FOREWORD

The Criminal Justice Directory Survey was conducted in 1970 by the Bureau of the Census under an interagency agreement with the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration to obtain the names and addresses of all State and locally administered criminal justice agencies in the United States.

The results of the survey were published in March 1971 in a summary report presenting the number of criminal justice agencies in the United States by State, level of government within the State, and type of agency. In September 1971 a separate report was published for each State presenting the names and addresses of individual agencies.

There has been a continuing effort to keep the Directory up to date, and coverage has been expanded since 1970 to include agencies administered by small governments (less than 1,000 population).

This report presents an updated listing of the individual names and addresses of criminal justice agencies in the States comprising LEAA Region 10 (Alaska, Idaho, Oregon, and Washington).

Included are enforcement agencies, courts, prosecution and legal service agencies, defender agencies, correctional agencies and institutions, probation and parole agencies, and a miscellaneous "other" category. Tables showing the number of these agencies at each level of government are included for individual States and the United States as a whole. Similar reports are available for the other LEAA Regions.

INTRODUCTION

NATIONAL SUMMARY

The national criminal justice directory lists 57,575 criminal justice agencies administered by State and local governments. This number is based on the original data collected in 1970 as updated and corrected subsequently through in-house research and surveys. The original survey coverage (which excluded units of government with less than 1,000 population) has been expanded to include all municipalities and townships regardless of size.

Compared with the 46,197 agencies listed in the original report published in 1971, the number of criminal justice agencies has increased substantially. The increase is due more to improved coverage and definitional changes than to extensive changes in the State and local criminal justice systems. Although there have been significant organizational changes in some State and local governments, their effect on the number of agencies is minimal. Generally speaking, reorganizations, particularly in the courts sector, tend to reduce rather than increase the number of agencies.

¹The increase in the number of agencies since the 1971 report is due primarily to expanded coverage of small governments and an intensive research effort rather than an actual increase in the number of criminal justice agencies.

Of the total number of agencies listed in the directory, more than one-third (20,158) are enforcement agencies (slightly less than one-third if coroners are excluded). There are nearly as many courts (17,583). Enforcement agencies, however, are found predominantly at the municipal and township level (72 percent), whereas courts are more evenly dispersed among State (24 percent), county (37 percent), and municipal and township (39 percent) governments. Overall, county governments administer the largest number of criminal justice agencies.

The number of criminal justice agencies in a State depends on the population, the number of units of government, and the organization of the criminal justice system in the State. Given these three factors, the variation is considerable from State to State. The average number of agencies per State is 1,151, ranging from 71 in Hawaii to 4,085 in Texas. There are six States with more than 2,000 agencies (Georgia, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Texas) and six States with less than 250 agencies (Alaska, Delaware, Hawaii, Nevada, Rhode Island, and Vermont).

Enforcement agencies

The directory lists a total of 18,451 general and special police agencies.¹ This number is significantly higher than the 14,806 reported in the original publication, because of expanded coverage of smaller governments rather than an increase in the number of police departments. Police protection is predominantly a local function; about two-thirds of all municipalities and about one-third of all strong townships² have police departments.

Courts

The directory counts show 17,583 courts as compared with 13,033 listed in the original publication in 1971. The increase in the number of ¹The National Advisory Commission on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals estimated that there may be as many as 7,000 additional police "departments" in the 19,910 small jurisdictions of less than 1,000 population. However, the Commission noted further that 80 percent of police departments have fewer than 10 employees and that the total number of officers in this group represents less than 10 percent of the full-time police officers of the Nation.

²By general law in New England, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania, and to some degree in Michigan, New York, and Wisconsin, townships (or "towns") are vested with relatively broad powers and where they include closely settled territory, perform functions commonly associated with municipal governments. Township governments in these States are referred to as "strong townships."

courts is a result of the intensive research effort accompanying the 1971 National Survey of Court Organization and the expansion of the directory to include agencies in units of government of less than 1,000 population. Actually the number of courts has been decreasing, notably in those States that have recently undertaken major re-organizations of their judicial systems (Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Nebraska, and Virginia). The decrease in the number of courts in these States reflects the consolidation of certain major trial courts having specialized or overlapping jurisdiction into one general jurisdiction court (Virginia and Florida) or replacement of a multitude of lower courts by a unified statewide system of limited jurisdiction courts (Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Nebraska, and Virginia).

State court systems are organized into three basic levels of jurisdiction: Appellate, general, and limited. At the lowest level are courts of limited and special jurisdiction, where the vast majority of legal actions begin (and end) and with which the average citizen has contact. These courts constitute 78 percent of the total number of courts and operate primarily at the local government level.

Courts of general jurisdiction operate exclusively at the State level in all but ten States, eight of which have general jurisdiction courts at both the State and local levels (Indiana, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Tennessee, West Virginia, and Wisconsin). In California and Ohio, general jurisdiction courts are found only at the local government level.

Appellate courts are all assigned to the State level except in the District of Columbia, where the Court of Appeals is classified as a municipal court.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

There are 8,739 prosecution and legal services agencies listed in the directory. This number is relatively unchanged from the 1971 publication, being less affected by the expanded coverage of smaller governments. For those prosecutors serving an entire judicial district, the directory includes only the main office and does not list assistants operating in geographically separate locations.

Agencies included in this sector do not necessarily prosecute criminal cases; particularly at the municipal level, the city attorney is primarily a legal advisor, both on civil and criminal matters. Prosecution may or may not be part of agency activities. However, to attain consistency of coverage between those governments where civil and criminal matters are handled either by the same or by separate agencies, all prosecution and legal service agencies were included.

Defender agencies

The number of publicly-administered defender agencies (524) has increased since 1971, presumably because of the impact of recent Supreme Court decisions and consequent legislation to assure legal counsel in criminal cases.

However, legal aid and indigent defense services are still handled for the most part under contractual or voluntary arrangements with private firms or the local bar association, rather than by a publicly-administered agency.

Correctional agencies and institutions

A total of 4,621 institutions with authority to detain adults only, or a combination of adults and juveniles, 48 hours or more, are included in the directory. The majority of the adult institutions are locally administered, including 65 percent at the county level and 21 percent at the municipal level.

Of the 847 public institutions with a resident population of at least 50 percent juveniles, 54 percent are locally administered. The increase in the number of agencies since 1971 (724 to 847) is accounted for by both survey research and the opening of new juvenile facilities.

Probation and parole agencies

There are 3,285 probation and parole agencies listed in this report, including 48 percent at the State level, 48 percent at the county level, and 4 percent at the municipal level. Intensive in-house research has increased the number of agencies listed by nearly 35 percent since the 1971 report (from 2,445 to 3,285 agencies).

