Corporation, Certificate of Limited Partnership, Articles of Organization, or other certificate of authority with the New York State Department of State, Division of Corporation, and not with the County Clerk. Forms and information are available on-line at <http://www.dos.ny.gov/corps/index.html>.

Where can I go to obtain licenses and permits?

Information regarding necessary licenses or permits may be found at the NYS Office for Technology, Business Permit Assistance Office at www.opal.ny.gov, or by contacting the local town or city in which you plan on doing business. In addition, you may be required to obtain specific certification or authorization from the New York Division of Licensing Services. For additional information, please visit <http://www.dos.ny.gov/licensing/>. Note that if you plan to operate a business from your home, you may be required check to make sure you are not in violation of local zoning ordinances. For licenses & permits in the City of Buffalo contact Buffalo City Hall licensing 851-4951 or permits at 851-4926.

Information contained in this Guide should not be considered exhaustive or all-inclusive.

The County Clerk strongly recommends that you consult with an attorney to obtain counsel regarding your specific goals and circumstances.
