BORN AGAIN

The Christian Right Globalized

JENNIFER S. BUTLER

Exposes the power of the Christian Right worldwide

“BUTLER’S SHARP EYE MAKES HER THE IDEAL ANALYST FOR PROBING THE U.S. CHRISTIAN RIGHT. BUTLER PULLS ASIDE THE VEILS OF RELIGIOSITY TO SHOW THE MEAN-SPIRITED AND ELITIST IDEOLOGIES, AND YET SHE NEVER STOOPS TO CARICATURE THEOLOGY NOR BASH SINCERE RELIGIOUS BELIEF.”
CHIP BERLET, Senior Analyst, Political Research Associates and co-author of Right-Wing Populism in America

In the West we’re taught to fear Islamic extremism. Yet there’s another kind of fundamentalism that’s much closer to home – that has dangerous implications for all of us.

This book is a gripping exposé of the power of the Christian Right worldwide – and in particular their influence within the United Nations.

Jennifer Butler, a former representative at the United Nations, provides the first insider’s account of the strategies and effectiveness of Christian Right lobbying campaigns within the U.N. Drawing on personal interviews with Christian Right leaders, she analyzes the impact they have already had – and what the future may hold.

Butler reveals how today’s most powerful Christian Right organizations are building interfaith coalitions. At the U.N., Christian Right groups like Focus on the Family and Concerned Women for America are working with Catholic, Mormon and Muslim allies to advance a conservative social policy agenda. The U.S. has recently joined that alliance. President George W. Bush has given them a significant voice in shaping U.S. positions on issues including women’s rights, reproductive health, human cloning, child rights and AIDS.

In short, the Christian Right is globalizing – a phenomenon that promises to challenge progressive social policy on a worldwide scale – as well as transform the Christian Right itself.

REV. JENNIFER BUTLER is Executive Director of Faith in Public Life. An ordained Presbyterian minister, Rev. Butler most recently served as the Presbyterian Church (USA) Representative to the United Nations. During her nine years at the U.N., she represented the denomination on issues ranging from women’s rights to the Iraq war. She also taught courses at New York University’s graduate program in Global Studies. Rev. Butler served in the Peace Corps from 1989 to 1991 in Belize, Central

The London Bombings, Islam and the Iraq War

MILAN RAI

“This book inspired me and other survivors of July 7th. Understanding what happened and why is essential for healing and allows us to move forward. I urge all those committed to hope, healing and peaceful resolution of conflict to read what Milan has written.”

RACHEL NORTH, writer and 7/7 survivor

“A PENETRATING AND TIMELY ANALYSIS THAT DESERVES THE ATTENTION OF ALL SIDES.”

ZIAUDDIN SARDAR, journalist and author of What Do Muslims Believe? and Why Do People Hate America?

“POWERFUL, PERSUASIVE AND VERY READABLE. ... THIS IS A BOOK THAT EVERYONE WITH A SERIOUS INTEREST IN THE CRISIS WE FACE MUST READ IF THEY HOPE TO UNDERSTAND IT, ITS CAUSES, ITS EFFECTS, AND HOW WE MIGHT RESOLVE IT.”

PRAISE FOR MILAN RAI'S PREVIOUS BOOK REGIME UNCHANGED

JOHN PILGER

“MILAN RAI IS ONE OF THE WISEST WAR RESISTERS OF OUR TIME ... NOW MORE THAN EVER, WE RELY ON HIS REASONING AND INTEGRITY.”

KATHY KELLY, co-founder of Voices in the Wilderness, U.S.

In February 2003, Tony Blair was warned by British intelligence that the invasion of Iraq would “heighten” the risk of terrorism in Britain.

In July 2005, al-Qaeda struck in the heart of London. Despite the British Government's increasingly desperate attempts at denial, polls show that an overwhelming majority of people in Britain are convinced that there is a connection between the London bombings and the war on Iraq. A majority of Britons fault Tony Blair himself.

Using secret government documents declassified since the bombings, and leaks from British intelligence, Milan Rai exposes official deceit at the highest levels, and establishes the crucial role of British foreign policy in generating a home-grown version of al-Qaeda. Rai shows how an official report drawn up by the Home Office and Foreign Office in early 2004 identified “foreign policy” – and the war in Iraq in particular – as a major cause of alienation among young British Muslims.

Examining the backgrounds of the 7/7 bombers, Milan Rai demonstrates that Islam is not to blame. Most importantly, the book shows us how to make sure that this never happens again – and offers brief obituaries for the 52 people who lost their lives that day.

MILAN RAI founded the British branch of Voices in the Wilderness and co-founded the anti-war group ARROW, a London-based direct action and anti-war information group, and its successor organization, Justice Not Vengeance. His previous books include War Plan Iraq (2002) and Regime Unchanged (2003). In 1993 he was awarded the Frank Cousins Peace Award for Research by the Transport and General Workers' Union.

HAMAS

A Beginner's Guide

KHALED HROUB (University of Cambridge)

Everything you need to know about Hamas in one easy volume

The U.S. views Hamas as a terrorist organization. Yet, to the great surprise of many, Hamas swept to victory in the 2006 Palestinian Authority elections. Hamas is now a democratically elected political party.