Other criminal justice agencies

The agencies represented in this sector (e.g., Criminal justice planning agencies, court administrative offices, etc.) are administered primarily at the State level of government. Seventy percent of the 1,818 agencies listed under "other" are State-administered, and 30 percent are locally administered.

a 1960 population of 1,000 or more persons, requesting the names and addresses of the criminal justice agencies and institutions administered by their government. Additional lists of State-level government criminal justice agencies were completed through in-house research efforts that also extended to the 54 counties with a 1960 population of 500,000 or more and 43 cities with a 1960 population of 300,000 or more. In all, 18,000 independent governments were canvassed. The mail canvass effort was supplemented by reference to a variety of published government documents such as budgets, organization manuals, and State, county, and municipal directories.

Through followup requests, a telephone call-back procedure and in-house research, 100 percent response was received for all States and counties. A response rate of 99 percent was attained for cities with a 1960 population of 25,000 or more. For the rest of the units (14,000 cities and townships with a 1960 population of 1,000 or more), a response rate of approximately 95 percent was finally achieved.

Since the original survey, updating has been carried out through surveys in various sectors and in-house research from secondary sources under an annual interagency agreement between the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration and the Bureau of the Census. In addition, the coverage of the directory was expanded through in-house research to include agencies in units of government of less than 1,000 population. The coverage of these units is not complete.

The most recent updating of the directory was accomplished in connection with the 1971 National Survey of Court Organization and the 1973 Juvenile Detention and Correction Facilities Census as well as through intensive in-house research in the probation and parole, and special police sectors.

In addition to updating the directory, the format of the listings was standardized and expanded to include the following elements: Government and agency identification codes; name of agency; title of chief administrative officer, if applicable; address, if any; city location; State, zip code and telephone number; National Crime Information Center (NCIC) identifier; name of municipality or township administering the agency, if applicable; county location; and 1970 population of unit of government administering the agency.

The criminal justice agencies in the directory are classified by type of agency and assigned to a particular level of government. The level of government is determined according to Census Bureau definitions as summarized below:

METHODOLOGY

In January 1970 the Bureau of the Census canvassed by mail each county in the United States and every municipality and township with State. Agencies were assigned to the State level because they were administered by the State, because the agencies serve more than one local government, or because the agencies were administered in districts not having the same boundaries as single counties, municipalities, or townships.

Counties. Agencies administered by the county or serving more than one local government within the county were assigned to the county level of government. Organized county governments are found throughout the Nation, except for Connecticut, Rhode Island, the District of Columbia, and limited portions of a number of other States. In Alaska, the counties are officially designated as "boroughs" and in Louisiana "parishes." Some of the most populous cities in the Nation operate as composite city-county units and are included in the "municipalities" category.

Municipalities. Agencies were assigned to the municipal level of government if they were administered by the municipality. This category includes all active governmental units officially designated as cities, villages, boroughs (except for Alaska), and towns (except for the six New England States, New York, and Wisconsin). This concept generally corresponds to the "incorporated places" that are recognized in Census Bureau reporting of population and housing statistics. Cities that are governmentally inactive were excluded from the survey. Agencies in unincorporated municipalities were excluded.

Of the 43 major local governments classed as cities for Census Bureau reporting on governments, Baltimore city, Norfolk, St. Louis city, and Washington, D.C., are entirely outside any county area. The following governments, either specifically by law or substantially in fact, operate as composite city-counties: Baton Rouge, Boston, Denver, Honolulu, Indianapolis, Nashville, New Orleans, New York City, Philadelphia, and San Francisco. All these cities, except Boston (Suffolk County), have most, if not all, of their criminal justice agencies assigned to the city level.

Townships. This category includes governmental units in 21 States, including those officially designated as towns in the six New England States, New York, and Wisconsin; some "plantations" in Maine; "locations" in New Hampshire; and governments called townships in other areas.

Townships range widely in scope of governmental powers and operations. Most of them, particularly in the North Central States, perform only a limited range of services for predominantly rural areas. However, in New England, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and to some degree in New York, Michigan, and Wisconsin, townships (or "towns") are vested with relatively broad powers, and where they include closely settled territory, perform functions commonly associated with municipal governments.

More than 10,000 of the nearly 17,000 township governments had a population of less than 1,000 in 1970. Approximately one-half of the townships canvassed in the survey returned their questionnaires indicating they had no criminal justice agencies.

Special districts. Special districts make up the most varied area of local governments. Most special districts are established to perform a single function (e.g., fire protection, transportation, housing, recreation), but some have been given authority by their enabling legislation to provide several kinds of services. The only type of criminal justice agencies administered by a special district is enforcement agencies.

Independent school districts. These are school districts that are administratively and fiscally independent of any other unit of government. As is the case with special districts, enforcement agencies are the only criminal justice agencies administered by independent school districts (usually campus police or security forces).

Regional agencies. An agency serving more than one local government was generally assigned to either the largest government involved or to the next highest level of government depending on the type of agency involved. Classification was often based on the unique factors involved in the particular case, however, and a complete explanation of procedures would be impractical.

LIMITATIONS OF DATA

It should be noted that the majority of agency names and addresses were gathered from the original survey conducted in 1970. The listings and data in this report do reflect the annual updating that has taken place since the 1970 survey; however, this updating was accomplished through in-house research rather than surveys, for all sectors except courts and juvenile corrections.

In interpretation of the counts represented in this report, readers should keep in mind that the size and range of activity of criminal justice agencies may not always be reflected by simple counts, as the organizational complexity of various criminal justice systems varies considerably from one State to another and even from one agency to another within a single State. In comparing the counts in this report with those of the previous report, it should be noted that many changes in the numbers of agencies are a result of more complete agency coverage reflecting definitional changes, survey-related research, and better reference materials, as well as organizational changes in the criminal justice system.

Readers should be cautious in using the counts displayed by level of government. Although many agencies, particularly courts and probation agencies, are funded and administered by more than one level of government, each agency was counted only once. Refer to the "Definitions" section of the text for the guidelines used in assigning agencies to a single level of government.

DEFINITIONS OF CRIMINAL JUSTICE AGENCIES

Agencies in the criminal justice directory are grouped into the following categories:

- Enforcement agencies
- Courts
- Prosecution and legal services agencies
- Defender agencies
- Adult correctional institutions
- Juvenile correctional institutions
- Other correctional institutions
- Probation and parole agencies
- Other criminal justice agencies

Working definitions used to classify criminal justice agencies into the preceding nine categories are as follows:

Enforcement agencies. Included in this sector are police or law enforcement agencies with sworn officers (those with general power to arrest) administered by State or local governments (county, municipality, town, township, special district, or independent school district). For purposes of the directory the following definition was used: a sworn police officer "Has the power to suppress with force all breaches of the peace, riots, tumult and unlawful assemblies, power to serve all criminal process, including the power to arrest a person without a warrant if the person is apprehended in the process of committing an unlawful act or if he or she obtains 'speedy information' by other persons." This defines sworn police officers with general arrest powers. Police officers whose power to arrest is limited to a specific type of crime or subject matter were not included in the directory, to be consistent with the definitions of agencies in the police protection sector for the Criminal Justice Expenditure and Employment Survey (as recommended by the General Counsel at LEAA).

