McMillan's Message

*Commissioner
John McMillan*

The Tripple Whammy

The year 2011 will go down in Alabama history as a time of great disruption and uncertainty.

First, we had budget proration that occurred just weeks after taking office that led to laying off nearly one-fourth of our employees.

Next, the worst natural disaster ever to hit Alabama happened on April 27 with destruction of a large portion of North Alabama and with it many family farms and agribusinesses. Some 238 people lost their lives that day.

Later, in June, the Alabama Legislature passed the toughest law on immigration of any in the United States. Legislators had heard for years constituents' complaints about the high cost of social services and the high crime rate that illegal immigrants brought to Alabama.

Constituents were correct in asserting that something had to be done. No one had any intention of creating the problems that resulted from the new immigration law, complications that arose even before September 1, the date it became effective.

Farmers and agribusiness owners across Alabama have contacted this department to express their dismay in losing the bulk of their workers. The immediate result has been devastating to many farms, cotton gins, nurseries, poultry processors and others in the agriculture industry.

Many of these businesses depend on hard-working laborers, many of whom have left the state seeking opportunity elsewhere. As a result, produce has gone

The Alabama National Fair has agreed to operate Garrett Coliseum.

GARRETT COLISEUM'S FUTURE BRIGHT

Garrett Coliseum, for 60 years a venue for major attractions coming to the Montgomery area, will remain open for business, thanks to an agreement reached in mid-August.

"This fine lady has been a good friend to the people of Alabama, hosting the fair, rodeos, concerts and even Elvis Presley, since 1951," said Alabama Agriculture and Industries Commissioner John McMillan. "We have taken steps to see that she will remain in good working order and may even receive a face lift and other help in the near term."

While a number of options to revive the coliseum are under discussion, in the interim, the Alabama National Fair has agreed to operate the coliseum. The coliseum has 31,000 square feet of space, with a seating capacity of 13,500. The property includes a livestock barn, the W.O. Crawford covered outdoor arena, the Ed Teague outdoor arena, as well as a swine barn, dairy barn and exhibit building.

McMillan, in his role as state agriculture commissioner, chairs the Agriculture Center Redevelopment Board, created by legislation earlier this year. The new legislation expanded the Agriculture Center Board to include the governor, state finance director, commissioner of agriculture, mayor of Montgomery, president of the Montgomery City Council, Montgomery County Commission chair, plus four others who directly sit on the board.

"The legislation brought together all stakeholders necessary for Garrett Coliseum to be successful. All who have a vested interest in the coliseum are involved and committed to its success," McMillan said.

At a press conference announcing the board changes, McMillan thanked State Rep. Joe Hubbard and State Sen. Dick Brewbaker, both of Montgomery, for sponsoring the legislation to create the redevelopment corporation, which had the authority to move forward with an action to ensure the viability of Garrett Coliseum.

Every effort is being made to accommodate the schedule of previously scheduled events, including the fair, which will be held in October.

"I want to thank Gov. Robert Bentley and Finance Director David Perry for providing

HAY HAULERS

Texas has received only about 6 inches of rain since January, less than half the normal precipitation, resulting in the most severe one-year drought on record. To make matters worse, Texas has experienced weeks of triple digit temperatures, withering crops and pastureland. Alabama farmers interested in shipping hay to drought stricken Texas farmers and ranchers, please call the Texas Hay Hotline at 1-877-429-1998.

RAINWATER HARVESTING

October 1 is the cutoff for a partnership initiative with the Alabama, Mountains, Rivers and Valleys Resource Conservation and Development Council on capturing rainwater runoff from poultry houses under the Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP).

Applying for EQIP is continuous; however, selecting applications for funding is completed periodically through batching periods with specific cutoff dates. Poultry producers in the Cullman and Franklin counties are encouraged to participate. For more information about NRCS conservation programs, visit www.al.nrcs.usda.gov or visit the nearest USDA Service Center to determine eligibility. Contact your local NRCS or Farm Service Agency Office to begin this process.

funds when we needed them. Thank you, Mayor Todd Strange, City Council President Charles Jinwright, and County Commission Chairman Elton Dean for being a driving force in reaching this agreement. Also, I want to express my appreciation to the Alabama National Fair Board and Kiwanis Club of Montgomery for stepping up and taking on a major responsibility at this important time,” McMillan said.

