Read the instruction guide thoroughly and then fill out each applicable form.

The forms are specifically designed with questions that will assist the processing of your application.

The application process

The instructions provided in this guide follow the basic steps you will need to know to complete your application.

Before You Apply

Who may use this application?

This application guide is designed for persons who wish to apply for a temporary resident visa from outside Canada.

Note: The processing time of an application may vary from one visa office to another. Find out more about local application processing times by visiting our website at:

<http://www.cic.gc.ca/english/information/times/temp/visitors.asp>

Who are Visitors?

Visitors are persons who are not Canadian citizens or permanent residents of Canada, and are legally authorized to enter Canada to:

- visit Canada on holiday (vacation),
- visit family,
- conduct business, etc.

Visitors are restricted in length of stay and subject to various conditions.

Do I need a Temporary Resident Visa?

Persons who are not Canadian citizens or permanent residents of Canada may require a visa to enter Canada. The requirement for a visa also applies to temporary residents who are transiting in Canada. See Appendix A- Temporary Resident Visa Exemptions, for information on persons who are exempt from obtaining a temporary resident visa to visit Canada.

What is a Temporary Resident Visa?

A Temporary Resident Visa (TRV) is an official document issued by a Canadian visa office that is placed in your passport to show that you have met the requirements for admission to Canada as a temporary resident (either as a visitor, a student, or a worker).

You must obtain a Temporary Resident Visa (TRV) before your departure. You cannot obtain one upon arrival in Canada.

What are the requirements you must meet for a TRV?

You must show the officer that you meet the requirements of the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act (IRPA) and the Immigration and Refugee Protection Regulations and that you will be in Canada for a temporary stay.

You must also:

- satisfy an officer that you will leave Canada at the end of your stay,
- show that you have enough money to maintain yourself and your family members in Canada and to return home,
- not intend to work or study in Canada unless authorized to do so,
- be law abiding and have no record of criminal activity,
- not be a risk to the security of Canada,
- provide any additional document requested by the officer to establish your admissibility, and
- be in good health (complete a medical examination if required).

Entry to Canada

Entry to Canada is a privilege, not a right. If you want to visit Canada, you must meet the necessary requirements and you may need a Temporary Resident Visa.

Family Members

Family members include a spouse, a common-law partner, dependent children, and the dependent child of a dependent child:

Term	Definition
Spouse	Refers to either of the two persons (opposite or same sex) in a legally-recognized marriage.
A common-law partner	Refers to a person who is living in a conjugal relationship with another person (opposite or same sex), and has done so continuously for a period of at least one year. A conjugal relationship exists when there is a significant degree of commitment between two people. Common-law partners must attach any documents that show they are in a committed and genuine relationship, for example, evidence that they share the same home, that they support each other financially and emotionally, that they have had children together, or that they present themselves in public as a couple. Common-law partners who are unable to live together or appear in public together because of legal restrictions in their home country may still qualify and should be included on the application. Common-law partners who meet the conditions outlined above but who have been separated for reasons beyond their control (for example, civil war or armed conflict) may qualify and should be included on the application.

Dependent children	Refers to the children of the applicant or those of the spouse or common-law partner. They must: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • be under the age of 22 and not have a spouse or common-law partner, or • depend substantially on the financial support of a parent and have been continuously enrolled and in attendance as full-time students in a post-secondary institution accredited by the relevant government authority since before the age of 22 (or since marrying or entering into a common-law relationship, if this happened before the age of 22), or • depend substantially on the financial support of a parent since before the age of 22 and be unable to provide for themselves due to a medical condition.
Dependent child of a dependent child	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Refers to children of dependent children of the applicant or those of the spouse or common-law partner.

Do family members need to apply separately?

Your family members who also wish to visit Canada must apply by filling out their own Temporary Resident Visa application form. However, you may send all family member application forms in the same envelope with only one payment receipt for the total amount. See "Pay the fees" section.

Medical requirements

You and your family members may be required to undergo a medical examination in order to come to Canada. To pass the medical examination you or your family members must not have a condition that:

- is a danger to public health or safety, and
- would cause excessive demand on health or social services in Canada.

Note: Information on medical instructions will be provided to you by the visa office. You are not required to have a medical examination before you submit your application forms.

Can I work or study during my stay in Canada?

Visitors are not allowed to work or study in Canada unless they are authorized to do so under the Immigration and Refugee Protection Regulations. In many cases, a work or study permit will be required.

A temporary resident may also take a program of study up to six months duration without having to obtain a study permit.

Use of a Representative (IMM 5476)

Who may use this form?

Complete this form only if you are appointing a representative.

Who is a representative?

A representative is someone who has your permission to conduct business on your behalf with Citizenship and Immigration Canada.

When you appoint a representative:

- you authorize CIC to share information from your case file to this person,
- your application will not be given special attention nor can you expect faster processing or a favourable outcome,
- they are authorized to represent you only on matters related to the application you submit with this form, and
- you can appoint only one representative for each application you submit.

Note: You are not obliged to hire a representative. CIC treats everyone equally, whether they use the service of a representative or not.

You must notify us if your representative's contact information changes or if you cancel the appointment of a representative.

Types of representatives

There are two types of representatives.

Unpaid representatives can be:

- friends and family members who do not charge a fee for their advice and services,
- organizations that do not charge a fee for providing immigration advice or assistance (such as a non-governmental or religious organization),
- consultants, lawyers and Quebec notaries who do not, and will not, charge a fee to represent you.

Paid representatives:

If you want us to conduct business with a representative who is, or will be charging a fee to represent you, they must be authorized. Authorized representatives are:

- immigration consultants who are members in good standing of the

Canadian Society of Immigration Consultants (CSIC),

- lawyers who are members in good standing of a Canadian provincial or territorial law society and students-at-law under their supervision,
- notaries who are members in good standing of the Chambre des notaires du Québec and students-at-law under their supervision.

If you appoint a paid representative who is not a member of one of these designated bodies, your application will be returned. For more information on using a representative, visit our website at:

The application process

Submission

Completion check

Once you have submitted your application, CIC will check to determine that:

- all required application forms have been properly completed and submitted,
- the application processing fee has been paid, and

Processing

Review for decision

Your application will undergo a detailed review by an officer. The officer will consider all the information and documentation you have provided, and will assess it and will decide if an interview is necessary. If so, you will be informed of the interview date, time and place.

If your application is refused, your passport and documents will be returned to you with an explanation of why your application was refused.

Note: If we suspect that fraudulent documents were submitted, they will not be returned.

If your application is approved, your passport and documents will be returned to you with the requested visa.

Arrival in Canada

A valid Temporary Resident Visa is not a guarantee of entry into Canada. An officer at the port of entry will decide if you still meet the requirements for admission when you arrive.

If there has been a change in circumstances between the date of your application for a visa and your arrival in Canada, or if subsequent information is given which was not originally available to the visa office, you may be refused entry.

When you arrive in Canada, the officer at the port of entry will determine whether you may enter Canada and how long you may stay. You must leave Canada on or before the date set by the officer or have your status extended by an officer in Canada. The stamp placed in your passport by a Canadian official is valid for six (6) months unless otherwise amended by an officer.

Factors that can facilitate processing

There are certain things you can do to help ensure that your application is processed as fast as possible:

- make sure that all the documentation and information requested are provided with your application,
 - advise the visa office, where you submitted your application, of any change to your contact information. This includes:

 - If consultation is required with other offices in Canada and abroad.