This definition encompasses all major law enforcement agencies, including State police, separate Bureaus of Identification, county sheriffs and police departments, and municipal and township police departments. Also included are all identifiable and independently administered special police forces such as park rangers, harbor police, housing police, and campus police regardless of the size of the force. Specialized branches, divisions, or departments of a general law enforcement agency are not listed as separate enforcement agencies.

Those counties, cities, towns, and villages whose police services are provided for under a contractual agreement with another government or private agency were not considered to have a police department. Therefore cities in Los Angeles County that contract with the Los Angeles County Sheriff's Department for police services (under the Lakewood Plan) are not included in the enforcement agency listings or counts. The same principle holds true for all similar contractual arrangements.

Marshals and constables whose primary duties are the serving of warrants were excluded from the survey where they were identifiable. Sheriffs were included regardless of the nature of official duties; most sheriffs' duties include some combination of law enforcement, operation of the jail, and service as an officer of the court. Most sheriffs serve at the county level of government, but since Rhode Island and Connecticut have no county government, the office of sheriff for these States is included as a State-level agency. Regulatory agencies such as Game Wardens, Alcoholic Beverage Control Boards, Bingo Boards, Gambling Boards, and the like were excluded unless officers are sworn police officers with general powers of arrest.

It should be noted that State, county, and municipal medical examiners and coroners were included in this sector. Consequently, the numbers under the heading "Enforcement Agencies" include police-type agencies and coroners in any given State. Of the total 20,158 law enforcement agencies shown, 1,707 are coroners.

Courts. This directory includes all State and local courts, organized into three basic levels of jurisdiction: Appellate, general, and limited. Specifically excluded from the survey were justices of the peace and similar magistrates whose compensation is solely on a direct fee basis. Also excluded were agencies performing essentially administrative functions, such as Workmen's Compensation Boards; Bank, Tax, and Industrial Review Boards; and Land Courts.

The listings in this publication include only units defined as "courts" or "court locations" by the National Survey of Court Organization (see definitions below); subdivisions and departments handling specific types of cases within a court were not included separately.

In most States courts were assigned to a level of government according to the geographical boundaries of the district served by the court system. That is, court systems whose jurisdiction is statewide or crosses county boundaries were assigned to the State level. Courts of general jurisdiction were assigned to the State level exclusively in all but ten States, eight of which have general jurisdiction courts at both the State and local levels. Courts with geographical jurisdiction exceeding the boundaries of a municipality, town, or township, but not necessarily extending throughout the county, were included at the county level. Courts whose geographical jurisdiction does not exceed the boundaries of the municipality, town, or township, were assigned to that respective level of government.

The basic criterion of geographic jurisdiction was used for classification in preference to administrative or financial responsibility, primarily because the latter criteria are difficult to determine with certainty. Consequently, the level of government to which a court is assigned is not as significant in this report as the type of jurisdiction which the court exercises. The following definitions and listings correspond to those developed through the National Survey of Court Organization.

Court system. A judicial agency established or authorized by constitutional or statutory law. A court system may consist of a single court or a group of two or more courts in the same judicial district.

Court. Each geographically separate locality at which a court system holds sessions (sits) and operates independently. The tables in this report are based on the number of courts.

State court. A court established or authorized under the constitution or laws of a State and concerned primarily with the judicial administration of State and local government laws; viz., all courts other than Federal courts.

Court of appellate jurisdiction. A court having jurisdiction of appeal and review, with original jurisdiction conferred only in special cases; includes both courts of last resort and intermediate appellate courts.

Court of general jurisdiction. A trial court of unlimited original jurisdiction in civil and/or criminal cases, also called "major trial court."

Court of limited or special jurisdiction. A trial court having legal jurisdiction only in a particular class of cases, e.g., probate, juvenile, traffic; or cases where the amount in controversy is below a prescribed sum; or cases subject to specific exceptions; e.g., courts limited to hearing civil cases with a maximum of $500 in controversy or criminal cases with a maximum penalty of $500 fine or 6-months sentence. Certain courts with unlimited civil jurisdiction but limited criminal jurisdiction were counted in this category.

Correctional institutions

Adult institutions. Included are correctional facilities operated by a State or local government that:

- a. hold adult or youthful offenders for at least 48 hours;
- b. are in a separate geographical location from other facilities, including subsidiaries of another facility, e.g., subsidiaries of a main institution at separate locations, such as camps, farms, halfway houses, pre-release centers, and work release centers; and
- c. are residential.

Specifically excluded are private facilities under contract to the State, nonresidential facilities, drunk tanks, lockups, and other facilities that detain persons for less than two days.

Juvenile institutions. Included are publicly operated juvenile detention and correctional facilities with a resident population of at least 50 percent juveniles. Juvenile detention centers that were part of adult jails were not included unless they had both a staff and a budget separate from the jails. An individual facility, such as a camp or annex, that was administratively dependent upon a parent institution was counted as a separate facility if it was located in a separate geographical area. Included are detention centers, halfway houses, group homes, ranches, forestry camps, farms, shelters, reception and diagnostic centers, and training schools.

Other correctional institutions. Included in this sector are publicly operated adult residential facilities and programs specifically for mentally ill criminals, drug addicts, and alcoholics.

Probation and parole agencies. Included are State and local government-operated agencies that administer or provide probation or parole services. These agencies may be independent, part of another criminal justice agency (usually the corrections department or court), or combined with other probation and parole agencies. Probation and parole agencies, like the courts, were assigned to a level of government based primarily on the geographical boundaries of their service districts.

Prosecution and legal services. Included are agencies providing legal counsel or other services to the State, county, or municipal government, most of which have some prosecutorial responsibility.

Many city attorneys were included, though the number of cases they prosecute may be small. Without a special survey it is impossible to determine the extent to which a city attorney prosecutes or provides legal counsel.

In States where the prosecutor for the court of general jurisdiction serves a judicial circuit including more than one county, the prosecutor was assigned to the State level. Where the prosecutor serves only one county, the agency was counted at the local level. Deputy prosecutors, deputy circuit solicitors, and assistant district attorneys were not listed separately (though the office may be geographically separate), but were considered a part of the main office.

Defender agencies. Included are public defender offices staffed by salaried public employees and administered as a department of government by State, county, or municipal governments. State-, county-, or city-dependent law schools with legal aid clinics were included in this category. Any organizations or programs administered by a nongovernmental body (e.g., legal aid society, bar association) or providing services on a contractual basis were excluded even though supported entirely by public funds. For these reasons the number of defender agencies is not an accurate reflection of the activity in the defense of indigents.

Other criminal justice agencies. Included in this sector are criminal justice agencies not falling within the definitions of the other sectors, particularly agencies performing administrative services for operational agencies, e.g., Department of Public Safety or Department of Corrections. Agencies commonly assigned to this sector are: Police administrative bodies, court administrators, judicial councils, probation administration, corrections administrative offices and training, police academies, crime laboratories, programs for drug addicts and alcoholics, State planning agencies, criminal justice planning agencies, and various boards and commissions. Most of these agencies are administered by the State governments.