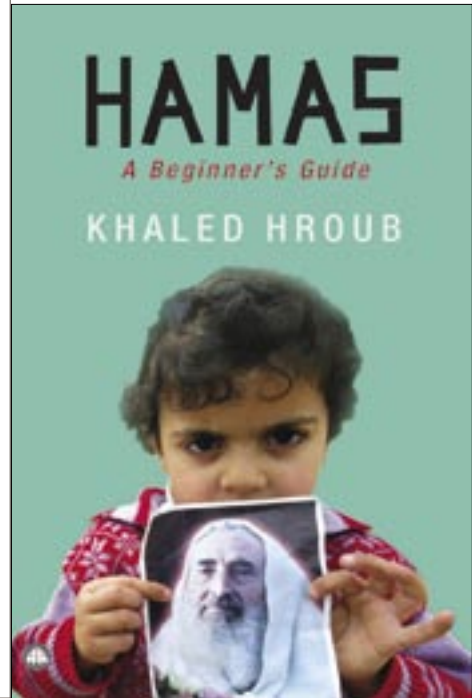

This is the first beginner's guide to this controversial political organization. Explaining the reasons for Hamas's success, this book provides the key facts that are so often missing from conventional news reports. It's a one-stop guide that gives a clear overview of Hamas's history, key beliefs, and its political agenda.

Written by a leading Al-Jazeera journalist and Cambridge academic, this unique book provides a refreshing perspective that gets to the heart of the reasons behind Hamas's victory.

It provides a critical overview of Hamas's policy towards Israel, including religious beliefs and suicide bombings, its attitude to the P.L.O. and its program of grassroots social work within Palestine.

The reality of Hamas's victory means that the West will now have to engage with it more seriously if there is to be peace in the Middle East. This book provides the first essential step towards a better understanding of the challenges and surprises that the future may hold.

KHALED HROUB was born in a refugee camp in Bethlehem. He is Director of the Arab Media Project at Cambridge University, hosts a weekly book review program for Al-Jazeera TV, and has written three previous books.

" THIS BOOK COULD NOT BE TIMELIER. HROUB EXPERTLY ANSWERS EVERY IMPORTANT QUESTION ABOUT HAMAS ... CONCISE, LUCID [AND] INVALUABLE. "

Ziauddin Sardar is a leading public intellectual, broadcaster, cultural commentator and the author of over 40 books. His co-authored book Why Do People Hate America? was a New York Times bestseller, and his autobiography Desperately Seeking Paradise received wide acclaim. Since 9/11 he has been an important Muslim voice in mainstream western media.

This book brings together some of his key writings in one volume. It provides extracts from many of his most acclaimed books. Organised in clear chapters, the essays are carefully chosen to explore the themes of Islam, science and cultural relations. Drawn from a wide range of sources, this is an accessible introduction to the thinking of one of the leading cultural theorists of our time.

ZIAUDDIN SARDAR is Visiting Professor of Postcolonial Studies at City University, London.

His recent books include Postmodernism and the Other (1998), Islam, Postmodernism and Other Futures (2003), the co-authored American Dream, Global Nightmare and What Do Muslims Believe? (2006).

GENETICALLY MODIFIED FOOD

Genetically modified food has been headline news for years, but it's difficult to know how far the genetic revolution has affected our lives. Is the food on our shelves free of genetically engineered ingredients? How much power do food corporations wield? Andy Rees provides the answers. He shows that, while corporations that produce genetically modified food have met with resistance in Europe, their hold on the U.S. market is strong. They're also expanding operations in less-regulated countries in Africa, Asia and the former Soviet bloc. The U.S. has launched a legal suit to attempt to force the European market open to genetically modified food. What does the future hold? Written by a leading campaigner for GM Watch, one of the world's leading lobbying groups, this brilliantly readable book tells us all we need to know.

ANDY REES is the author of The Pocket Green Book: The Environmental Crisis in a Nutshell (1991) and former editor of GM Watch's Weekly Watch.

EMPIRE AND THE BOMB

How the U.S. Uses Nuclear Weapons to Dominate the World

JOSEPH GERSON

The United States is the only country to have dropped the atomic bomb. Since the A-bombings of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, every U.S. president has threatened nuclear war.

This concise history shows how the U.S. has used nuclear weapons to bolster its imperial ambitions. Leading nuclear specialist and peace campaigner Joseph Gerson explains why atomic weapons were first built and used – and how the U.S. uses them today to preserve its global empire.

Gerson reveals how and why the U.S. made more than twenty threats of nuclear attack during the Cold War – against Russia, China, Vietnam, and the Middle East. He shows how such threats continued under Presidents Bush and Clinton, and George W. Bush.

The book concludes with an appeal for nuclear weapons abolition and an overview of the history of the anti-nuclear movement. Drawing from a wide range of sources, including extensive government documents, this fascinating and timely account shows how the U.S. has used nuclear weapons to dominate the world.

What part does oil play in war? It's easy to conclude that Western intervention in countries such as Iraq and Afghanistan is primarily motivated by the West's desire to control precious oil resources. Is this also true of other conflicts around the world?

The contributors argue that there is an essential problem in the way that recent "oil wars" have been conducted. When a country's infrastructure is destroyed, and it is plunged into political chaos, as in Iraq, this provides neither security nor stability. Wars over oil further destabilize faltering regimes – with disastrous consequences.

This book examines the relationship between oil and war in six different regions: Angola, Azerbaijan, Colombia, Indonesia, Nigeria and Russia. Each country has substantial oil reserves, and has a long history of conflict. The contributors assess what part oil plays in causing, aggravating or mitigating war in each region.

