Mary's Story ...

Young mum Mary had risen to become Head of Housewares for a West Country retailer. She had everything going for her with a responsible job, loving partner, growing family. However, in her early 40's her life changed dramatically. Mary was diagnosed as suffering from Ankylosing Spondylitis and Osteoporosis, which means that she is now in constant pain and severely restricted as to what she can do and where she can go. When her pain is particularly acute, she cannot even dress without assistance.

When Mary's case was brought to our attention, her daughter was 10 and her son, only 13 months old, both of whom needed a carer when Mary's condition rendered her incapable of looking after them herself. At such times the carer stayed overnight, but with only two bedrooms, the carer was forced to sleep on the sofa.

Mary's partner wanted to build an extension for the carer and the Rainy Day Trust contributed toward the costs. In addition, Mary continues to receive quarterly subsistence from us and we help toward other mobility needs as they become necessary.

Mary says

'Never underestimate how much we appreciate the assistance we receive from the Trust. There are times when I can feel so ill, and my morale drops so low, that I am overwhelmed with the generosity we receive, helping us to pay our bills. When Christmas comes and the Trust's food hamper arrives with things we wouldn't normally be able to afford, words cannot express our appreciation.'