USERS GUIDE

This publication consists of name and address listings of criminal justice agencies arranged by State, type of agency, and level of government. Each agency name and address is followed by a National Crime Information Center (NCIC) identifier that uniquely identifies the agency; most agencies also have the name of the county in which the agency is located.

The agencies for each State are listed together in the following sequence:

1. Enforcement agencies
 - a. State level
 - b. County level (in alphabetical order by name of county)
 - c. Municipal level (in alphabetical order by name of city)
 - d. Town or township level (in alphabetical order by name of town or township)
 - e. Special district level
 - f. Independent school district level
2. Courts (Level of government sequence is the same as above within each sector)
 - a. State level, county level, etc.
3. Prosecution and legal services
 - a. State level, county level, etc.
4. Defender agencies
 - a. State level, etc.
5. Adult correctional institutions
 - a. State level, etc.
6. Juvenile correctional institutions
 - a. State level, etc.
7. Other correctional institutions
 - a. State level, etc.
8. Probation and parole agencies
 - a. State level, etc.
9. Other criminal justice agencies

INTRODUCTION

An NCIC identifier follows each agency listing. This seven- or nine-digit identifier was assigned to each agency in the directory. Enforcement agencies and certain other agencies with NCIC identifiers assigned by the FBI retained this seven-digit number. All other agencies in the Directory were specially assigned a nine-digit identifier according to the following scheme:

Digits	Explanation	Example
Digits 1-2	Two-letter state abbreviation (same as Post Office abbreviation)	AL
Digits 3-5	County number as designated by the NCIC Manual	001
Digits 6-7	Unit number of agency by type within each level of government and county	01
Digit 8	Level of Government 0...Special District, School District 1...City, town, or township 3...County 5...State	3
Digit 9	Type of Agency A - Prosecution, legal services C - Correctional institution D - Defender E - State planning agency G - Probation or parole J - Court M - Coroner or medical examiner Y - All other agencies Z - Police agency not in NCIC Manual	J

Example: Jefferson County Probate Court
Birmingham, Alabama

ALASKA

Alaska ranks 50th among the States in population and includes one Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA) in Anchorage. There are nine borough governments and 112 municipal governments. In addition to the organized boroughs in Alaska, which resemble county governments in other States, there are two consolidated city-borough governments--Juneau and Sitka--which are classified as municipal rather than borough governments. The major components of Alaska's criminal justice system are:

Enforcement - Department of Public Safety--State Troopers
Borough police
Municipal police
Special police

Courts - State Supreme Court
Superior courts
District courts
Magistrates' courts

Prosecution - Department of Law--
Attorney General
District attorneys
Borough attorneys
City attorneys

Public
Defenders - Public Defender Agency

Corrections - Department of Health and Social Services
Municipal jails

Probation
and Parole - Department of Health and Social Services
Superior courts

Enforcement agencies

The Department of Public Safety includes the Division of Fire Prevention, the Division of Fish and Wildlife Protection, and the Division of Alaska State Troopers. The Alaska State Troopers have the largest area of jurisdiction of any police organization in the Nation, other than the Federal Government. They are responsible for an area approximately one-fifth the size of the other 49 States combined, and have primary responsibility for all law enforcement in 98 percent of that total area. Their jurisdiction extends into the municipalities without restriction other than departmental police limitations. Local officers can enforce State law as peace officers beyond their municipal limits and assist when troopers are not available.

Courts

The court system in Alaska consists of State-level courts only, with the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court having administrative responsibility for all courts--assisted by the Administrative Director of Courts.

There are four types of courts: The Supreme Court (court of appellate jurisdiction); superior courts (courts of general jurisdiction); district and magistrates' courts (courts of limited jurisdiction). The State is divided into four judicial districts for the organization of superior and district courts.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The criminal division of the Department of Law is under the administrative direction of the State Attorney General. The district attorneys have primary responsibility for criminal prosecutions. City or borough attorneys, or local attorneys on contract, are responsible for prosecuting violations of local ordinances.

Public defender agencies

The Alaska Public Defender Agency was established by the State Legislature in 1969 and has offices throughout the State. The Public Defender who heads the agency is appointed by the Governor and is responsible for the legal representation of indigents charged with serious crime.