ISRAEL AND PALESTINE

Competing Histories

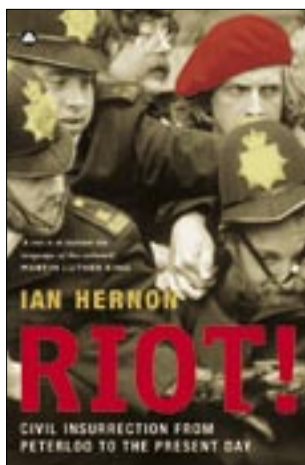

GREG PHILO & MIKE BERRY (both Glasgow University)

Ideal for anyone approaching the subject for the first time this is the most accurate, accessible and up-to-date account available

Following on from their acclaimed book Bad News from Israel, Greg Philo and Mike Berry present a concise guide to the Israel-Palestine conflict. This uniquely accessible book will appeal to anyone looking for an approachable introduction. Uniquely, the authors show how there are many different, competing histories.

The book covers key events in chronological order, in each case examining the varied historical accounts and presenting the beliefs of key thinkers across the ideological spectrum, from Edward Said to Binyamin Netanyahu. Starting with the emergence of the Zionist movement in the nineteenth century, and the figures who shaped it, the authors go on to cover the founding of Israel and its subsequent history, up to and including the “roadmap for peace”, the construction of the wall, the death of Arafat and the withdrawal from Gaza.

GREG PHILO & MIKE BERRY are members of the world-renowned Glasgow Media Group at Glasgow University. They are co-authors of Bad News from Israel (Pluto Press, 2004).

IAN HERNON has been a journalist since 1969. He has reported for the Sunday Times and Daily Express Scottish editions, the News of the World, the Glasgow Evening Times, and many other newspapers. He is the author of three previous books.

RIOT!

Civil Insurrection from Peterloo to the Present Day

IAN HERNON

“A riot is at bottom the language of the unheard.” MARTIN LUTHER KING

Riot! covers, with a reporter's eye, almost 200 years of civil disturbance on mainland Britain, and gives a voice to some of the remarkable men and women involved. Ian Heron shows that resistance played a part, not always beneficially, in the creation of proper parliamentary democracy, the welfare state, the trade union movement, the rights of immigrants and civil liberties. All of these, it can be argued, are under renewed attack today.

Heron tells the story of a largely unacknowledged tradition of violent protest in Britain, from the martyrs of Peterloo to the drug-fuelled street violence of today. Riot! charts how the struggles of individual groups of workers turned into a broader campaign for electoral reform and justice; how excessive use of state force failed to extinguish the fires; how the trade unions pressed for wider social justice; how Thatcherism reversed decades of gradual reform and sparked social turmoil; and how a “good” riot played a part in her downfall. Finishing with an account of the anti-globalization movement and G8 protests, this lively book shows how the ugly roar of a mob has perhaps done more to change society than measured parliamentary debate.

FAILING PEACE

Gaza and the Palestinian-Israeli Conflict

SARA ROY (Harvard University)

“Unique ... No one has reported more accurately and scrupulously on the economic devastation attendant on the Oslo process.”

Edward W. Said

This book represents 20 years of research on the impact of Israeli occupation. Discussion of Israeli policy is often regarded as a taboo subject, with the result that few people – especially in the U.S. – understand the origins and consequences of the conflict. Roy’s book provides an indispensable context for understanding why the situation remains so intractable. The focus of Roy’s work is the Gaza Strip, an area that remains consistently neglected and misunderstood. Drawing on more than two thousand interviews and extensive first-hand experience, Roy chronicles the impact of Israeli occupation over nearly a generation. Exploring the devastating consequences of socio-economic and political decline, this is a unique and powerful account of the reality of life in the West Bank and Gaza. Written by one of the world’s foremost scholars of the region, it offers an unrivalled breadth of scholarship and insight.

SARA ROY is a Senior Research Scholar at the Center for Middle Eastern Studies at Harvard University. A distinguished political economist, she is the author of The Gaza Strip (1995, 2001) and editor of The Economics of Middle East Peace (1999).

BLOOD AND RELIGION

The Unmasking of the Jewish and Democratic State

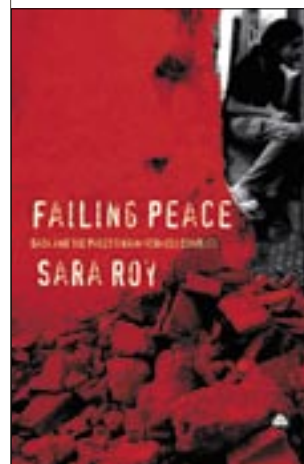

JONATHAN COOK

“Timely and important ... by far the most penetrating and comprehensive [book] on the subject to date.”

NUR MASALHA, University of Surrey, and author of The Politics of Denial (2003)

What does Israel hope to achieve with its recent withdrawal from Gaza and the building of a 700km wall? Journalist Jonathan Cook presents a lucid account of Israel’s motives. The heart of the issue, he argues, is demography. Israel fears the moment when the region’s Palestinians – Israel’s own Palestinian citizens and those in the Occupied Territories – become a majority. Inevitable comparisons with apartheid in South Africa will be drawn. The book charts Israel’s increasingly desperate responses including military repression of Palestinian dissent; a ban on marriages between Israel’s Palestinian population and Palestinians living under occupation to prevent a right of return “through the back door”; and the redrawing of the Green Line to create an expanded state. Ultimately, concludes the author, these abuses will lead to a third, far deadlier intifada.

JONATHAN COOK, a former staff journalist of the Guardian newspaper, has written for The Times, Le Monde diplomatique, the International Herald Tribune, al-Ahram Weekly and Aljazeera.net. He is based in Nazareth.