Earlier this year, Bentley appointed McMillan and four others to the Agriculture Center Board. The other board members are: Baldwin County farmer Becky Vasko, Limestone County Probate Judge Stan McDonald, Birmingham attorney Julian Smith and Dr. Billy Powell of the Alabama Cattlemen’s Association.

unpicked in the fields and production in gins and poultry processing plants, among others, has dropped.

There is a way to satisfy both problems. We are searching for the solution, working with legislators to find a better way of dealing with immigration.

You can be certain of one thing: we will do everything we can to avert the financial ruin of Alabama’s agriculture industry. For, when Alabama agriculture suffers, other businesses will be affected, and this can drag down a larger portion of our state’s economy. That will create an even worse situation than what we’re dealing with now when Alabama has 10 percent unemployment and growing.

PRODUCT SPOTLIGHT

Great taste and outstanding nutritional values make BlueMoon products rare as a blue moon! Whole anti-oxidant rich berries, handpicked at peak flavor are the key ingredient in all BlueMoon products. Herbs, spices and vegetables are chosen for their health benefits and taste. Artificial preservatives are never used. BlueMoon's goal is to deliver the highest possible quality products for your family's nutrition and enjoyment.

BlueMoon Blueberries was established last year to provide the emerging Alabama blueberry industry with an outlet for those berries not suitable for the fresh market.

Blueberry Chipolte Sauce has been its best seller at farmer's markets and festivals. Designed as a grilling sauce, it is being used as a topping for salads, cream cheese, meats, and ice cream (yep—that's true—try it at The River Nile in Dothan). It gives a little kick to your meal; a unique flavor you will come back for.

BlueMoon's Blueberry Bar-B-Que Sauce has received rave reviews from those barbecue aficionados looking for something a little different on anything from chicken to steak. All natural ingredients make it a healthy selection.

The Blueberry Dessert Topping isn't just limited to ice cream and cheesecakes.

It is also great poured on pancakes and waffles. It also turns a plain smoothie into an exciting blueberry treat.

Actually BlueMoon's first product was Blueberry Juice. Unlike most blueberry juices on the market today, its juice contains real blueberry juice as the first ingredient with a hint of agave nectar for sweetening and water. BlueMoon has heard it makes a good bluemosa when added to champagne and is a great ingredient for a Blutini. But it is great straight, over the rocks, for a real cooler during Alabama's hot summers.

For more info and pricing, visit BlueMoon's website, www.bluemoonblueberry.com or call 334/796-8165.

McMILLAN HONORED BY GROCERS

The Alabama Grocers Association presented Alabama Agriculture and Industries Commissioner John McMillan with its Spirit of Alabama award at its annual convention in late July.

The award, which was presented by Alabama Grocers Association President Ellie Smotherman Taylor, is given in honor of McMillan's support of food safety, the food industry and for his support of products grown, manufactured and processed in Alabama.

McMillan is a six-generation Alabama native with roots in Baldwin County. His life's work has centered on agri-business, forest products, wildlife protection, natural resource management and the protection of personal property rights. From 1974-1982, he served in the Alabama House of Representatives and chaired the Agriculture, Forestry and Natural Resource Committee before serving as executive vice president of the Alabama Forestry Association for over 20 years. In November, he was elected to the post he now holds.

The Spirit of Alabama award was established in 2006 to honor those who support the Alabama Grocers Association and have commitment to the State of Alabama food industry. The association is a state trade group representing the grocery retail industry.

ASSISTANCE WITH WILD HOGS

Feral/wild swine population is growing at an alarming rate in Alabama. They destroy native plants and habitats, create erosion problems, degrade water quality and compete with native wildlife for food. In addition, they can cause massive crop damage, transmit diseases to domestic livestock, and adversely affect timber production through destruction of seedlings and young trees. Feral swine have been sighted in most of the 67 counties in Alabama and can reproduce at an alarming rate. Sows can begin breeding at 6 months of age, and produce up to four litters per year with each litter consisting of four to twelve piglets.

Alabama landowners have an opportunity to receive financial and technical assistance through the USDA-Natural Resources Conservation Service's (NRCS) Wildlife Habitat Incentives Program (WHIP) and the Environmental Quality Incentives Program (EQIP) to trap and properly dispose of feral/wild swine. For more information, contact your local NRCS office listed in the telephone book under U.S. Department of Agriculture or online at <http://offices.sc.egov.usda.gov>. General program information is available on the Alabama NRCS website at www.al.nrcs.usda.gov/programs.