Correctional agencies and institutions

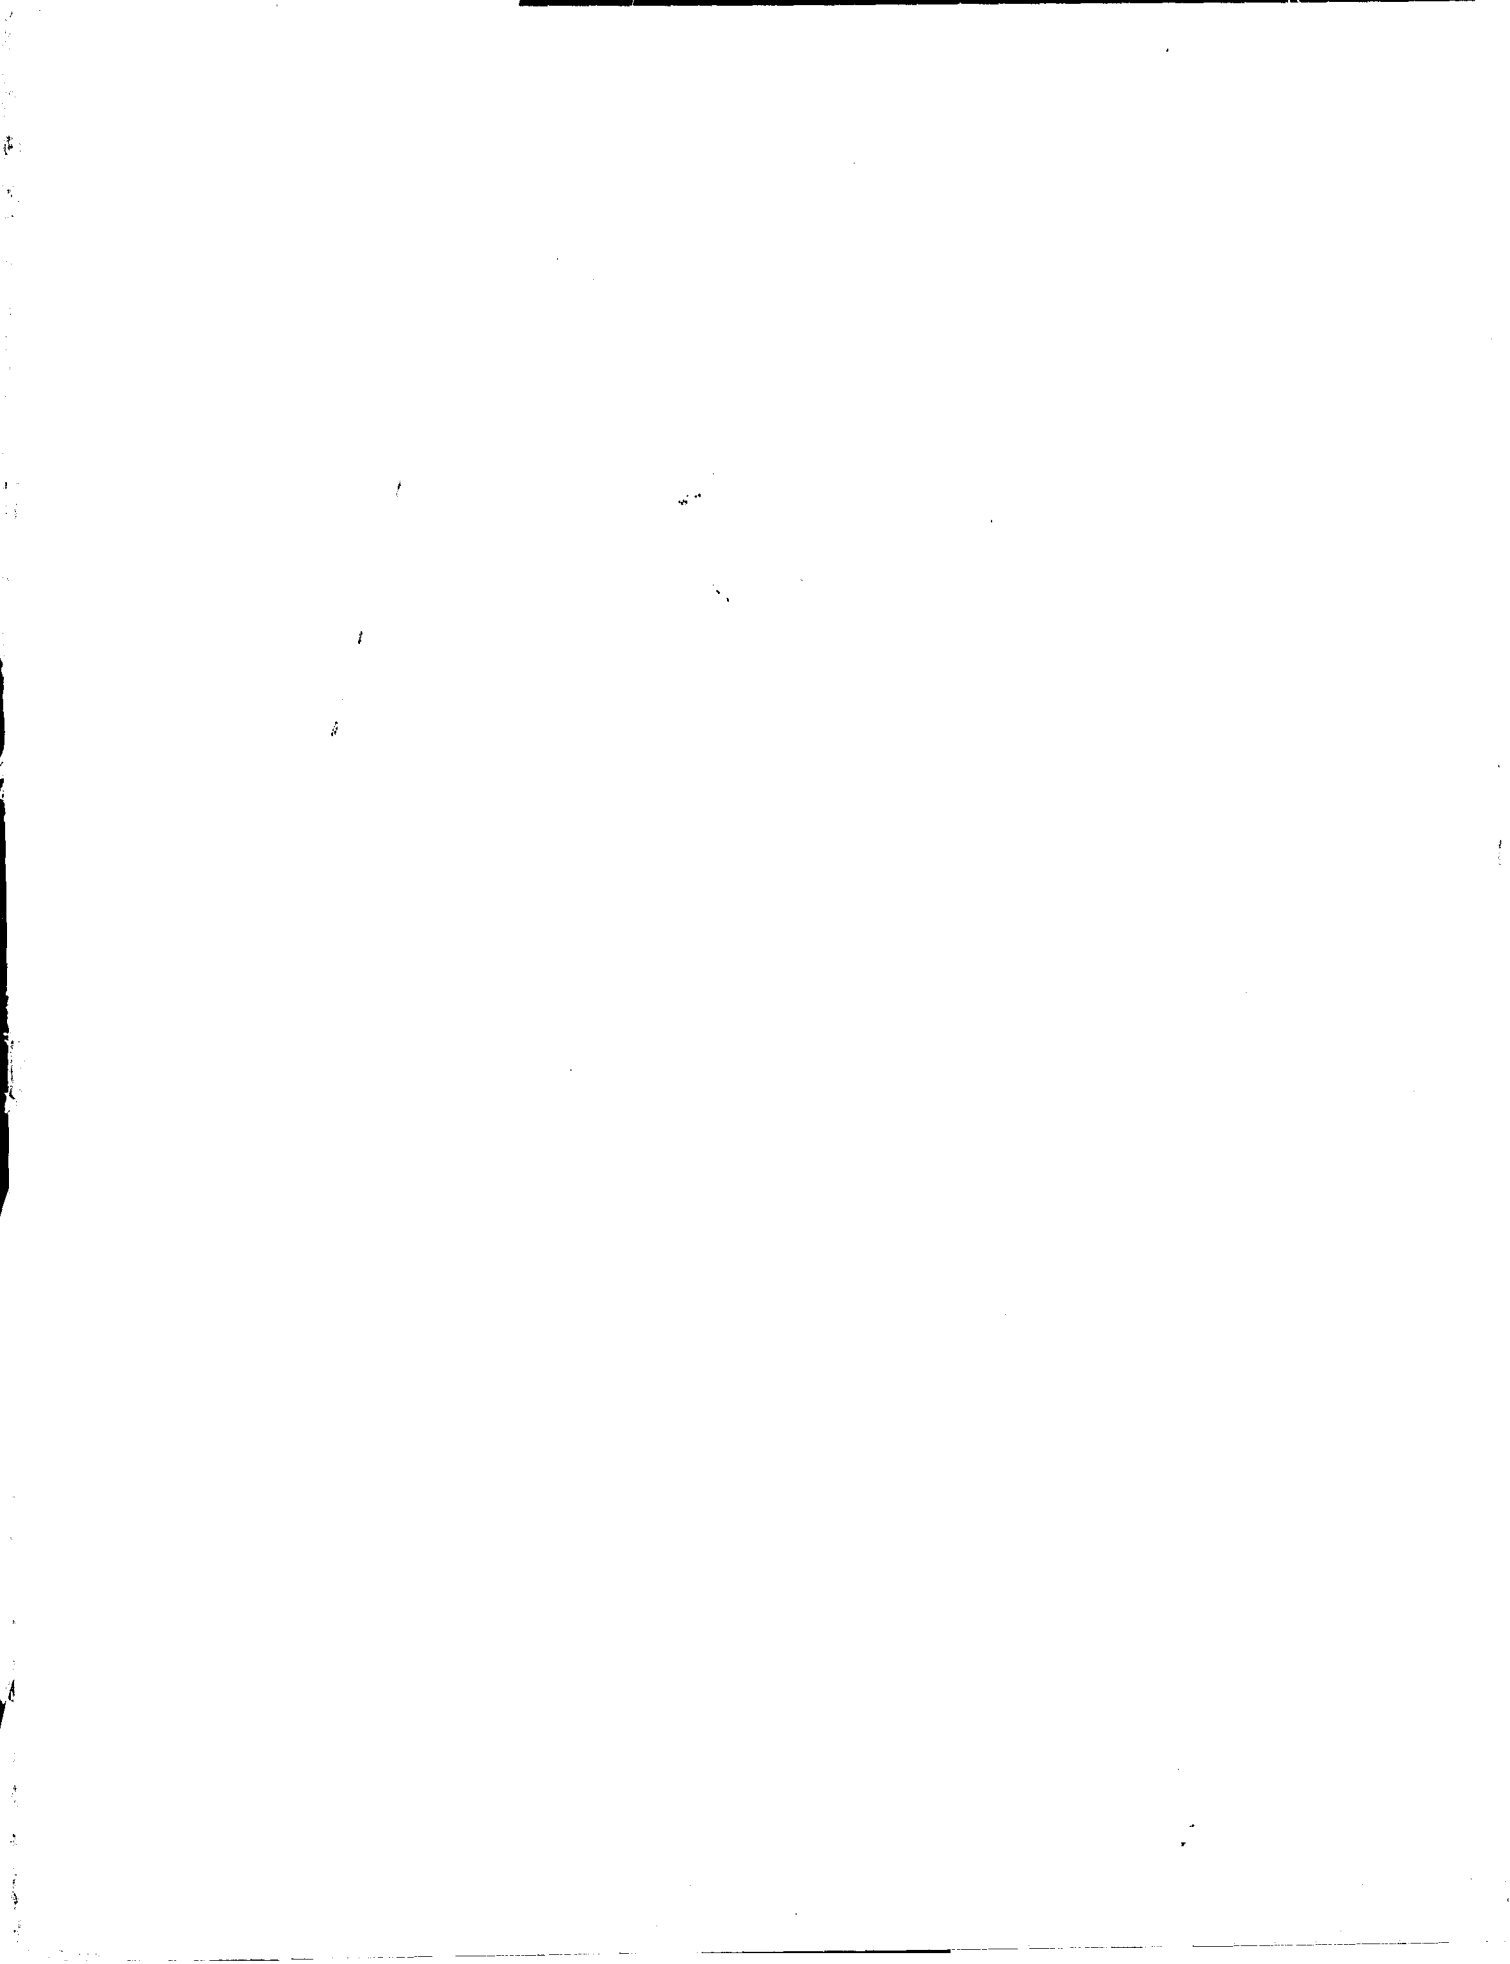

Alaska differs from most States in that responsibility for all public correction and rehabilitation rests with one agency--the Alaska Division of Corrections in the Department of Health and Social Services. This agency operates almost all of the jails and correctional institutions for juveniles and adults. The Director of the Division of Corrections is an appointed official and is responsible to the Commissioner of the Department.