“SARA ROY’S WORK HAS PLAYED A SIGNIFICANT, SOMETIMES UNIQUE ROLE, IN BRINGING [THESE] ISSUES TO LIFE. ... INDISPENSABLE.”

"DETAILED, INCISIVE ... A SUPREME DISSECTION OF CHILE'S CONTEMPORARY DYSTOPIA."

PROFESSOR JAMES M. CYPHER, Universidad Autónoma de Zacatecas, Mexico

This is the first book to provide a comprehensive analysis of three decades of neoliberal reforms in Chile. Chile is often described as a "model" of neoliberal development policy. Marcus Taylor shows the reality is very different. Examining the contradictions of neoliberal reform, he shows how it has created a society that is deeply ridden with inequality. Taylor examines the consequences of Pinochet's policies. He shows why the tensions that arose from social inequality led to the emergence of a "Third Way" neoliberalism in the post-dictatorship period. Taylor argues that neoliberalism has failed to transform social relationships and institutions. This failure has huge consequences for popular movements for social change in Latin America during a time of renewed political upheaval. The book will be of interest to anyone studying the problems of neoliberal reform across the developing world.

Is socialism dead since the fall of the Soviet Union? What is the way forward for the Left?

Raby argues that Cuba and above all Venezuela provide inspiration for anti-globalization and anti-capitalist movements across the world. Another World Is Possible – but only through winning power on a popular democratic basis.

Raby argues passionately that the way forward for progressives is not the dogmatic formulae of the old Left, nor in the spontaneous autonomism of Antonio Negri. Instead, it is to be found in new, broad popular movements with bold leadership. Examining key leaders including Hugo Chávez and the Sandinistas in Nicaragua, Raby shows that it is more necessary than ever to take power, peacefully where possible, but in all cases with the strength that comes from popular unity backed by force where necessary. In this way it is possible to build democratic power, which may or may not be socialist depending on one's definition, but which represents the real anti-capitalist alternative for the twenty-first century.

THE POWER OF PILLS

Social, Ethical and Legal Issues in Drug Development, Marketing and Pricing

Edited by

JILLIAN CLARE COHEN (University of Toronto)

PATRICA ILLINGWORTH (Northeastern University)

& UDO SCHUKLENK (Glasgow Caledonian University)

This multidisciplinary book covers core issues in clear, short chapters. It is a one-stop resource for students, policy makers and academics.

Why does one-third of the global population not have access to essential medicines? What drives new drug research priorities? How do we manage the ethical, legal and social challenges associated with improving drug access? Answering these questions and more, this book is one of the first comprehensive and critical guides to global pharmaceutical policy issues. Bringing together the insights of over thirty different specialists from around the world, this book discusses:

- Current regulation of the industry
- Ethical issues in developing and distributing drugs
- The importance of pharmaceuticals
- How the pharmaceutical industry prices and markets drugs
- Recommendations on how to improve pharmaceutical policy
- The structure of the pharmaceutical industry

UNDERSTANDING E.U. POLICY MAKING

RAJ S. CHARI (Trinity College Dublin)

& SYLVIA KRITZINGER

(Institute for Advanced Studies, Vienna)

The E.U. has an increasingly significant role in the everyday life of Europe's citizens. What are its policies about? Who is shaping them? What do they mean for the future? These are the questions that this book answers. The authors argue that some policies are implemented more vigorously than others. The policies that are driven by capital and that aim to create a competitive economy have been prioritized. By contrast, other policies do not form a key part of the E.U. agenda and are effectively ignored.

Setting the E.U. in a proper economic and theoretical context, the authors provide a chapter-by-chapter analysis of each of the E.U.'s major policy areas. Arguing that traditional accounts of E.U. integration are inadequate, the authors develop an innovative new perspective. Written with clarity and precision, this book is ideal for students and anyone looking for an incisive critique of the role of corporate capital in the development of E.U. policy.

ETHNIC WARFARE IN SRI LANKA AND THE U.N. CRISIS

WILLIAM CLARANCE

This book explains the complex origins and evolution of Sri Lanka's civil war and how it has created massive civilian displacement. Written by the former Colombo head of UNHCR, the refugee agency, it provides a unique account of frontline conditions during a critical period and an overview of the alternating warfare and ceasefires during the last fifteen years.

Clarence analyzes the scope for protecting civilians in a war zone and its implications for U.N. policy. He argues that Washington's bullying of the U.N. – particularly over Iraq – ironically proves the points it seeks to demolish: the indispensability of U.N. legitimacy and the professionalism of its field agencies. Clarence urges the need to adopt a more actively engaged role to protect civilians in intra-state conflict, the better to address global problems such as the outflow of refugees and asylum seekers it triggers and the seeds of international terrorism it sows. The book is ideal for anyone who wants an accessible account of the Sri Lankan conflict, as well as policy-makers, NGOs and students of international studies.

This groundbreaking book offers an in-depth historical perspective on the rise of capitalism, written by one of the leading scholars of the Global South. Arguing that globalization is generally poorly understood, Jha offers a new synthesis of political and economic theory that sheds light on the consequences of rapid industrialization worldwide. Writing from outside the usual Western perspective, the book challenges many of the usual preconceptions about the impact of globalization. Jha argues that capitalism has developed in four major stages. With a foreword by Eric Hobsbawm, the book provides a detailed history of the rise of capitalism from its early days through the industrial revolution until today. Examining the role of the nation state, this book presents a truly unique perspective on globalization that will be of interest to all students of economic theory and international relations.

The Politics of State-Building

DAVID CHANDLER (University of Westminster)

David Chandler argues that state-building, as it is currently conceived, does not work

DAVID CHANDLER is the author of several books including From Kosovo to Kabul and Beyond (Pluto Press, 2005).

