

Ivy Inwood Industry Award 2012

Ivy Inwood

Safe Food Production Queensland is the proud sponsor of the Ivy Inwood Award. The award was created to honour Ivy's outstanding leadership and enthusiasm in the egg industry. Ivy was dedicated and passionate about her business whilst being a source of inspiration to many. Safe Food believes it is important to promote, celebrate and recognise the achievements of those who have displayed outstanding leadership and commitment in meeting the challenges of their industry, most notably in the food production area.

Ivy led the way on key issues, she was creative and thought ahead of her time to develop innovative systems that would benefit the entire industry. Ivy worked hard to support local rural communities in order to help shape the egg industry for generations to come.

The Award is designed to support individuals who have become or are looking to become significant leaders in the agricultural industry. You should have highly developed innovative approaches that have made a great impact upon agricultural practices. The award may cover activities that include, but are not limited to: innovative product development, domestic or overseas market development; pioneering marketing campaigns; and environmental sustainability.

Safe Food is committed to enhancing and improving food production practices in Queensland. We want to develop and nurture those that share the same passion by helping them to achieve their goals of contributing to and improving the agricultural industry.

The Ivy Inwood Industry Award provides support to those within the agricultural industry to create a better future.

We invite you to apply for an award if you have a vision and passion for the industry and you wish to:

- Get recognition for what you do – be recognised by your industry peers
- Highlight the great things you can accomplish with your project
- Generate awareness for your project to a wider audience
- Build your network and create new opportunities

- Health and wellbeing of animals
- Improvements in packaging, distribution or marketing of Industry products
- Education or training programs that enhance the skills of people in the industry or improve awareness of the industry
- The practical application of studies on agricultural topics.

Applicants are expected to complete their project within 12 months of receiving an Award and will be required to submit a presentation to SFPQ detailing the activities and results from implementing their project proposal.

How to Apply?

Applications must include a completed and signed application form, along with a written report that outlines your initiative.

Where to from here?

Nominations open on 2 April 2012 and close on 8 June 2012.

The successful recipients will be notified in writing and announced at a formal presentation on 12 July 2012.

Who will make the decision?

The decision will be made by a judging panel of SFPQ staff and industry representatives.

The decision by the panel will be final.

Who can apply?

Applications for funding are open to residents of Australia who are aged 18 and over.

Applicants can apply for more than one Award category but a separate application must be submitted for each. Applicants will only be eligible to receive one Award for their project. The relevant judging panels will be advised if an applicant has applied in other categories.

Your Project

In order to apply for an Award, applicants must have an initiative or project they would like to complete.

This may include, but is not limited to, projects about:

- Leadership on key issues
- Innovative, scientific or technological developments in your industry

The Ivy Inwood Award (A Pioneer Spirit)

Are you a leader in the agricultural industry? Have you made a significant developments in your industry? Do you have an idea on what is best for your industry?

Are you leading the way, or would like to, by making a major change or improvement in the process and production of agricultural practices in Australia? Then SFPQ invite you to apply for The Ivy Inwood Award (A Pioneer Spirit).

Applicants apply for this award to:

- Campaign for a particular change in their industry
- Make a significant development in streamlining practices
- Conduct research on a specific industry issue
- Educate or train others to enhance the agricultural industry

The winning recipient will be awarded $10 000 and must use the financial assistance to further promote their change or improvement in the Industry.

Applicants for this award must be aged 18 or over.

Applications are assessed by a judging panel of SFPQ staff and industry representatives.

If you wish to apply for the award please do so by telling us;

- Some background information on yourself
- Your work experience
- What you would like to achieve in the agricultural industry – your idea or initiative
- How you could use the financial assistance to further promote or develop your change, improvement/ idea or initiative.

Young Rural Achiever Award

SFPQ would like to hear from young people wishing to develop a career in the agricultural industry. The Young Rural Achiever Award is designed for someone who has a great idea that will benefit the agricultural industry, is committed to promoting innovative and sustainable approaches to their respective field and be willing to build their network with other industry professionals.

So if you're 18 – 30, the Young Rural Achiever Award is your chance to apply for $5000 to fund your project on an innovative or emerging issue to benefit Australia's agricultural sector. If you work in the agricultural sector and/or a student studying towards work in this industry then we invite you to apply for this award.

Applications are assessed by a judging panel of SFPQ staff and industry representatives.

The winning recipient will be awarded $5 000 and must use the prize money to gain further education or work experience in an agricultural field.

If you wish to apply for this award then please do so by telling us;

- Some background information on yourself
- What course you are currently studying or your work experience
- What study you would like to undertake and/or
- What you would like to achieve in the agricultural industry and how the above mentioned study would help achieve this.

Ivy Inwood Industry Award 2012

2012–2013 Application Form

Please complete and sign this application form, detach and send to Safe Food Production Queensland, along with a written outline of your project initiative.

Personal Details

Name
Address
City	State	Postcode
Home Phone	Mobile
Email

- ☐ I have read the (a) Application Conditions and (b) Award Conditions and agree to abide by these conditions. I acknowledge that the statements made in this application are true and correct and that Safe Food Production Queensland will not be held responsible for any misleading statements.

Signature

____/____/____
Date

Application Conditions

- Applicants must be an Australian resident and aged 18 and over
- The proposed initiative for which you are seeking funding must have benefit to the agricultural industry and be your own original work
- The award is not transferable to any other person or entity
- Applications must include a completed and signed application form, along with a written report that outlines your initiative
- The award recipient will be notified in writing

For full terms and conditions surrounding each of the awards please visit www.safefood.qld.gov.au

Got more questions?

Please contact Jane Coady on (07) 3253 9806, (free call) 1800 300 815 or email info@safefood.qld.gov.au if you have any further questions about the application process.

Where to send your application:

Submitting online

Please email your submission and a copy of the application form to info@safefood.qld.gov.au

Submitting by post

Please send your submission and a copy of the application form to:

Safe Food Production Queensland
P.O. Box 440
SPRING HILL QLD 4006

For more information contact:

Safe Food Production Queensland
on (freecall) 1800 300 815
or email info@safefood.gov.qld.au