Many small cities and villages operate their own local jails as temporary holding facilities and for housing minor city ordinance violators. The State agency is gradually taking over this function, assessing local jurisdictions for the cost.

Probation and parole agencies

The Parole Administration Office in the Department of Health and Social Services provides all probation and parole services within the State except for juvenile court intake functions which are performed by court personnel. Through regional and district offices, the Parole Administration office supervises juvenile and adult offenders on probation and adult offenders on parole. Juveniles released from institutions under circumstances similar to adult parolees continue to be under the jurisdiction of the juvenile court.

IDAHO

Idaho ranks 42nd among the States in population and includes one Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area (SMSA)--Boise. There are 44 county governments and 197 municipal governments. The major components of Idaho's criminal justice system are:

- Enforcement - Department of Law Enforcement--State Police
County sheriffs
Municipal police
Special police
- Courts - State Supreme Court
District courts
- Prosecution - State Attorney General
County prosecutors
- Public
Defenders - County public defenders
- Corrections - Department of Corrections
Department of Health and Welfare
County jails
Municipal jails
- Probation
and Parole - Department of Corrections
Department of Probation and Parole
Department of Health and Welfare
County probation offices

Enforcement agencies

The Department of Law Enforcement, the principal State-level enforcement agency, is directed by a commissioner who is appointed by the Governor. Within this department are the State Police, Liquor Law Enforcement, and Criminal Investigation Divisions. The State Police have full police powers, but in practice they deal primarily with traffic enforcement. They assist local agencies in criminal matters when requested.

Sheriffs are elected in each county and are responsible for enforcing criminal law, liquor law, and highway safety law and supervising county jails.

Municipal police departments are responsible for enforcing municipal ordinances as well as State law within their respective jurisdiction. In 1973 the State legislature passed a bill giving all Idaho police officers extraterritorial powers when responding to requests for assistance outside their own jurisdiction.

Courts

The Idaho court system consists of the State Supreme Court (court of appellate jurisdiction) and the district courts (courts of general jurisdiction). A comprehensive court revision was begun in 1971 in which probate, justice, and municipal courts were abolished and replaced with a unified system of district courts with magistrate divisions. The Supreme Court has the responsibility for management and supervision of the court system. Within each district there is an administrative judge and a trial court administrator.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Attorney General represents the State in all appeals before the State Supreme Court and renders legal opinions to the prosecuting attorneys of the various counties upon request, offering staff services when local capabilities are not adequate.

County prosecutors are elected in each county to prosecute all criminal actions, represent the county or the State in the district court, and provide legal counsel for the county governments. Most of these prosecutors are part time.

Public defender agencies

It is the responsibility of each board of county commissioners to provide counsel for indigents who are charged with serious crimes and detained by law enforcement officers. Counsel may be provided either through a county public defender or by arranging for the court to assign attorneys as needed.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The Department of Corrections, headed by the Board of Correction, directs the following activities: Intake processing; diagnostic services, detention of unsentenced persons or others serving short sentences; management of penitentiary facilities and inmates; the application of community services in aiding offenders not committed to prison; post-institutional communities; and correctional research.

County jails, operated by the county sheriffs, may house inmates up to one year. Municipal jails usually function as holding facilities although they may house offenders for short periods of time. Several cities and counties are experimenting with a regional jail in Shoshone County, which provides facilities for prisoners who have been sentenced to over 30 days in jail.