In the 1990s, interventionist policies challenged the rights of individual states to self-governance. Today, non-Western states are more likely to be feted by international institutions offering programs of poverty-reduction, democratization and good governance. States without the right of self-government will always lack legitimate authority. The international policy agenda focuses on bureaucratic mechanisms, which can only institutionalize divisions between the West and the non-West and are unable to overcome the social and political divisions of post-conflict states. Highlighting the dangers of current policy – including the redefinition of sovereignty, and the subsequent erosion of ties linking power and accountability – David Chandler offers a critical look at state-building that will be of interest to all students of international affairs.

RAMPARTS OF RESISTANCE

Why Workers Lost Their Power and How to Get It Back

SHEILA COHEN

SHEILA COHEN has been involved in the trade union movement for more than a decade, as an academic and an activist. She has taught courses on Labour and Trade Union Studies at the University of North London and at the Center for Worker Education in New York.

Ramparts of Resistance examines the experience of British and U.S. workers during the last three decades to offer a broad analysis of the need for a new independent politics of trade unionism. Recent years have seen great changes in the trade union movement, from waves of strikes in the 1970s to a battery of employer and state onslaughts, culminating in the anti-union legislation of the 1980s and 1990s. Looking at grassroots labour struggles, Cohen explores issues of reformism, trade union democracy and the political meaning of ordinary workplace resistance, and puts forward ideas for change.

Ramparts of Resistance examines the failure of the union movement to rise to the neoliberal challenge and calls for a new politics of independent unionism and an explicitly class-based renewal of "workers' power". Coming at a time when union activity and membership involvement continues despite the odds, this book is an inspiring guide to the direction that unionism should take.

THE BEGINNING OF HISTORY

Value Struggles and Global Capital

MASSIMO DE ANGELIS

(University of East London)

Francis Fukuyama may declare the "end of history", and neoliberal capital embraces this belief. However, the diverse struggles for commons and dignity around the planet reveal a different reality: that of the beginning of history. The clash between these two perspectives is the subject matter of this book, which analyzes the frontline of this struggle. On one side, a social force called capital pursues endless growth and monetary value. On the other side, other social forces strive to rearrange the web of life on their own terms. This book engages with alternative modes of co-production recently posed by the alter-globalization movement, and it examines what these movements are up against. This passionate account explores groundbreaking new critical political economic theory and its role in bringing about radical social change. It is a must for all political activists and students of political theory.

MASSIMO DE ANGELIS is the author of Keynesianism, Social Conflict and Political Economy (2000).

A Marxist Theory of International Law

CHINA MIÉVILLE

"BRILLIANTLY ORIGINAL ... AN INDISPENSABLE GUIDE FOR ANYONE CONCERNED WITH INTERNATIONAL LAW. IT IS THE MOST COMPREHENSIVE ACCOUNT AVAILABLE. IT OFFERS A GUIDE FOR THE LAY READER INTO THE CENTRAL TEXTS IN THE FIELD." PETER GOWAN,

Professor of International Relations, London Metropolitan University

Miéville critically examines existing theories of international law and offers a compelling alternative Marxist view. Drawing on a critical history of international law from the sixteenth century to the present day, Miéville argues that international law is fundamentally constituted by the violence of imperialism.

CHINA MIÉVILLE is an independent researcher and an award-winning novelist. He is a member of the editorial board of Historical Materialism. Miéville's novel Perdido Street Station won the Arthur C. Clarke Award and was nominated for a British Science Fiction Association Award.

“ [THIS] COULD BE A DEFINING TEXT.”

PROFESSOR PAUL JASKOT, De Paul University Chicago

This unique book is the first comprehensive introduction to Marxist approaches to art history. Although the aesthetic was a crucial part of Marx and Engels's thought, they left no full statement on the arts. While there is an abundant scholarship on Marxist approaches to literature, the historiography of the visual arts has been largely neglected. This book encompasses a range of influential thinkers and historians including William Morris, Mikhail Lifshits, Frederick Antal, Francis Klingender, Max Raphael, Meyer Schapiro, Walter Benjamin, Henri Lefebvre and Arnold Hauser. It also addresses the heritage of the New Left. In the spirit of Marxism, the authors interpret the achievements and limitations of Marxist art history in relation to the historical and political circumstances of its production, providing an indispensable introduction to contemporary radical practices in the field.

Open source technology, like Napster, has revolutionized the world of copyright. From downloading music and movies to accessing free software, digital media is forcing us to rethink the very idea of intellectual property. While big companies complain about lost profits, the individual has never enjoyed such freedom and autonomy.

Berry explores this debate in a clear and concise way, offering an ideal introduction for anyone not versed in the legalistic terminology that – up until now – has dominated coverage of this issue. Looking at the impact that the open source movement has had on journalism, printing, music and design, Berry shows how the ideas that inspired the movement have begun to influence wider cultural and political transformations. This book is a must read for students of media studies, journalism and anyone interested in the exciting new opportunities ahead for creating a truly independent and democratic media.

UNDERSTANDING CONTEMPORARY IRELAND

Edited by BRENDAN BARTLEY & ROB KITCHIN
(both National University of Ireland, Maynooth)

This book provides a detailed, student-friendly overview of Ireland in the twenty-first century and the remarkable economic and social transformations that have occurred since the late 1980s.

The “Celtic Tiger” phenomenon has made Ireland the focus of much attention in recent years. Other countries have openly declared that they want to follow the Irish economic and social model. Yet there is no book that gives a comprehensive, spatially-informed analysis of the Irish experience.

