

IL-4852 Substitute for Unobtainable Form W-2

Attach this form to your Form IL-1040

Step 1: Read this information first

Who should file Form IL-4852?

You should file Form IL-4852 if you did not receive or were not able to obtain a Form W-2 from your employer showing that Illinois Income Tax was withheld from your wages.

Note → You should only file Form IL-4852 after you have given your employer sufficient time to mail your Form W-2 and after you have exhausted all efforts to obtain one. If you must use this form, you may not file your Form IL-1040 electronically or TeleFile your return.

You must send a separate Form IL-4852 for each Form W-2 not received.

What must I attach to Form IL-4852?

You must attach proof of wages and withholding, such as copies of check stubs or a letter from your employer.

Your check stubs or letter should include the following information:

- your name,
- your Social Security number,
- tax year,
- amount of Illinois Income Tax withheld, and
- total wages.

We will accept your U.S. Form 4852 as proof of your Illinois Income Tax withheld from your wages.