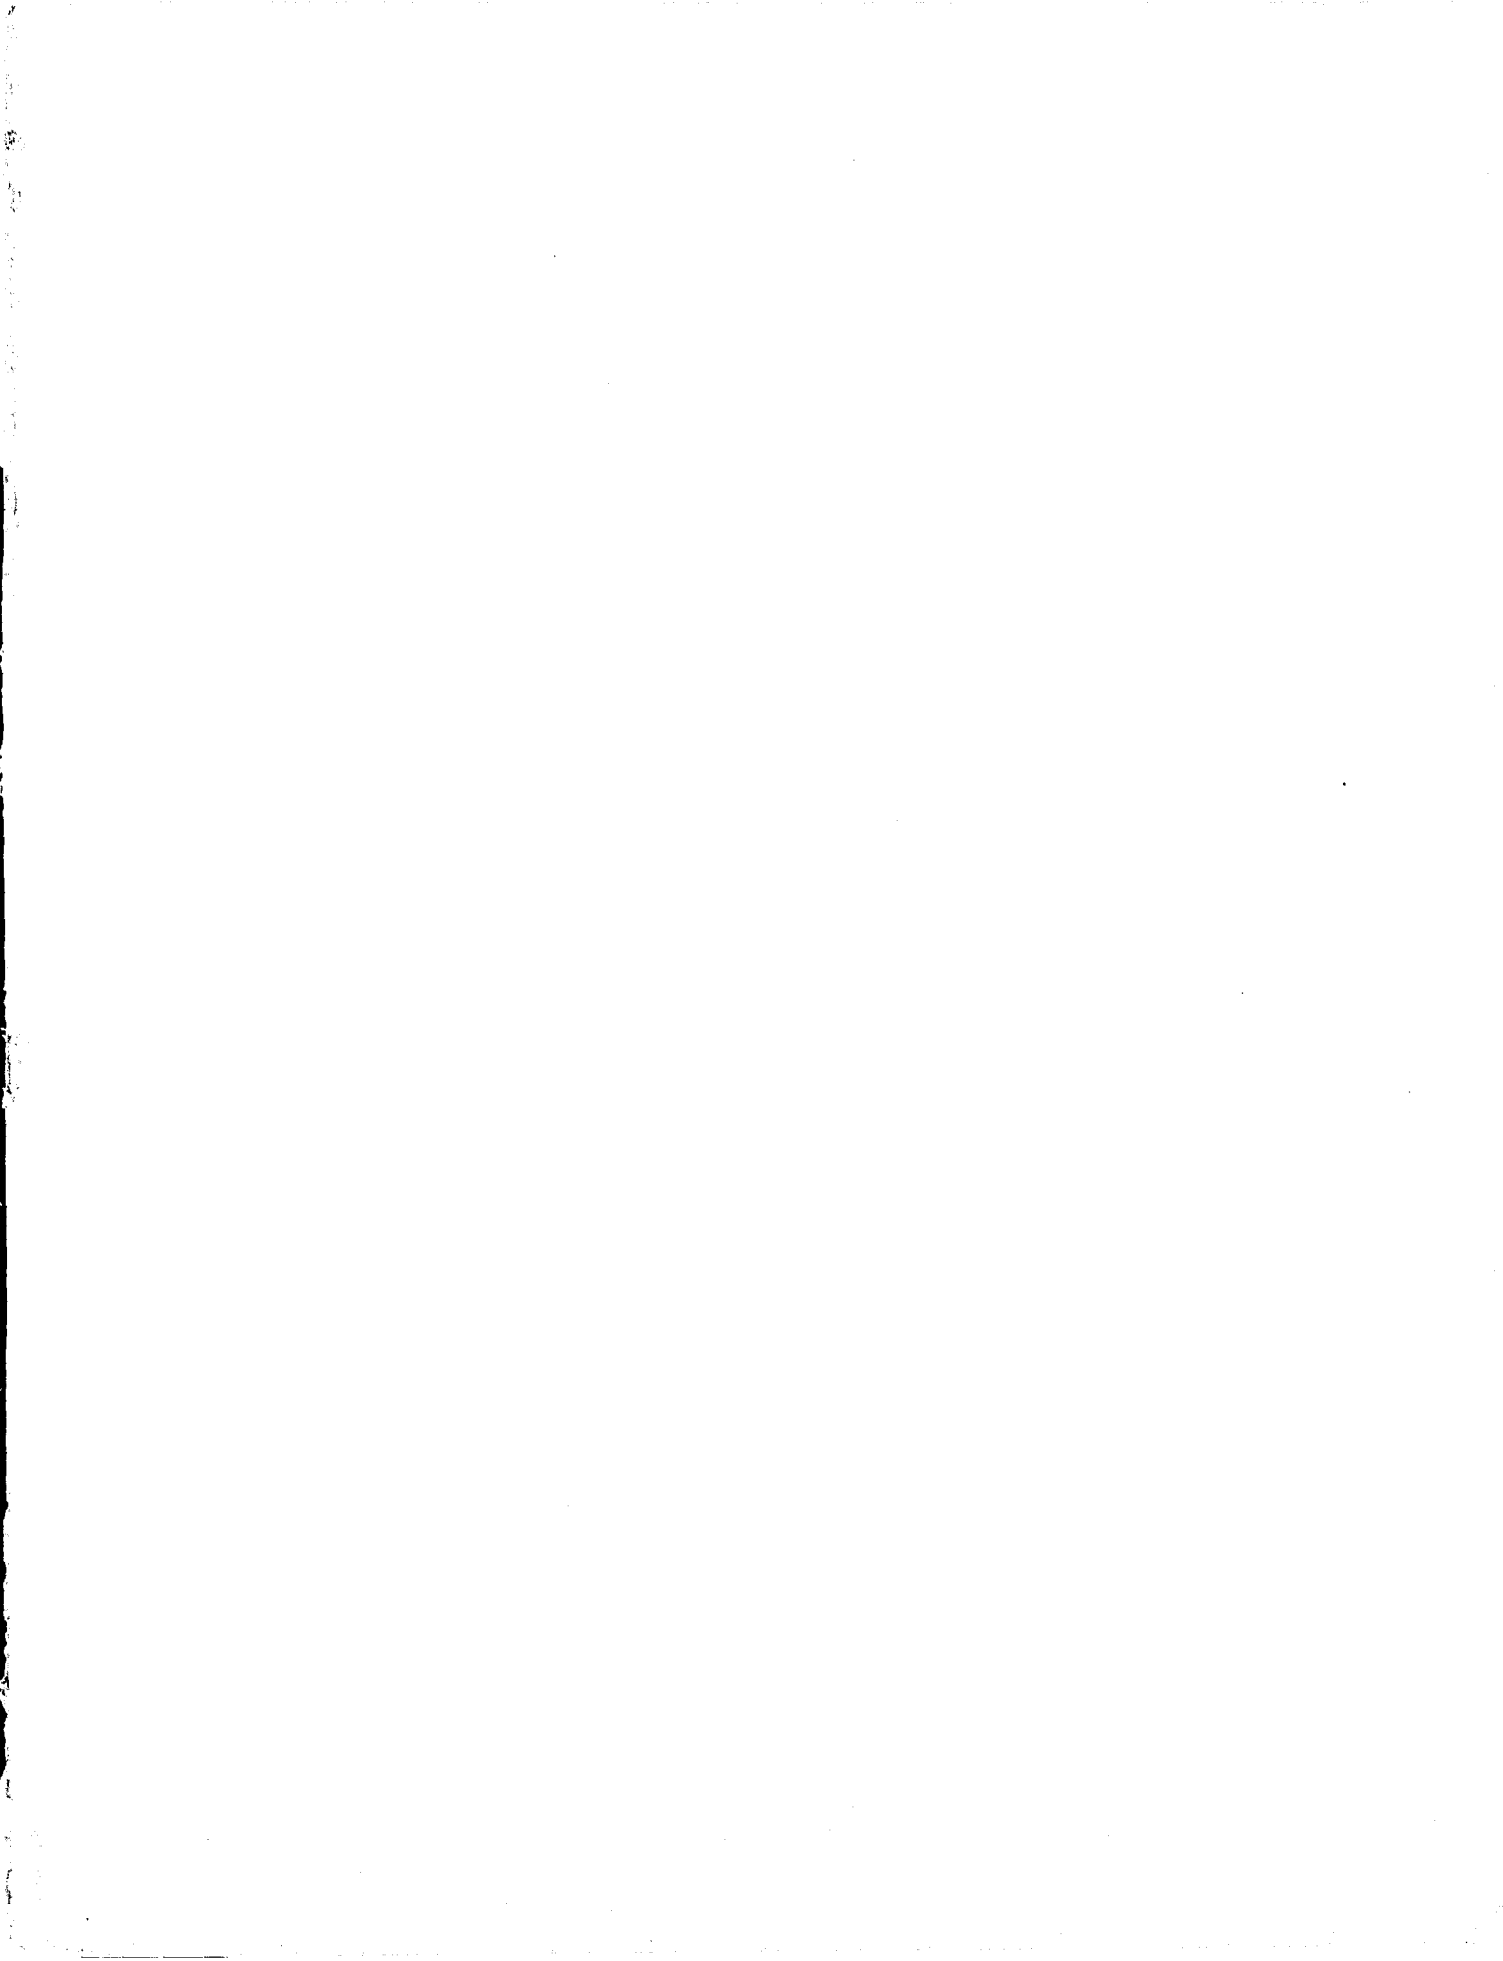

The State Youth Rehabilitation Authority, part of the Department of Health and Welfare (formerly the Department of Environmental and Community Services) administers treatment programs and facilities for juveniles throughout the State. Facilities include group homes, neighborhood probation centers, and youth service bureaus; and services include a drug rehabilitation program, vocational and academic education, and recreational programs. Bannock County operates a juvenile shelter.

Probation and parole agencies

The Department of Corrections includes the Pardons and Parole Commission, which grants parole to adult prisoners. Supervision of adult parolees and probationers is provided by the Department of Probation and Parole.

Although some counties have their own juvenile probation officers, most counties contract with the State Youth Rehabilitation Authority in the Department of Health and Welfare for juvenile probation services. Juvenile parole is administered by the Department of Health and Welfare.