This book fills that gap. Divided into four parts – planning and development, the economy, the political landscape, and population and social issues – the chapters provide an explanation of a particular aspect of Ireland and Irish life accompanied by illustrative material. In particular, the authors reveal how the transformations that have occurred are uneven and unequal in their effects across the country and highlight the challenges now facing Irish society and policy-makers.

IRELAND BEYOND BOUNDARIES

Mapping Irish Studies in the Twenty-first Century

Edited by LIAM HARTE (University of Manchester)
& YVONNE WHELAN (University of Bristol)

Ireland Beyond Boundaries provides an authoritative, up-to-date account of the development of Irish Studies over the past two decades. The fourteen contributors examine some of the key debates that have underpinned recent scholarship and analyse the subject’s remarkable growth.

The book is divided into two parts. Part One traces the institutional fortunes of Irish Studies in Ireland, the U.S., Canada, Australia and Britain. Part Two features in-depth critical accounts of specific trends and themes within Irish historiography, literary criticism, religion, migration, music, cultural geography, sport and media culture. Throughout the collection there is a recurring engagement with the role of interdisciplinary approaches within Irish Studies and its impact on teaching and research. Combining synoptic overviews with informed analyses, this is an essential text for all those working in the field.

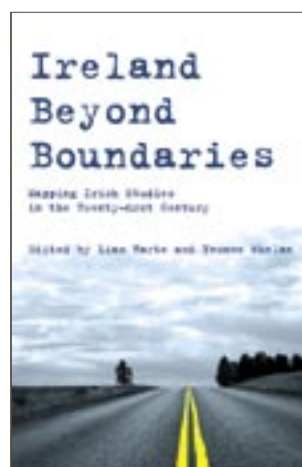

BRENDAN BARTELY is the project leader for the International Centre for Local and Regional Development at the National University of Ireland, Maynooth. ROB KITCHIN is Director of the National Institute for Regional and Spatial Analysis at the National University of Ireland, Maynooth.

THE KURDS IN SYRIA

Hb £25.00 $55.00 S / 0 7453 2499 1

This is the first book to focus on the plight of the Kurds in Syria. The Kurds are Syria's largest minority, and continue to be subject to extreme human rights abuses. Along with Kerim Yildiz's other recent books – The Kurds in Iraq and The Kurds in Turkey – this builds on his comprehensive analysis of the current human rights situation for the largest ethnic group worldwide without its own state.

Yildiz examines the contemporary situation of the Syrian Kurds in the context of Syria's own history, and the present situation where it is outlawed as a terrorist state by the U.S.A. Fifty percent of Syria's income now goes on military spending – for Syria feels threatened by her neighbours, and this is mirrored in the way minorities are treated within the country.

Covering all aspects of Kurdish life including language, education, religion and history, Yildiz offers a unique insight into the human rights situation of the Kurds in Syria.

CLAIMING INDIVIDUALITY

The Cultural Politics of Distinction

Edited by VERED AMIT (Concordia University)
& NOEL DYCK (Simon Fraser University)

Individuality is often interpreted as a force for the separation and autonomy of the individual. This book takes a different approach: the contributors explore the expression of individuality as a form of social action inextricably linked to questions of belonging. This book addresses a continuing effort within anthropology to interrogate sociality. Using case studies from North America, Europe, Africa, and Asia, the contributors examine a wide range of topics. Covering everything from studies of childhood and family relations to patterns of movement for tourism, work, and religious pilgrimage, from the spinning of fashions to the sculpting of life narratives, the contributors analyse the shifting forms of the cultural politics of distinction. The book illustrates the variation and ingenuity with which people in various settings claim diverse forms of individuality, their motivations for doing so, and the outcomes of their actions.

LEARNING POLITICS FROM SIVARAM

The Life and Death of a Revolutionary Tamil Journalist in Sri Lanka

MARK P. WHITAKER (University of South Carolina, Aiken)

This is the story of the life and impact of the political activist, journalist and freedom-fighter Sivaram Dharmeratnam. Sivaram dedicated his life to helping the Tamil people. He started out as an active participant in the war against the Sri Lankan government – in the eyes of some, a “terrorist”. Yet he eventually renounced the violence it involved. Instead, he became a journalist and used his position to fearlessly critique the government – despite repeated threats on his life, and the murder of other journalists. Finally, in 2005, Sivaram himself was assassinated.

This remarkable book is both an intimate portrait of the man, and a fascinating account of the political dilemmas that he faced – and that still face us today. It explains how an educated man adopts a position of supporting violence. And while his position softens, Sivaram remains critical of the liberal principles that govern Western policy. Written by a close friend, this unique account highlights some of the most difficult political questions facing us today.

TOYS

Text by JEREMY SEABROOK

A beautiful and inspiring tribute to children everywhere, and to the simple joy of playing

Play is precious to children. It is a time for growing and learning or just having fun. The toys children play with tell us much about their lives. Many poorer children can't take them for granted. They may have to work, or fight a war, or they are refugees on the run. Yet even in the worst situations you find children making do with wonderfully improvised toys made from tin cans, wire or wood, whatever they can lay their hands on. This stunning book of photographs celebrates the joy of toys and playing for children the world over. Inspired by his own children, Julio Etchart travelled the globe and photographed children from China to South America, playing with everything from cardboard boxes and string to Barbie dolls.

CURATING IMMATERIALITY

The Work of the Curator in the Age of Network Systems

Edited by JOASIA KRYSA

This is the third book in the DATA Browser series of critical texts that explore issues at the intersection of culture and technology.

The site of curatorial production has been expanded to include the Internet and dynamic network systems. As a result, curatorial work has become more widely distributed between multiple agents, including technological networks and software. This upgraded "operating system" of art presents new possibilities for online curating – opening up the possibility a self-organising system that curates itself. The curator is part of this entire system but not central to it.

This book explores the role of the curator in the face of these changes.

GILBERT ACHCAR

A uniquely readable introduction to the complex issues related to the Middle East

“ FULL OF PROVOCATIVE INSIGHTS.” NOAM CHOMSKY

“ THE MOST FORCEFUL, MOST RIGOROUS TEXT THAT THERE IS TO READ ON THIS WAR.”
LE MONDE DIPLOMATIQUE

Leading Middle East specialist Gilbert Achcar takes up all the key questions including such topics as terrorism, fundamentalism, conspiracies, oil, democracy, self-determination, anti-Semitism, and anti-Arab racism, as well as the war in Afghanistan, the invasion and occupation of Iraq, the Israeli-Palestinian conflict, and the sources of U.S. foreign policy.

HUMAN SOCIETIES

*10th Edition –
An Introduction to Macrosociology*

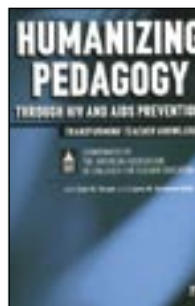

PATRICK NOLAN & GERHARD LENSKI

“ A WELL-WRITTEN AND CAREFULLY-RESEARCHED BOOK THAT NEVER PANDERS TO STUDENTS, BUT ALSO DOES NOT LOSE THEM WITH TOO MUCH COMPLEXITY.” PETER KIVISTO, Augustana College

Human Societies is written for today's students who are confronted by a rapidly changing world. It differs greatly from most texts for the introductory sociology course, being neither an encyclopedia of materials nor a limited survey of contemporary American society. By introducing students to the broad range of human experience from the Stone Age to the present, it enables them to see their own world in a new light, and helps to prepare them for the many challenges they will face in the years ahead. This classic text is now available for the first time in an inexpensive paperback edition.

HUMANIZING PEDAGOGY THROUGH HIV AND AIDS PREVENTION

Transforming Teacher Knowledge

Coordinated by the
AMERICAN ASSOCIATION OF COLLEGES FOR TEACHER EDUCATION

This book explores the power of educators to serve as HIV and AIDS prevention agents. Based on the work of a distinguished panel of teacher educators and health scientists, it identifies core information and vital skills that all educators can use to help prevent the spread of HIV. It shows how teachers can use their extraordinary ability to access and affect young people – and influence their behaviour. The book considers the social, economic, racial, gender and other variables that impact the prevention of HIV and AIDS. It is a one-stop resource for educators who need to develop the core skills and detailed knowledge to have a lasting influence on human behaviour, and the power to save lives.

WITNESS IN PALESTINE

A Jewish Woman in the Occupied Territories

ANNA BALTZER

Anna Baltzer, a young Jewish American, went to the West Bank to discover the realities of daily life for Palestinians. What she found would change her outlook on the conflict forever. This book gives voice to the stories of the people who welcomed her with open arms as their lives crumbled around them. For five months, Baltzer lived and worked with farmers, Palestinian and Israeli activists, and the families of political prisoners. What emerges from Baltzer's journal is not a sensationalist tale of suicide bombers and conspiracies, but a compelling and inspiring description of the trials of daily life under the occupation.

GANDHI AND BEYOND

Nonviolence for an Age of Terrorism

DAVID CORTRIGHT

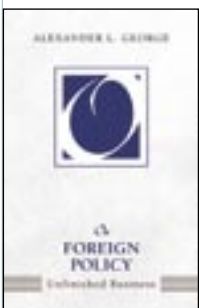

" [THIS BOOK] CONVINCINGLY SHOWS THE POWER OF NONVIOLENCE AS A PHILOSOPHY OF LIFE, NOT JUST A METHOD OF SOCIAL ACTION."

JIM WALLIS, author of God's Politics

Is there room for nonviolence in an age of terrorism? Drawing on the legend and lessons of Gandhi, Cortright traces the history of nonviolent social activism through the early twentieth century to the civil rights movement, the Vietnam era, and up to the present. Offering a critical evaluation of Gandhi's message, he lays the foundation for a renewed dedication to nonviolence as the universal path to social progress and an antidote to terrorism.

ON FOREIGN POLICY

Unfinished Business

ALEXANDER L. GEORGE

" THIS BOOK SETS OUT IDEAS ON HOW THE INTERNATIONAL COMMUNITY CAN BETTER DETECT AND ACT ON THE WARNING SIGNS OF GENOCIDE. A TIMELY AND WELCOME CONTRIBUTION." KOFI A. ANNAN, Secretary-General of the United Nations

" FULL OF FASCINATING INSIGHTS." GRAHAM ALLISON, Harvard University
Alexander L. George – a leading light in U.S. foreign affairs – examines the "puzzles and gaps" in U.S. foreign policy. Highlighting his fifty years of experience in the field, he outlines the major debates and dilemmas within foreign policy circles that persist to this day. Also included is a preview of new work that he is developing on genocide.

SURVIVING THE NEW ECONOMY

JOHN AMMAN,
TRIS CARPENTER
& GINA NEFF

The dot-com boom of the late 1990s marked an economic, technological and social transformation. This timely book examines the challenges facing high-tech workers and other professionals, and the relevance of these struggles for the future of the economy. The contributors show how people working in the technology industries are inventing new forms of worker representation. Using international case studies, the authors examine how skilled workers are surviving in a global economy where the rules have changed – and how they are reshaping their workplaces in the process.