OREGON

Oregon ranks 31st among the States in population and has three Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's): Eugene-Springfield, Portland, and Salem. There are 36 county governments and 231 municipal governments. The major components of Oregon's criminal justice system are:

- Enforcement - State Police Department
County sheriffs
Municipal police
Special police
- Courts - State Supreme Court
Court of Appeals
Circuit courts
District courts
County courts
Justice courts
Municipal courts
- Prosecution - Department of Justice--
Attorney General
County district attorneys
- Public
Defenders - Office of State Public
Defender
County public defenders
- Corrections - Department of Human Resources
County jails
County juvenile facilities
Municipal jails
- Probation
and Parole - Department of Human Resources
Board of Probation and Parole
County juvenile probation departments

Enforcement agencies

The Oregon State Police Department is headed by an administrator appointed by the Governor. Sworn officers are charged with the enforcement of all criminal laws and may respond to calls anywhere in the State. Special police are employed by other State agencies, including the State universities.

County sheriffs are elected except in Multnomah County, where the sheriff is appointed and serves at the pleasure of the governing body. The sheriff's authority extends throughout the county but in practice is exercised primarily in the unincorporated areas and incorporated towns without police agencies. Municipal police enforce State statutes and municipal ordinances.

Courts

The Oregon court system consists of the State Supreme Court and the Court of Appeals (courts of appellate jurisdiction); circuit courts (courts of general jurisdiction); and district courts, county courts, justice courts, and municipal courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction).

The Supreme Court has general administrative authority over the courts in the State, including assignment of judges outside their districts or counties and appointment of judges pro tempore to the bench. In 1971 the position of State Court Administrator was created by the Legislature to assist the Chief Justice in administrative duties. The circuit courts also have supervisory and appellate jurisdiction over district, county, justice, and municipal courts.

Prosecution and legal services

The State Department of Justice is headed by the Attorney General, who is the State's chief legal officer. The Attorney General consults with, advises, and directs the district attorneys in the counties in criminal matters and conducts investigations at the request of the Governor.

Primary responsibility for prosecution of criminal offenses rests with each county's elected district attorney. The district attorney, in addition to criminal and civil duties, may assist the juvenile court in any matter upon request.

Public defender agencies

The Office of State Public Defender was created in 1963 to handle post-conviction proceedings and other legal problems for prisoners in State correctional institutions. Indigent defense in the trial courts is generally provided by appointed counsel in Oregon. However, in 1971, the Legislature passed enabling legislation which permits counties to establish public defender offices. Several counties have established offices and support for them is growing in other counties.

Correctional agencies and institutions

At the State level, the Corrections Division in the Department of Human Resources has responsibility for all adult corrections programs, including the State penitentiary, other correctional institutions, and transitional services such as work release. Local jails are operated either by the county sheriff's department or the municipal policy agency.

Responsibility for State programs dealing with juvenile delinquency is vested in the Children's Services Division of the Department of Human Resources. The Division operates two juvenile facilities, MacLaren School for Boys and Hillcrest School, which are to be merged into a coresidential school. The Juvenile Community Services Unit administers juvenile parole, foster care, juvenile court subsidies, and camp programs.

Although all counties have juvenile probation departments, they vary in size of staff and services. Six counties (Douglas, Jackson, Klamath, Lane, Marion, and Multnomah) have detention or correction facilities for juveniles, whereas other counties use the jail for housing juveniles. Douglas County operates a youth care center, Pitchford Boys Ranch, which has served as a model for the development of 25 similar facilities, which are private and nonprofit.

Probation and parole agencies

The Corrections Division of the Human Resources Department administers adult parole and probation. There is a full-time Board of Probation and Parole consisting of three members, appointed by the Governor, which coordinates regional and field offices. Probation and parole services for misdemeanor offenders are limited, although several counties have developed programs.

Juvenile probation services are administered by the county. The Children's Services Division of the Human Resources Department administers juvenile parole and supervises youths when they leave an institution under foster care. The Children's Services Division also administers the "Court Subsidy" program, which the State sponsors to help fund improvements in juvenile court services, including probation.

County probation departments

Enforcement agencies

The Washington State Patrol, although basically a highway traffic safety unit, is the only agency in Washington having statewide law enforcement authority and jurisdiction. As a result, the Legislature has assigned an increasing number of criminal justice services to the Patrol, including the State crime laboratory system and the state-wide communications network. Other State-level enforcement agencies include State college campus police and the Law Enforcement Division of the Department of Natural Resources.

Except for King County, each county elects a sheriff who is the chief law enforcement officer in the county. King County has established a Department of Public Safety with a Sheriff-Director who is appointed. The sheriff may enforce State law and county ordinances anywhere in the county, but generally does so only within unincorporated areas. The sheriff operates the county jail and provides emergency as well as contractual assistance to municipalities.

Any city or town may establish a police force with functions specified by statute or by charter depending on the size of the city.

Courts

The courts of the State of Washington include the Supreme Court and Court of Appeals (courts of appellate jurisdiction); superior courts (courts of general jurisdiction); and district courts, justice courts, and municipal courts (courts of limited and special jurisdiction).

The office of Court Administrator was created in 1957 to assist the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court with court administrative procedures and assignment of judges in the superior courts.

Prosecution and legal services agencies

The Attorney General is the chief legal officer of the State. Upon request, he advises county prosecuting attorneys on matters relating to the powers and duties of their office or provides investigative and prosecutorial assistance.

Each county has an elected prosecuting attorney who may be part-time or full-time depending on the size of the county. The prosecuting attorney has the responsibility for the prosecution of all criminal cases filed in the justice and superior courts except for violations of municipal ordinances, which are prosecuted by city attorneys.

Public defender agencies

Several methods are used by the various counties to provide defense services to indigents. Members of the local bar association may be selected on an individual basis from a rotating list or on a contract basis. In some counties a public defender's office is maintained by the county and in others, notably King County, a public office determines indigency and then contracts for defense services through a public defender's association.

Correctional agencies and institutions

The Corrections Division of the State Department of Social and Health Services has responsibility for the care and rehabilitation of convicted felony offenders. The department operates the adult correctional institutions and a variety of camps and work release facilities.

County jails with limited rehabilitative programs and services are operated by the county sheriffs. Although most municipal jails serve primarily as holding facilities, many of the larger jails have instituted programs for their residents.

The Office of Juvenile Rehabilitation in the Department of Social and Health Services operates schools, youth camps, a diagnostic center, and a group home program. Delinquency Prevention Services, an agency in the same Department, provides direct clinical services for children and their families, as well as consultation to agencies and community organizations concerned with youth. County juvenile facilities include detention centers, juvenile halls and homes, and youth service centers.

Probation and parole agencies

The State Board of Prison Terms and Paroles has responsibility for fixing terms; granting, suspending, or revoking parole; and discharging adults from parole. The State Office of Adult Probation and Parole provides treatment, supervision and control of probationers and parolees. In some counties, probation services for justice court offenders are provided by county probation departments.

Juvenile probation services are provided by county or municipal probation departments. The State Office of Juvenile Rehabilitation has responsibility for juvenile parole and the Probation Subsidy Program. The State Probation Subsidy Program shares with the counties the cost of supervising juveniles who might otherwise be committed to the State as juvenile delinquents. The funds are used at the county level to provide additional probation officers and treatment services for juveniles.