THE DEPTH OF SHALLOW CULTURE

The High Art of Shoes, Movies, Novels, Monsters, and Toys

ALBERT J. BERGESEN

Although some regard popular culture as "shallow", this book reveals that it is more often complex, deep, meaningful – and subject to the style changes we associate with high art. Bergesen shows how complex philosophical ideas of reincarnation are embedded in Transformer toys; how trainers have gone through a life-cycle of styles; why declining empires like Spain and the U.S. lead to fictional characters like Don Quixote and Rambo; and why monsters from Japan look different to monsters in the U.S.

EVOLUTIONISM AND ITS CRITICS

Deconstructing and Reconstructing an Evolutionary Interpretation of Human Society

STEPHEN K. SANDERSON

This is a critical history of evolutionary theories in the social sciences. Sanderson deconstructs not only the wide array of social evolutionary theories, but also the criticisms of the anti-evolutionists. Deconstructing anti-evolutionism means showing just where and how the critics have gone wrong. The book builds on the shoulders of past giants of evolutionary theory, offering a comprehensive interpretation of human society based on abundant scientific and historical evidence.

THE HOLLYWOOD WAR MACHINE

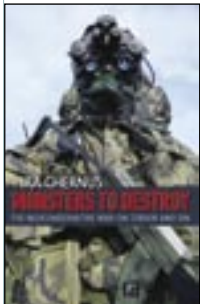

U.S. Militarism and Popular Culture

CARL BOGGS & TOM POLLARD

“ OPINIONATED AND WITTY.” TERRELL CARVER, University of Bristol
The Hollywood War Machine explores the U.S. film industry and its deepening impact on popular and political culture. Through the lens of filmmakers like Steven Spielberg, Edward Zwick, Tony Scott and John Woo, the authors deconstruct the narratives and images of nearly 200 combat and war-related movies. Also examining TV programmes and video games, they place their analysis within the context of the permanent war economy, homeland security, military interventions and the expansion of U.S. global power.

MONSTERS TO DESTROY

The Neoconservative War on Terror and Sin

IRA CHERNUS

“ THIS BOOK TAKES AN INCISIVE LOOK AT THE STORIES WE ARE TOLD – AND TELL OURSELVES – ABOUT EVIL FORCES AND AMERICAN RESPONSES.”

NORMAN SOLOMON, author of War Made Easy

Monsters to Destroy tackles the question of why U.S. foreign policy, aimed at building national security, has the paradoxical effect of making the country less secure. Chernus argues that the “war on terror” is based on stories that neoconservative policymakers tell about a world divided between absolute good and evil. At the root of these stories is fear of social and cultural change.

AMNESTY AFTER ATROCITY?

Healing Nations after Genocide and War Crimes

HELENA COBBAN

“ A COMPELLING READ.” RICHARD J. GOLDSTONE, former Chief Prosecutor at the tribunals for the former Yugoslavia and Rwanda

Veteran journalist Helena Cobban examines the effectiveness of different ways of dealing with the aftermath of genocide and violence. Based on her extensive work in Rwanda, Mozambique and South Africa, the book offers an assessment of the ways in which these nations have tried to come to grips with their violent past. It includes interviews with community leaders, victims, policymakers, teachers, rights activists, and even former abusers. Highly readable, the book offers some surprising conclusions, and outlines why war crimes trials are not the most effective path to reconciliation.

SOCIOLOGY OF INFORMATION

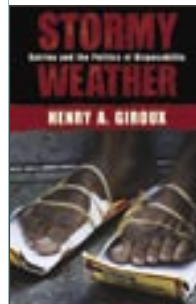

HAROLD GARFINKEL

Edited by ANNE RAWLS

In 1952 at Princeton University, Harold Garfinkel developed a sociological theory of information. In the fifty years since Garfinkel wrote this treatise, there has been no systematic treatment of the issues he raises. Many of the difficulties that troubled theorists of information in 1952 are still problematic today. This new book – never before published – focuses on the concerns of large-scale organization and decision-making. It is a must-read for all students of sociology by one of the world's leading thinkers.

STORMY WEATHER

Hurricane Katrina and the Politics of Disability

HENRY A. GIROUX

“ THE SINGLE MOST IMPORTANT ACCOUNT AND ANALYSIS OF THE KATRINA CATASTROPHE.”
DAVID L. CLARK, McMaster University

Prominent social critic Henry A. Giroux shows how the suffering in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina signals a much larger crisis in the United States – one that threatens the nature of individual freedom. This crisis strikes at the heart of democracy and must be understood within the context of an emerging authoritarianism. Giroux examines how a new set of forces, embedded in the global economy, mean that some groups are highly privileged while others are rendered disposable. He offers a vision of hope, outlining collective and global struggles that are fighting to reclaim democracy.

THE GIROUX READER

HENRY A. GIROUX

Edited by CHRISTOPHER G. ROBBINS

Henry A. Giroux has contributed significantly to huge number of fields including cultural studies, youth studies, social theory and cultural politics. This new book offers a carefully selected cross-section of Giroux's many writings, which fuse scholarly rigour with social relevance. The essays underscore the continuities and transformations in Giroux's thought, and offer invaluable approaches to understanding a range of social problems. Giroux's work suggests that a more humane and democratic world is possible and this book provides the critical tools to help bring it into being.
